INQUEST INTO WERNER CHILD'S DEATH REOPENED

Aunt Insists Children Told Stories Under Threats of a Whipping.

GIRL'S LIFE INSURED

Foster Mother Denies Statements Made by Aunt Before Deputy Coroner.

LINIMENT POISON WEAK

Liquid That Child Drank Contained Small Quantity of Acid.

Deputy Coroner Lloyd has reopened the inquest into the death of Bertha Werner, aged 9, who died Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Anna Trescher of 822 Ann avenue, after drinking a mixture of holy water and liniment, containing a weak solution of carbolic acid. The Deputy Coroner took the statement Thursday of Mrs. Louise Kaltenrieder of 614 Lami street, an aunt of the Werner children.

Following an autopsy, a Coroner's jury returned a verdict of death due to gastritis, or inflammation of the stomach, following the drinking of holy water which had been poured into an uncleaned bottle previously containing liniment, composed of chloroform and crude carbolic acid. The physician who performed the autopsy found no trace of other poison.

Deputy Coroner Lloyd reopened the case Thursday after hearing Mrs. Kaltenrieder's statement, and detectives are investigating the death of the Werner child.

Mrs. Kaltenrieder told the Deputy Coroner that she met Mamie Werner, Bertha's 14-year-old sister, near the Ann avenue house soon after Bertha's death, and that Mamie said she was afraid to return to Mrs. Trescher's, where her little brothers, George, 10, and Albert, 4, were living.

Mrs. Kaltenrieder insisted that the statement the children made to the Coroner Wednesday was one that had been prepared by Mrs. Trescher and was made by the children under threat of being whipped.

Taken From Orphan's Home.

The Werner children, according to Mrs. Kaltenrieder, were taken from an orphan home about Christmas by Mrs. Trescher, who had collected a $250 insurance policy on the life of Mrs. Werner, who died Nov. 18 last. According to the burial certificate, the cause of Mrs. Werner's death was alcoholism.

In connection with this inquest Dr. Lloyd recalls that he held an inquest last June upon a child that was buried in the rear of the Ann avenue house. Dr. Lloyd was never able to find Lizzie Piel and William Rief, who had been living at the Ann avenue house, and whose testimony he wanted to take in connection with that case.

Child Buried in Yard.

Mrs. Trescher told the Coroner she knew nothing about the birth of the child in her home and its burial in the back yard.

Mrs. Trescher and Mamie Werner denied to a Post-Dispatch reporter the statements made to the Coroner by Mrs. Kaltenrieder. Mrs. Trescher said the candy that made the Werner children sick last year was given to them by Lizzie Piel, who is said to have left town with William Rief the day the body of the child was dug up by a policeman. Mrs. Alma Jenkinsin of 7080 Oleatta avenue, Lindenwood, reported the burial of the child in the yard to the Coroner. Mrs. Piel was formerly a tenant of Mrs. Trescher.

Insurance Policies in Force.

Mrs. Trescher said she had insurance policies on the lives of each of the Werner children. The policies, she said, were for $100 each and were taken out by Mrs. Werner before her death. Mrs. Trescher said she tried to get Mrs. Kaltenreider to pay up the arrears on the policies and continue them in force, after Mrs. Werner's death, but she refused, and Mrs. Trescher says she then paid up the dues and has since kept them up.

Mamie Werner said in the presence of Mrs. Trescher Thursday that Lizzie Piel gave her the candy which is alleged to have contained poison and told her to say that a constable had given it to her. A constable replevined furniture which Lizzie Piel and Rief left at the Ann avenue house.

"The statements made by Mrs. Kaltenreider are ridiculous," said Mrs. Trescher. "I never gave Bertha any medicine, as Mrs. Kaltenreider charges. The candy, which the doctor says was only stale and not poisoned, was given to the children to spite me."

Mamie Werner is to be taken to the Soulard Street Police Station Thursday afternoon and questioned about a story she is alleged to have told to Mrs. Kaltenrieder, her aunt, about the circumstances surrounding Bertha's death.

Capt. Young will question her alone in his office.

CHILD WHOSE MYSTERIOUS DEATH IS AGAIN UNDER INVESTIGATION

BERTHA WERNER

JURY FINES ONE OUT OF FIVE FOR CITY HALL RAID

Political backers of the "Bottoms Gang," among whom "Danny" Naughton and "Sport" Brady were conspicuous, crowded the Dayton Street Police Court Thursday at the trial of five alleged members of the gang for raiding the office of the Water Department at the City Hall on April 14. Each of the quintet faced three or more charges, and three juries had been impanelled for the trials.

The men on trial were Edward, alias Emmett, Carroll, whose shaved head showed the scars of the clubbing administered by Sergt. McMullen when he resisted arrest; Joseph Carey, James Earl, Dan Walker and Walter Berry.

Jacob L. Snyder, a clerk in the Water Department, identified Carroll as the man who walked into the office at 8:30 a. m. on the day of the arrest, banged his fist on the desk and demanded to see Louis Marks. While Carroll engaged the clerk, the latter said, others swooped down on Marks' desk, tore up a lot of records and threw them out of the window. Snyder was too busy, he said, to identify any of Carroll's companions.

Several clerks were put on the stand, but all hesitated to identify any of the men on trial positively. Sergt. McMullen testified to making the arrests, and to dislocating Carroll's arm by Jiu-jitsu to subdue him.

Carroll and the others denied participation in the raid, and endeavored to establish alibis.

The cases went to the jury at 12:30 p. m., and after half an hour a verdict of $50 fine for Carroll was returned. The others were found not guilty of the disturbance of the peace charge.

PNEUMONIA IS IN YOUR NOSE, SAYS PHYSICIAN

The theory that the seat of pneumonia is not in the lungs, as popularly supposed, but the bony framework at the top of the nose, is being advanced by Dr. H. Manning Fish of the Chicago Medical Society, according to dispatches. His discovery does not impress St. Louis physicians as anything startling or new.

In an address before the Chicago Society, Dr. Fish declared he had cured cases of acute pneumonia in 24 hours by removing the infection from the cells of of the nose. The weakened condition of the lungs, he said, sometimes kept the patients in bed for a day or so longer.

"Pneumonia means an infection of the lungs," said Dr. Walter C. G. Kirchner, Superintendent of the City Hospital, to a Post-Dispatch reporter. "This inflammation may have its origin in many ways, among them an affection of the nose. An ulcerated tooth, a disease of the blood, in fact, any infection which produces bacterial germs capable of attacking the lungs, may cause pneumonia.

"I fear Dr. Fish has been misquoted, or that his speech was not given in full. No one can cure a case of pneumonia in 24 hours."

Dr. H. Wheeler Bond, Health Commissioner, said that he, in common with almost universal medical opinion, believed the seat of pneumonia to be in the lungs. He declined to express an opinion of Dr. Fish's discovery without further investigation.

The pneumococcus, or disease germ, Dr. Fish said, is not harmful except when pent up in cells like those of the nose. Then, he explained, it acts like an explosive, expands, is absorbed by the blood and becomes one of the most dangerous of disease germs.

TIRES OF BEING HUMAN DERRICK FOR BRIDE, 78

William Axley Leaves Wife He Has to Hoist Into Sitting Posture.

SHE HAS $7000, HE $0

Persuaded Her to Wed, She Says in Divorce Suit, by Suicide Threat.

After two unhappy matrimonial ventures, Mrs. Marie Sezer, 78 years old and well-to-do, was induced to undertake a third when William Axley, aged 56 and a widower, threatened to drown himself and return to haunt her if she refused him. Her divorce suit against Axley, nearly three years after their marriage, is now under advisement in the Circuit Court.

As Mrs. Sezer spoke little English, and Axley less German, their courtship naturally lacked fluency. She lived alone in her home at 1610 Carr street, and Axley lived three doors west, doing his own cooking, washing and mending. For several years their conversation was confined to the following:

"The tip top of the mornin' to you, Mrs. Sezer."

"Guten Morgen, mein Herr."

Began to Borrow Money.

In the fall of 1905, according to testimony at the hearing Tuesday, Axley varied his salutation a bit.

"The tip top of the mornin' to you," he said. "Will you lend me $1?"

"Guten Morgen, mein Herr. Ja wohl," she answered, producing the dollar.

For five mornings this scene was repeated. Then the widow introduced a variation by positively declining to lend any more money.

A few mornings later, Axley encountered Mrs. Sezer at her front gate. Said he: "The tip top of the mornin' to you. Will you marry me?"

Only a Boy at 56.

"Nein," replied the widow promptly, "I will not. You're too young—only a boy." Axely was then 56.

"Then I'll throw myself into the Mississippi," he said, with an air of despair, "and I'll come back and see you after I'm dead."

Mrs. Sezer trembled. She thought of her big house, vacant save for herself, and decided that she could never again enjoy a wink of sleep with the ghost of a suicide on the premises. So she changed her mind and said: "Ach, Mr. Axley, I'll marry you."

The same day they sought the office of the marriage license clerk. When he demanded $1.50 the bridegroom found himself deeply interested in the scene on view through the window. The bride relieved his embarrassment by producing the fee, she testified in her divorce suit.

They went to a priest. He performed the ceremony, and asked $10. As the bridegroom assumed an abstracted air, the bride once more came to his relief.

Human Derrick Tires.

At her home she ejected a tenant, repapered and refurnished the room he vacated, and placed it at the disposal of her new husband. She bestirred herself, she says, to cook, mend and care for him according to the best which her long experience had taught her.

But the bride's rheumatism proved to be the little rift in the lute of their happiness. Axley found that one of his honeymoon duties was lifting his portly bride to a sitting position in bed each morning, as she was unable to assume that posture unaided. He acted as a human derrick for a week, and then said: "I'm not very strong. I guess I'll sleep upstairs after this."

The bride had to hire a carpenter to rig a pulley and cord over her bed, by the help of which she was able to lift herself. After that, she says, she saw her husband only at meal times. He was working as a watchman, was away all day, and retired to his room right after supper, according to his wife's testimony.

He admitted in the suit that during the eight months he lived at Mrs. Axley's home, he gave her only $8.

Not a Cent, She Says.

She denied that he ever gave her a nickel, and declared that, on the contrary, she settled nearly $100 of his debts.

In July, 1906, he left the house on being asked to fry his own potatoes for supper, and took bachelor quarters at 1513 Franklin avenue, where he has lived since. Mrs. Axley charges him in her suit with desertion and general indignities.

She was born in France, and at the age of 23 married Nicholas Loriette, so that she might cease working for her father, a plasterer, who made her climb on the scaffold and handle the trowel as if she had been a man. She and Loriette came to St. Louis 55 years ago, and she has lived in the same block ever since.

She Loved Second Husband.

After 42 years of married life, Loriette died. A year later she married Conrad Sezer, the only one of her husbands she loved, she says. He drank himself to death, she declares, in three years. For 10 years she lived alone, and then came Axley.

PRINCES' SONS LOST WITH 300 ON WAR VESSEL

Explosion Sinks Japanese Cruiser of Training Squadron While Anchored.

TOKIO, April 30.—Probably 300 officers and cadets of high families were drowned early today by an explosion which sunk the cruiser Matsushima while it was anchored at Makang, a harbor on the Pascadores Islands. Boats from companion ships rescued 141 men. The Captain of the vessel and several cadets who are the sons of titled men, are said to have gone down with the ship, which was Admiral Ito's flagship in the battle of the Yalu River.

The cruiser was attached to the training squadron, whose commander, Admiral Yoshimatsu, sent the report of the accident to Tokio. The accident occurred at 4:08 a. m., and, according to the report of Admiral Yoshimatsu, a projectile exploded in the stern magazine. The Matsushima quickly went down until only her bridge was visible.

Crews Save 141 Lives.

The crews of the cruisers Hashidate and Itsukushima lost no time in lowering boats and setting out to rescue the cadets and officers of the companion ship. The rescue work continued until 9 a. m., when further efforts were useless. At 9 a. m. Admiral Yoshimatsu reports 141 lives had been saved.

This number includes some officers, but the majority of the officers were lost. The cruiser had a complement of 300 cadets of prominent families, and when the Admiral's report was sent, 58 of them had been saved.

Oyama's Son Reported Lost.

A son of Baron Chinda, Vice-Minister of the Foreign Office, and a son of Prince Oyama, Field Marshal, are among the cadets, who, it is feared, went down with the vessel.

The sons of captains named Yoroshima and Yiroshiro also are believed to have been drowned.

The cause of the explosion had not been determined when the report of Admiral Yoshimatsu had been received in the capital.

CUPID LURES POET TO DIVORCE MILL 2ND TIME

Wife, Former Miss Thiel, Accuses Willis Leonard Clanahan of Mistreatment.

Mrs. Leonora Thiel Clanahan of 4024 Lindell boulevard filed suit for divorce Thursday from Willis Leonard Clanahan, the well-known poet.

Mrs. Clanahan is the daughter of the late Gustavus Thiel, who operated a large private detective agency.

She Alleges Mistreatment.

She alleges that shortly after the marriage, Sept. 22, 1905, her husband commenced to mistreat her and that he frequently threatened her life, struck her and called her offensive names, both when they were alone and in the presence of others.

They separated June 6, 1907, but went to live together again in October.

In November and December, 1907, and in January, February and March, 1908, she alleges, he came home intoxicated.

An April 1, 1908, the day of their separation, her husband, she says, "pursued her in such a rage and temper that she had to escape through a window, receiving painful injuries."

Defendant Second Time.

In addition to indignities she alleges insufficient support. The petition states that Clanahan is not now a resident of St. Louis.

This is the second time he has been made defendant in a divorce suit.

WEATHER WON'T MAKE A KILLING WITH THE FROST IT WILL BRING TONIGHT

Hopes to Escape the Stigma of "Pernicious" by Destroying No Property.

THE TEMPERATURES.

2 a. m.	38	8 a. m.	40
4 a. m.	38	10 a. m.	43
6 a. m.	39	12 (noon)	46

The weather hopes to escape the stigma of such an adjective as "pernicious," because, according to the forecast, the frost expected tonight will not be "killing."

It will be the second light frost of this week.

The official forecast is: "Fair and cool, with frost tonight; Friday fair and warmer."

Frost is reported from Missouri, Iowa, Western Arkansas, Oklahoma and Texas, except in the southern parts, and from Eastern Kansas and Central and Northern Illinois.

HADLEY WILL RUN FOR GOVERNOR, HE WRITES TO DICKEY

Letter to Republican Chairman Virtually Settles Party's Nomination at August Primary

WILL NOT NEGLECT HIS PRESENT OFFICIAL DUTY

Extent of His Activity in Campaign Must Depend on Health, but He Says This Is Better Than When He Recently Tried to Withdraw.

Special to the Post-Dsipatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, April 30.—Attorney-General Hadley will accept the Republican nomination for Governor. He announced this today by making public a copy of a letter mailed by him last night to Walter S. Dickey of Kansas City, chairman of the Republican State Committee.

His letter to Chairman Dickey, in full, is as follows:

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., April 29, 1908.

Hon. Walter S. Dickey, Kansas City.

My Dear Dickey—Some three weeks ago, on the occasion of my leaving the State for a short absence, I consented, at the request of yourself and a number of party leaders, to defer a definite decision in reference to becoming a candidate for Governor until my return.

At that time, however, I stated that I thought that the party should, on account of the advice I had received from my physicians, proceed at once to the selection of some other candidate, as I did not think it would be satisfactory, either to the party or to myself, for me to be a candidate unless I was equal to the reasonable demands of the campaign.

DEMOCRATS WRITE TO HIM.

On my return I find that no action has been taken toward the selection of another candidate, but, on the contrary, I am in receipt of many communications from all parts of the State, from Democrats as well as Republicans, urging me to consent to be a candidate, even though I am unable to make an extended campaign.

"While I still question the advisability of such a plan, and think the importance of my personality in this matter is overestimated, I feel that I ought not decline to permit the use of my name when so many of those in whose judgment I have confidence believe that such action on my part is necessary to the success of the principles I have endeavored to represent, during my present term of office.

"Further, the improved condition of my health causes me to hope that I will, by next fall, be equal to the reasonable demands of the campaign.

WON'T NEGLECT PRESENT OFFICE.

"But if the party desires that I now consent to be a candidate for Governor, it must be understood that my candidacy will be subject to the contingencies incident to the condition of my health, and also to the superior obligation I owe to the people of Missouri not to neglect the duties of my present office in order to secure another.

"I wish to express my sincere appreciation of the consideration that has been shown for me by yourself and the party generally in the embarrassing situation in which I have been placed during the last few months, and also for the many expressions of confidence and approval that have come to me from the people of Missouri, regardless of party, during the course of the last three years. Very truly yours, HERBERT S. HADLEY."

Mr. Hadley's action makes it a practical certainty that he will be the unopposed nominee of his party at the State primary in August. Dozens of petitions for his nomination are on file in the Secretary of State's office here, and none for any other Republican aspirant for the Governorship.

Noted as Trust Fighter.

The strength of his support is due to his remarkable record of activity against the trusts, in the course of which he proved the connection of the Standard Oil Co. and the Waters-Pierce Co., its southwestern branch, and made John D. Rockefeller dodge subpoena-servers for weeks. His prompt action against the railroads brought about the enforcement of the 2-cent railroad fare law, which the roads fought.

When the Attorney-General announced, before his recent visit to a New Mexico health resort, that his health would not permit him to run, party leaders took an inventory of the other candidates. Assistant Attorney-General Kennish, Secretary of State Swanger, Lieutenant-Governor McKinley and John H. Bothwell were talked of.

No Show for Others.

It was agreed that the chances of any of these, in a presidential election year, would be extremely slender, and all of them apparently realized this, for none announced himself as a candidate.

Swanger announced that Hadley would be nominated in spite of his protestations, and the others indorsed his determination. So it was that, when Hadley returned from New Mexico, he found the movement in his behalf stronger than it was before.

St. Louis Republican leaders expressed pleasure over the news that Mr. Hadley will be a candidate, when they were so informed by the Post-Dispatch Thursday.

Thomas K. Niedringhaus said: "He's the man we want. He's the strongest man in the party in Missouri. He can poll more votes than any other candidate. If he is willing to run, that solves the problem for us. Up until now we have been without a candidate."

Thomas J. Akins: "I am for Hadley above anybody else. We never had any other candidate. There will be no opposition to Hadley for the nomination. And he'll be elected, too."

Louis P. Aloe: "That is good news. Hadley will bring success to the State ticket. He is the best candidate either party can put forward, and I don't think he can be defeated."

"The One Man to Win."

Henry W. Blodgett, United States District Attorney: I am delighted to hear that Mr. Hadley will be a candidate. He is the one man who can win for the Republicans.

THEORY THAT T. J. M'NALLY MET FOUL PLAY ABANDONED

Illinois Legislator Found to Have Been in Another Legislator's Company.

The theory that Thomas J. McNally of the Illinois Legislature met foul play in St. Louis has been abandoned. His movements have been traced from last Friday, when he disappeared from the Marquette Hotel, to Monday, and Detective Kane of Chicago, who was sent here to investigate, is satisfied McNally is safe.

Accompanied by Detectives Daugherty and O'Brien of the St. Louis department, Kane went Wednesday evening to a house at 2263 Lucas avenue, where McNally's photograph was identified as that of a visitor. From this source the detectives learned that McNally was with James Fitzgerald, another member of the Illinois Legislature. When McNally disappeared he had $1300, and his friends feared he had met foul play.

It is thought by the police that McNally may have been the man who was injured in an automobile accident at Garrison and Washington avenues early Wednesday morning, and disappeared without giving his name.

CHURCH'S LIGHT BILL IS RAISED 141 PERCENT

United Hebrew Congregation Makes Stand and Union Electric Concedes.

ONLY PAY DOUBLE NOW

Company Insisted on New Contract, but Collected on Old One.

INCREASE IN BILLS OF CONGREGATION IS SHOWN

Average, 1906, two congregations using church, $10.50 a month.

Average, 1908, five months under new contract, one congregation using church, $25.40 a month.

Average increase, $14.84 a month, or 141 per cent.

The United Hebrew Congregation of King's highway and Morgan street is trying to find out why its bills for electric light, with one congregation using the church for worship, now average 141 per cent more under a new contract than they did in 1906 under an old contract, when two congregations were using the church.

The officials of the church were forced by the Union Electric Light and Power Co. to sign a new contract last fall. The church was remodeled and the contractor cut the electric wires. The Union Electric declared that this constituted a breach of the old contract, and refused to continue its service until a new contract was signed, in which the minimum charge was raised from $1 a month to $8.50 a month.

The first bill rendered under the new contract was for $51.11, five times the average of the 1906 bills.

Forced "Down" to Double.

The officials of the church have been so vigorous in their complaints that they have succeeded in forcing the bills down to an average, for the first three months of the year, of $20.78, twice the 1906 average.

The congregation's bills began going up rapidly during the early part of 1907, and without any apparent reason leaped up to an average, for the first six months, of $23.92. The work of remodeling the church began last July. Although the Union Electric declared that the cutting of the wires was a violation of the contract it continued to collect the minimum, $1 a month, under the old contract, until a new one was signed. The same rates, 12 cents a kilowatt hour, are charged under both the old and the new contracts.

"Two congregations were using the temple in 1906," said a member of the Church Board to a Post-Dispatch reporter. "Now only the United Hebrew Congregation worships in the church. We use electric light one or two nights a week.

Consumption Is Much Less.

"The church was in use three or four nights a week when the two congregations worshiped there. We must have consumed twice as much electricity then as we do now, but our bills are more than twice as high now as they were then.

"I consider it an outrage on the part of the Union Electric Light and Power Co. to force the congregation to sign a contract embracing a 'ready-to-serve' charge. The theory upon which the electric light companies obtained their franchises was that they would be ready to serve the people.

"The United Railways Co. has just as much right to charge me 10 cents a day for being ready to serve me, whether I use the cars or not, as the Union Electric Light and Power Co. has. This whole 'ready-to-serve' charge is illegal, and if it is properly resisted in the courts it can be knocked out and the franchises of the company seriously impaired if not taken away from it.

"The Union Electric Light and Power Co. is required under its franchise to serve all persons at the same rate. I know that it is not doing it. It can be forced to do it by law.

"When the company saw that the United Hebrew Congregation was as ready to fight as it was ready to serve it cut the March bill down to $15.79, while the February bill was $18.97 and the January bill was $27.60. I know that we used as much or more electricity in March as we did in January or February. We simply would not stand for these enormous bills and the company found it out."

Telephone Company Demand Resisted.

The case of the Bell Telephone Co. of Missouri against Dr. G. Moritz, an oculist and optician at Broadway and Washington avenue, is interesting as an example of how public service corporations can be whipped. The telephone company installed a slot machine telephone in Dr. Moritz's store on a guarantee of $4.75 a month. Dr. Moritz learned that similar telephones were in use in other stores and that the company took what it found in the box at the end of each month, without exacting any guarantee. Dr. Moritz then refused to pay. When his bills amounted to something over $10 the company sued him on his contract. Dr. Moritz, through his attorneys, fought the case on the theory that the telephone company, as a public service corporation, must serve all alike.

When the company saw the defense that Dr. Moritz was making it refused to allow the case to go to trial and dismissed it and allowed him attorney fees and a claim for damages.

The Owensboro Plan.

Owensboro, Ky., a city of 18,000 population, has a municipal lighting plant. This plant supplies electricity to residences for 5 cents a kilowatt hour and to manufacturers at 2½ cents. The rates of the Union Electric Light and Power Co. for residences is 12 cents and for business and manufacturing companies from 11 2-3 cents to 12 cents a kilowatt hour.

But the Owensboro plant furnished free to the city 300 arc lights and light for the City Hall, Jail, Fire Department, Waterworks and Police Court. At the low rates charged for residence and business lighting and the free service to the city the municipal plant places a surplus of $15,000 in the city treasury every year.

The Union Electric Light and Power Co. charges consumers from 125 to 250 per cent more for electric service than the Owensboro municipal plant does, and furnishes no free light to the city.

Benoist Prepares to Sue.

Conde L. Benoist, proprietor of the Benoist Building, is preparing to bring a suit against the Union Electric Light and Power Co. to compel it to serve him at the same rates it is charging other office buildings. Mr. Benoist says that upon investigation he has found that the Syndicate Trust Building, the Century Building and the Burlington Building, all in the immediate neighborhood of his building, are supplied with current at 2½ cents a kilowatt hour. He contends that he is entitled to the same rate.

He is getting service now from the Laclede Gaslight Co., which is owned by the North American, at 8.4 cents a kilowatt hour, almost four times as much as the owners of other buildings are required, according to his statement, to pay.

Several other office buildings are said to have even lower rates than 2½ cents.

Mr. Benoist is proceeding on the theory that he is entitled, under the law, to a rate just as low as that made to any other office building.

GROUND FLOOR RATE MADE LIGHT BILLS DOUBLE

Hardware Co., by Utilizing Another Contract, Gets Some Relief.

The St. Louis Hardware Manufacturing Co. of 1519 North Eighteenth street had a contract with the Union Electric Light and Power Co. for current at 3 cents a horsepower hour.

It was urged by the Union Electric Light and Power Co. to give up this contract and sign up the new "ground floor" contract at 10 cents for the first 100 kilowatt hours, 8 cents for the next 100 and 6 cents for all in excess of that amount.

A horsepower hour is 746 watts and a kilowatt hour is 1000 watts. The hardware company was paying at the rate of 4 cents a kilowatt hour under the old contract. In order to save itself from the exorbitant rates of the new contract it entered into a contract with the Laclede Power Co., just prior to the time it was bought by the Union Electric.

The Union Electric, under the new contract, increased the hardware company's bills 100 per cent. By using all power under the Laclede Power contract, except enough to cover the minimum of $11.50 in the Union Electric contract, the company is able to cut down its bills 20 per cent.

The Laclede Power Co. should not be confused with the Laclede Gaslight Co. It was an independent company until it was recently acquired by the Union Electric.

Vigilance Committee Named.

PRESCOTT, Ark., April 25.—Four hundred business men of this town have organized an association for the suppression of lawlessness, appointed a vigilance committee and taken steps for immediate action against places that are selling whisky in open violation of the law. The recent assassination of Deputy Marshal Cummins brought the agitation against lawlessness to a climax.

ENGAGED PAIR WHOM JUDGE POLLARD WANTS TO GIVE A WEDDING BLESSING

Never Saw a Train.

From the Nashville Tennessean.

"There are people living in the mountains of North Carolina who never rode on a train," said A. J. Carpenter of Asheville, N. C., at the Maxwell. "And some of them never saw a train. This sounds fishy, but it is a fact, so help me.

"Not long ago I had occasion to ride through a section of the mountain country of my State. I was about one hundred miles from any railroad station, and the people treated me royally. The inmates of a house where I stopped overnight took the greatest interest in asking me all the late news. The old man of the family hadn't heard that the United States Government feared war with Japan. I asked him if he ever read newspapers.

"'Stranger,' said he, 'I ain't seen a newspaper since last fall.'

"Through that section of the country you'll find scores of people who can't read a line. They can't write their own name, but they are clever folks just the same."

RETIRING ADVERTISING MEN BANQUETED BY REPUBLIC

Over 100 Guests at Farewell Entertainment in Honor of Messrs. Hammond and Linn.

The Republic gave a banquet Wednesday night to A. K. Hammon, for 19 years its advertising manager, and M. P. Linn, for 18 years assistant advertising manager. Mr. Hammon and Mr. Linn have severed their connection with the Republic.

Mr. Hammon will represent the Clover Leaf syndicate of newspapers in New York City and Mr. Linn will represent the same syndicate in Chicago and will also be manager of the Farm League, which he and Mr. Hammon organized.

The banquet was given at the Planters Hotel. About 100 guests attended.

Charles W. Knapp was toastmaster. Many of the Republic employes were guests. Other newspaper men and advertising managers, ad writers, solicitors and heads of department stores attended.

Primary Law Being Tested.

LINCOLN, Neb., April 27.—An action to test the State primary law has reached the Supreme Court on appeal. The question involved is whether or not voters may nominate candidates at a primary by writing on their ballots the names of persons who have not filed nomination papers. The Attorney-General has ruled that this could not be done, but the Eighth District Court has held to the contrary.

Married After Ten Years.

OMAHA, Neb., April 27.—Meeting as children ten years ago, in Ogden, Utah, corresponding afterward as friends and later as sweethearts, Morris P. Macmillan of Goldfield, Nev., a wealthy miner, and Miss Florence Leech of this city have been married here.

FATHER'S CLUB ONLY HASTENS WEDDING BELLS

Angry Parent Sent to Workhouse, Daughter Left Free to Marry.

Love laughs at Big Sticks.

When John Hambecker of 1423 Monroe street used a club on his 19-year-old daughter, Clara, and her suitor, Bert Handing, he thought he had knocked their romance into a cocked hat. But not so. The only result was that Hambecker must go to the Workhouse, and the young folks cling closer than ever. They were to have been married in August, but now there is a prospect that the wedding bells will ring much sooner for them.

Both have lost their homes because of their love for each other. Miss Hambecker says that she will never return to the shelter of her paternal roof-tree.

Judge Advises Matrimony.

Because some in his family oppose his marriage to Miss Hambecker, Handing has left his home at 1435 Dodier street and has gone to live with a brother at 2115 North Fifteenth street.

After Hambecker had been fined $125 in the Dayton Street Police Court for his attack on his daughter and her fiance, Judge Pollard, on learning that the young folks were engaged, and that they had left their homes, advised them to get married at once.

"But I am not of age," said Handing.

"I don't think that need stand in the way," said Judge Pollard. "As your parents are dead, I believe you could get a license, and if you need me, call on me and I will help you get it."

Murderer Not to Forget Crime.

OMAHA, Neb., April 27.—In order that Saverio Colombo may not forget his crime during his life imprisonment, Judge Sears has decreed that each year on Jan. 5, the aniversary of the murder for which he was convicted, he shall be locked in a darkened cell to spend the day in meditation and fasting.

MILLION CLUB TAKES UP THE FIGHT FOR CHEAP GAS

Committee Reports, Urging Municipal Assembly to Take Action and Relieve Consumers.

The Million Club has taken up the cudgels for 35 cent gas. It has adopted the report of its committee appointed to inquire into the advisability of passing the ordinance granting a franchise to a corporation to pipe natural gas from the Kansas and Oklahoma fields to St. Louis. The report urges that prompt action on the bill be taken by the Municipal Assembly.

The committee reports that exorbitant rates are being charged in St. Louis for fuel and illuminating gas. The committee is composed of J. A. Jackson, Dr. W. H. Cotton, William Brunswick, H. J. Garritzen and Ford Smith. While its original appointment was temporary, it has been made permanent for the purpose of looking after the progress of the plan to supply St. Louis with natural gas.

The committee's report appeals to the Municipal Assembly to provide natural gas for the city, under the most favorable conditions possible. It calls attention to the fact that a large gas field lies to the southwest of this State and that Kansas City is being supplied from this source at 25 cents a thousand cubic feet.

NEW INDUSTRY FOR WOMAN IS RAISING HUMMINGBIRDS

Miss Gwendolin Brooks Has Bought a Long Island Farm for the Purpose.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 30.—Convinced that humming birds will make good household pets, Miss Gwendolin Brooks of 335 Central Park West is going to raise them in Central Islip, Long Island. She has bought a farm there and has plans for aviaries.

She proposes to sell the tiny birds, and says she already has orders for them. In spite of their small size, they are not difficult to keep in good health. Miss Brooks has experimented in raising them in the South and West.

At Central Islip Miss Brooks will make a specialty of the species known as the "ruby-breasted" birds. Their real home is in South America, but they migrate to this climate in hot weather, nest here and return to the tropic in August, before cold weather.

Woman Accused of Fraud.

LINCOLN, Neb., April 2..—Accused of defrauding Lincoln financiers of $1100, Mrs. Frank Smith, proprietor of a restaurant and the mother of a large family, has been arrested here. It is charged that she impersonated another woman and signed a mortgage on eighty acres of land which she did not own.

The Post-Dispatch is the only evening newspaper in St. Louis that receives or publishes news gathered by the Associated Press.

ROOTER DEFEATS HEDGES IN POLICE COURT BALL GAME

Accusation of Disturbing the Peace Not Sustained, Judicial Umpire Rules.

CHEERED FOR "NAPS"

Defendant's Action Aroused Ire of Other "Fans" and There Was Trouble.

Clevelands and the Browns met again Thursday morning in the Dayton Street Police Court. And Clevelands won.

Fred Ketterer of 729 Shenandoah avenue was tried out on a charge of high treason to the home team, in that he rooted for the Clevelands Wednesday afternoon. Umpire Pollard gave him the benefit of a close decision.

The technical charge was that he had disturbed the peace of Robert L. Hedges, president of the Browns, in his presidential capacity.

Policeman Ehrlacher was first up. He said he and Policeman Evoy had pulled Ketterer out of the game at the word of President Hedges. Ketterer was rooting for Cleveland and somebody soaked him behind the ear with a lemon and somebody else hurled a gob of gum at him, and it looked like there was going to be a riot soon, he said.

Hedges Makes Base Hit.

Hedges came up to the plate and gave his name to Umpire Pollard. "You are the president of the coming champions?" suggested City Attorney Mortimer Levy.

"Yessir," said Mr. Hedges, right quick, like that.

Mr. Hedges said he noticed that every time Cleveland did anything Ketterer arose and turned around and made a speech to the left field bleacherites and they threw popcorn and other dainties at him and beat him on the head with their score cards. So he told the policemen to put Ketterer out.

D. S. Morris is 60 years old, but he has a dandy rooting voice. He turned a look of withering scorn on Ketterer and told about his boosting for the Browns. The rest of them put up with it until the eighth. Cleveland went ahead then and Ketterer was so boisterous that they couldn't stand it any longer and they threw things at him.

Henry Hambrecht of 3942 Lincoln avenue could not tell very much. "You're out," said Levy. "Who's the next batter?"

Rooting Stopped in Time.

Ketterer came up. He admitted that he was rooting for Cleveland. Umpire Pollard wanted to know what he meant by rooting. He started to give an imitation. He beat his knees with his hat and looked wild and seemed about to scream, but Pollard stopped him.

Umpire Pollard said it did not appear that Ketterer had played a rough game and called him safe. At the same time he commended President Hedges for his efforts to preserve order at the game.

NEVER TALKED OF MONEY MATTERS WITH HIS WIFE

Death Leaves Her With No Knowledge of His Estate.

CHICAGO, April 30.—During all his married life, P. S. Williams of Waukegan made it a rule never to talk to his wife of money matters. He died without breaking his rule, and Mrs. Williams is wondering where her money or property is. She is almost without ready funds.

It is known that Williams invested in stock of a coffee plantation. Its name is not known to her.

Williams, who was foreman of air gates on the Milwaukee branch of the Chicago & Northwestern Railroad, had been ill for several days. When his illness became serious, he seemed to be trying to tell something, but was unable to speak.

What's doing socially hereabouts in the way of parties, sociables, hops and entertainments? See the "Coming Events" classification on first want page of today's Post-Dispatch.

Corncob Gas a Failure.

BEATRICE, Neb., April 29.—Gas men declare that the experimental plant here for the manufacture of cheap illuminating and fuel gas from straw and corncobs is a failure. The straw and cobs give the gas, as was expected, but also give off a tar that cakes up the machinery. Chemists have been unable to overcome the difficulty.

PEOPLE BRAVE FIRE TO HEAR HER PLAY

MISS HATTIE WEES

KEEPS AUDIENCE IN FOLD BY PLAYING SHEEP SONG

Alton Girl Musician Praised as a Heroine Since Nickelodeon Fire.

Despite her modest protests, the friends of Miss Hattie De Wees, 17-year-old daughter of L. A. De Wees of 312 Belle street, Alton, insists that she is a heroine.

Miss De Wees is the girl who kept an audience of 500 from stampeding when a film caught fire in the Electric Theater, wher she is employed as a piano player. When there was an explosion and the flames burst forth near the front door she remained at the piano and continued to play the music of the song, "When the Sheep Are in the Fold."

Her calmness so reassured the persons in the audience that they returned to their seats and remained there until the fire was extinguished.

FALLS INTO PIES, SAVING HIS LIFE

Acrobat's Tight Rope Trick on Roof Ends in 3-Story Plunge.

PHILADELPHIA, April 30.—While trying to demonstrate to a friend some of the acrobatic tight-rope walking ability which had won him fame in circus life some years ago, Frank Velloski, 25 years old, of 114 Spruce street, fell from the third story roof of his home, to the alley below and was taken to the Polyclinic Hospital suffering from concussion of the brain. His condition is serious, the doctors say.

Velloski occupies the fourth floor of the Spruce street house. Shortly before noon he stepped out of his window on to the roof of the third floor extension, to get a breath of fresh air. Just across the alleyway, on the roof of 116 Spruce street, was one of Velloski's friends.

"Guess I'll come over for awhile," he said. "I will show you the way we used to do when I was a circus man," he added, as he mounted a thin clothes line which stretched between the two houses across the alley.

He had successfully gone to the middle of the rope, when, suddenly, it snapped. Velloski went crashing down to the hard pavement of the alley below.

A woman in the house had been baking pies, and half a dozen specimens of her art were out to cool in the alley. Velloski landed head first in these. The hospital doctors say that it was probably due to this that the ex-circus man's skull was not fractured.

JUDGE TRACY AS PEACEMAKER REUNITES HUSBAND AND WIFE

Stays Man's Fine on Condition That He Return Home.

Judge Tracy in the City Hall Police Court Thursday acted as peacemaker between Otto and Minnie Oehmsted of 3322 Locust street, who were married 16 years ago, but who separated recently. Mrs. Oehmsted charged her husband with coming to her home on April 21 after she had told him to stay away.

"But I don't want him sent to the Workhouse, Your Honor," the woman pleaded. "He was drinking and did not know what he was doing."

"Oehmsted," said the Judge, "if you will make up with your wife and she will let you return home, I will stay your fine. Otherwise, I'll fine you $10."

Both promised that their separation would end at once, and left the courtroom arm in arm.

WYMAN LOSES 2 SUITS FOR POSTAGE AGAINST E. G. LEWIS

Federal Judge Trieber of Little Rock, Ark., in an opinion filed with Clerk Gray of the Federal Court in St. Louis Thursday, sustained demurrers to two suits of Postmaster Wyman against the Lewis Publishing Co. for excess postage on its two magazines. The suits were for $3946.14 excess postage on the Woman's Magazine and $7046.14 for excess postage on the Woman's Farm Journal.

Lewis put up two bonds, one for $10,000 and one for $5000 to cover the excess postage on the two magazines after they were denied the second class mailing privileges, March 4, 1907. The amount sued for by the Postmaster is for postage in excess of the bonds. Judge Trieber holds that the Government cannot go back of its bonds and make a demand for postage.

WIFE CHARGES LEMP HAS LEFT HER MONEYLESS

Petition Says He Has Not Contributed to Support Her and Child.

HAS GONE INTO DEBT

Court Asked to Order Attorneys' Fees and Household Obligations Paid.

Mrs. Lillian Handlan Lemp, "The Lavender Lady," in a petition to Judge Kinsey for temporary alimony pending her suit for divorce, told the Court Friday that her husband, William J. Lemp Jr., president of the William J. Lemp Brewing Co., had not contributed to her support or that of their 7-year-old son in the last year.

She said she was without money or property, and that in order to sustain herself and her child she had to borrow large sums.

Her husband's income, she stated, is $80,000 a year, but she receives no portion of it, and is now unable to pay her attorneys.

Wants Her Debts Paid.

She asked the Court to order her husband to pay her a sum which will enable her to pay back the money she has borrowed since he ceased to support her, and to pay her attorney fees and the incidental expenses of her suit for divorce.

The petition was filed by her counsel, Judge Daniel Dillon and John S. Leahy, and was taken under advisement.

In order to determine the amount of alimony which shall be granted, it may be necessary for both Mr. and Mrs. Lemp to go into court.

The evidence in the case is being heard by a commissioner behind closed doors.

A motion recently filed by Mr. Lemp, asking that his wife be forced to strike out certain allegations in her petition, is still pending.

Objects to Monkey Story.

The particular allegations to which he objects are that he permitted his son to see a monkey fed on live birds, and that he quarreled with his wife about her religion.

Since their separation two years ago, Mrs. Lemp has lived in the spacious home at 3343 South Thirteenth street, which they formerly occupied together, and Mr. Lemp has had apartments at the St. Louis Club.

Mrs. Lemp retained the custody of the 7-year-old son, William J. Lemp III.

AL WAGENMAN, POLITICIAN, VERY LOW WITH PARALYSIS

Patient at Sanitarium Known as Inveterate Cigar Smoker.

Albert J. (Al) Wagenman, formerly Clerk of the Court of Criminal Correction, and one of the best-known of the St. Louis Republican leaders, is near death at the Baptist Sanitarium as the result of a paralytic stroke which he suffered Tuesday morning. The attending physicians say he can live only a few hours.

"Al" Wagenman served two terms as Clerk of the Criminal Correction Court. Recently he held a clerical position under Circuit Clerk Kreisman.

He is about 50 years old. For 20 years he has taken a conspicuous part in Republican conventions of this State and served frequently as a member of the City Committee. He also was a member of the St. Louis Elks Lodge.

Jules Bertero, secretary of that organization, said Thursday that Mr. Wagenman was in apparently good health at the time he was stricken. He was known as an inveterate cigar smoker, consuming, his friends say, an average of 20 a day.

Music Wins Two Pardons.

FRANKFORT, Ky., April 30.—Because Thomas Shannon and R. B. Souder, convicts in the Eddyville Penitentiary, are accomplished musicians, and because Miss Marie Boyd, daughter of Col. John Boyd of Eddyville, is a lover of music, Shannon and Souder are free. They have been pardoned by the Prison Commissioners as the result of a petition circulated by Miss Boyd. The men were convicted of conspiracy to kill and rob.

HORSE GROWS A MUSTACHE; EQUINE BARBER WANTED

New Profession Opened Up by Appendage on "Dick's" Upper Lip.

OWNER TRIMS IT NOW

Alton Man Tires of the Job and Wants to Find Silent Partner.

WANTED—First-class horse barber who understands the trimming and care of an equine mustache; no conversational powers required. Ad. Box Stall 51, Alton.

Queer things will keep cropping out in Alton. Now a mustache has gone and grown on a horse. It might just as well have grown on Mayor Beall or somebody else, but it had to keep up the reputation of its beautiful city as the stamping ground of Nature in her playful moods.

It is a real mustache—no nature fake, normal in every way except in its strange choice of a place to light.

"Dick" is the name of the horse that wears it, and he belongs to J. A. Dietz, a grocer at Second and Cherry streets. In comparison with the ordinary mustache, this one is in the same relative proportion as is a horse fly to an ordinary fly.

It completely covers "Dick's" ample upper lip. It is black, but on the right side, and to add a touch of distinction, it is streaked with gray, so that it gives "Dick" the appearance of being a "sad old dog." But he isn't. He is just a proud old horse, whose mustache tickles him.

Mr. Dietz keeps the mustache carefully parted in the center, and the stableman curls it every morning. For a time it was trained to grow in the Kaiser Wilhelm style, but "Dick" couldn't get used to the points sticking up on either side. They made him shy.

"Dick" came from Oklahoma. There are lots of luxuriant mustaches like his out there, but none of them grow on horses.

"I trim 'Dick's' mustache three times a year,' said Mr. Dietz, "but I can't do a first-class job with the shears, and I wish I could find a horse barber."

JOHN D. TAYLOR, CHIROPODIST, DIES SUDDENLY OF APOPLEXY

Attends Baseball Game Wednesday Afternoon; Expires Next Morning.

John D. Taylor, a chiropodist, with an office in the Commercial Building, died suddenly of apoplexy early Thursday morning at his home, 2644 Nebraska avenue.

He was at his office Wednesday afternoon in fine spirits and apparently in the best of health. He closed the office about 3 o'clock and went to the American League baseball park with a friend.

Mr. Taylor dropped dead in the parlor of his home after reading that the Browns had lost Wednesday's game against Cleveland. It appears that he had left the game during its early stages while the Browns were leading.

Mr. Taylor was 32 years old, and had maintained an office in the Commercial Building for three years.

YOAKUM LAUDS ROOSEVELT, BUT WANTS A REST

Frisco Head Pleads for Election of a "Big, Broadgauge" President.

SCORES "POLITICIANS"

Railroads Should Be Made to Give to Public What Is Due, He Says.

A plea for "a rest from restrictive legislation" was set up at the Traffic Club dinner Wednesday evening at the Hotel Jefferson by Benjamin F. Yoakum, chairman of the Executive Committee of the Frisco-Rock Island System, and was echoed by other conspicuous railroad men present.

The banquet was attended by many commercial railroad men from the East and West. About 350, including resident members of the club, attended.

Those who indorsed Mr. Yoakum's plea for cessation of anti-monopoly legislation and for a "business administration" were C. A. Blood of New York, freight traffic manager for the Lehigh Valley Railroad, who gave a brief, but forceful, exposition of the interdependence of railroad and other business interests; B. D. Caldwell of New York, vice-president of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Railroad, and W. K. Bixby of St. Louis, capitalist.

St. Louis as Seaport.

George W. Simmons, vice-president of the Simmons Hardware Co., introduced Mr. Yoakum. After remarking that since the Traffic Club was organized six months ago it had grown to include 225 resident members, Mr. Simmons dwelt upon the advantageous location of St. Louis commercially, and added that "when we get our 14-foot channel from the Lakes to the Gulf—and we are going to get that channel as sure as we are here tonight—the Great Lakes will no longer flow past Niagara Falls, but will come down the Mississippi to St. Louis, the great central inland seaport."

Mr. Simmons paid tribute to Mr. Yoakum as the one man, pre-eminent among all the rest," to whom "St. Louis owes thanks."

"During the past six months the railroads have been doing just what you and I have," said Mr. Simmons, "wearing out old clothes and not buying any new ones.

"And with at least one St. Louis system, I am sure the railroad tailors will have the best possible opportunity to furnish new clothes, for if there is any railroad man today who always looks after St. Louis' interests it is B. F. Yoakum."

Business Sense Needed by President.

The successful candidate for the presidency should have "good, sound business judgment," rather than statesmanship, in the opinion of Mr. Yoakum. He declared that the present depressed industrial condition is due to agitation against corporations, and pleaded for "an administration based upon sound business principles."

Before taking up the political question, Mr. Yoakum analyzed commercial conditions, declaring that destruction of "economic stability" was responsibility for one-fourth of the business depression prevailing. In part, he said:

"After careful consideration, every fair-minded man must admit that the underlying principles of the policies laid down by the present administration have been healthy and sound; but the methods adopted in their application have been hurtful, causing shrinkage of values, and contributing to the falling off of business; and while the treatment was heroic we should not overlook the fact that probably milder methods would not have accomplished what was necessary for the healthy reform of some of our business conditions.

"President Roosevelt should not be held responsible for these objectionable laws although they may have partly resulted from his efforts to correct abuses which have been eliminated from our business methods. On the contrary, he should be given due credit for what he has accomplished in the direction of the regulation of railroads through the enforcement of laws heretofore allowed to go unenforced, and the enactment of new laws.

Need Broadgauge Man.

"At this time above all others we must look for a successor to President Roosevelt, who shall be a big, broadgauge man. The commercial, industrial, agricultural and laboring interests through their representative organizations should dictate, in a broad, comprehensive manner, the business planks of the platforms of both parties, fairly protecting both the public and the railroads. These interests should ask the prospective candidates to indorse or reject the planks so framed in order that the country will know how they stand.

"President Roosevelt, through his indomitable will and power to control, has instilled in the minds of the people of this country and the rest of the world the important influence of the President in our national affairs. We should not fail to realize that the President will in the future occupy a position so prominent in the eyes of the world that his individual policy will have a direct and important bearing upon the business development of our nation.

Must Care for the Masses.

"We should elect the man who sufficiently will appreciate the importance of the interests of the country to enable it to go forward and to use his high office for the comfort, contentment and prosperity of the people and in a manner that will tend towards restoration of confidence in this and foreign countries. At the same time he should adhere to the strict enforcement of the law to the end that the public shall receive proper protection and fair treatment from the railroads.

"I believe that if the manufacturers and merchants of the great commercial centers—St. Louis, Chicago and Kansas City—would unite on such a remedy that every commercial center of America would follow their lead and vigorously advance the cause, which would restore a period of lasting prosperity.

"Therefore, every citizen, whatever his politics, has a personal interest in our next President. Men in both political parties are to be had who are capable and competent properly to create, establish and carry out a policy that will guarantee to the American people an administration based upon sound business principles."

GIRL ELOPER LEAPS ON MOVING TRAIN

Man, Who Was Going to Canada, Postpones Trip Until After Marriage.

ANDERSON, Ind., April 30.—Rather than be parted from her fiance for the summer, Miss Hazel Prigg of Middletown swung on a train on which Glenn Tait of this city was starting for Canada and accompanied him to Chicago, where the couple were married six hours later. The Canadian trip was postponed until after the young people had returned here and received parental blessings.

Tait is the son of a well-known oil operator, one of the wealthiest men in Madison County. He was going to Vancouver for the summer to look after his father's mining interests in that section. Miss Prigg, accompanied by her parents and those of the young man, had gone to the Pennsylvania station to see Tait off.

The boy was standing on the rear platform and his companions were conversing with him when the train started. Before the parents realized what was happening the young woman had dashed after the train, caught the handrail and pulled herself aboard with Tait's assistance. Six hours later the couple wired that they had been married.

On their return receptions were given in their honor by the bridegroom's parents in this city and by the parents of the bride in Middletown. Later in the summer the young people will go to Canada together.

The money was loaned to the Government by an ancester for a term of 99 years.

Convict's Brother Loses Mind.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 30.—Brooding over his act in turning State's evidence against his brother, with whom he was implicated in house breaking, Harry Winebrenner, 18 years old, has lost his reason. The brother was sentenced to the Workhouse.

WOODEN LEGGED ELOPER CAUGHT

Girl's Father Pursues Couple Over North Central United States.

OMAHA, Neb., April 30.—Picture yourself a schoolmaster, 45 years old, with red hair, freckles and a wooden leg.

Then picture a pretty, bright, vivacious little Eva, the 15-year-old pride of her happy home.

You wouldn't pick them out as elopers would you? If you were the father or mother of the little girl, the thought that she might run away with the 45-year-old, red-headed, wooden-legged schoolmaster would never have entered your head, would it?

Perhaps, then, you would have been as much surprised as was Charles Sample, clerk of the Brookings (S. D.) School Board, when the unexpected happened. Perhaps, too, you would have been as angry as he was.

Prosecution Threatened.

In any event, the girl and the man did elope and the father is angry, very angry, so angry that he declares he will prosecute John M. Day, the schoolmaster, and seek to annul the marriage. He has been tracking the couple all over the north central part of the United States and he has cornered them in a hotel here, but despite the lapse of time his wrath is unabated.

The wooden leg and the red hair were material aids to Eva's father in following his daughter's choice for a matrimonial partner. Sample learned the couple had gone to Pipestone, Minn., and when he landed in Pipestone every one in town knew they had been there. Finally Semple arrived in Omaha, hot on the trail, and even in a village of such generous proportions as this he learned that a man with red hair, a wooden leg and a child companion was sufficiently novel combination to occasion more than passing notice. The father had no trouble in tracing them to a hotel.

Father Is Defied.

The angry parent, through the medium of the police, had an interview with the happy bridegroom. What the father said would not look nice in cold type, but what the bridegroom replied was said smilingly. It was to this effect:

"We are married, Mr. Sample; legally married; what are you going to do about it?"

There was an explosion, something about prosecution and annulment of the marriage and the father hastened away.

Our Annual May Sale of Undermuslins Begins Tomorrow

THE inaugural of this event will be marked by value-giving that will win instant favor. We have assembled for the occasion almost 30,000 garments, and the greatest range of styles that has ever been shown under one roof in the city of St. Louis. These are not hurriedly constructed garments, made expressly for sale purposes, but were destined to give the greatest satisfaction to our patrons, and act as an upbuilding element for the Undermuslin Section, and promote interest in the future occasions.

They are cut amply full and wide, not skimped. They are well made, sewed together with good thread. The seams are straight and even—care marks every detail of their manufacture—and while low prices and quality are the most important elements, a great feature of this sale is variety. It embraces most comprehensive lines of the finest French hand-made garments as well as all grades of American-made Undermuslins. The wants of every woman is appealed to and the prices should influence her purchasing most liberally for future use. Special prices on many numbers will be in effect on the opening day to insure a great attendance—Read:

CIRCUS FOLK WORK DILIGENTLY BETWEEN SHOWS

Performers Required to Rehearse Their Acts Till Perfection Is Attained.

PRACTICE CONSTANTLY

Fancy Costumes Disappear When Real Drudgery of Profession Begins.

Where is it fled, the glory and the dream?
—Wordsworth.

Behind the glistering bravery of the circus, whose thrills have power over the most blase souls, is an infinite amount of patient, tireless drudgery, needed to produce the superb suppleness and strength of the athletes.

The glamor and romance of Ringling Bros.' big show had faded Wednesday afternoon. Resplendent equestriennes, gorgeous jugglers, richly caparisoned horses and gleaming clowns had vanished. The last of the curious spectators, with reluctant backward glances, had filed out of the fairyland of the circus into the drizzling rain of reality.

In their stead, the big tent was invaded by an army of everyday laborers, roughly clad, who swarmed over seats and through rings, stirring up a fog of dust with brooms and rakes. Slow, heavy horses dragged ponderous rollers about the course. Preparations were in hand for the night performance.

Then sallied forth a somberly clad throng, intent on the practice which makes perfect. They were a number of the actors in the show, dissatisfied with their execution of their acts or ambitious to improve them. One could hardly recognize them in the disguise of working and street clothes.

No Glittering Apparel Now.

Sweaters, corduroy trousers, gingham tights, street clothes, had displaced the gay costumes of the actors, and a look of intense seriousness was worn instead of the merry archness with which they had besought the applause of the audience.

A clown, to be identified by a certain humorous cast of countenance, despite his disguise as a well-dressed youth wearing a collar, appeared and began turning an innumerable series of grotesque handsprings around the course. His gyrations at the afternoon show had not provoked the laughter he had hoped for.

A bearded man, in a well-cut black suit and smoking a cigar, was perceived by the magnificent steed which he led to be no other than the resplendent Cossack, in white and red uniform and patent leather boots, who put the horse through its paces in the afternoon.

The animal had refused, while on exhibition, to perform its act of lying down on a feather bed and being covered up with blankets. Now it was punished by being compelled to repeat the act 50 times, with a reward of sugar at the end. The horse was stripped of its silver trappings, and wore a plain bridle.

Equine Offender's Penalty.

Another horse, a participant in an equine quadrille, had escaped from the ring during the act and fled to the stables. Now, in the dusk, the unlucky animal was being drilled with monotonous repetition in its part.

A trick bicycle rider, who essayed without complete success during the show, to master the "giraffe," a single wheel with the seat nine feet above the platform, was laboring to assure his perfection in the difficult feat. High in the air, he swayed and balanced, whirling about on his precarious seat and listening in intent silence to the advice of the leader of the troupe.

The net was again spread under the trapezes, and a young performer, who had missed his leap in the air while turning a double somersault, was practicing it with tireless efforts. His instructor, perched high above him, in a suit of overalls instead of silken tights, reprimanded him sharply as he failed time after time, but dismissed him with a grunt of approval when at last he succeeded.

At one end a father, aided by two sons, was teaching a younger scion the feat of springing from one brother's shoulders to the other's, turning a couple of somersaults en route. A belt, attached to two ropes, secured the boy from a fall. With silent earnestness, the boy attempted the leap a hundred times without once succeeding.

Seeking Perfection Through Practice.

After each attempt, his eyes questioned his father for reproof or encouragement. At the end he was rewarded by the praise that he would probably have the act perfect in six months. He had been practicing it a year, acording to the father. The boy, in dress, was to be distinguished from no American schoolboy.

A young girl, in calico tights, and a sweater, instead of the magnificent costume of the afternoon, sped round and round the narrow circumference of a platform on a bicycle, attempting with a patience which seemed inexhaustible to swing from her seat, over the handlebars and back again without falling. By the side of the platform stood the members of her troupe, in neat street attire, quietly imparting to her succinct bits of advice.

A father, mother, three sons and daughter were practicing on another platform. The mother looked nothing out of the ordinary in her plaid skirt and short jacket. The girl wore gingham knickerbockers, and the boys sweaters. For an hour the family tried to perfect the feat of having the girl spring from her mother's shoulders, while the smallest son leaped from the father's, whirling about each other in an aerial somersault and exchanging stations. The girl had already mastered the act, but the boy, though intently determined, invariably landed on his mother's head or face instead of her shoulders. She did not seem to feel the impact of his feet.

LEGLESS THIEF ON WHEELBOARD OUTRUNS POLICE

"Rubber Tire" Johnson Scatters People in Dash Along New York Street.

By Wire From the Washington Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 30.—Bertha Brooks of 123 West Twenty-seventh street reported at police headquarters that as she was going through Seventy-ninth street, a legless negro shot out of a house on a pair of wheels, hit her with his head and knocked her down, and that two confederates robbed her of $1.50 and some jewelry.

The policemen suspected "Rubber Tire" Johnson even before the girl recognized his picture in the rogues' gallery.

For twenty years, since he lost both legs at the hips, Johnson has propelled himself around on a board fastened to a pair of wheels. He uses his hands as motor, and has acquired such skill that he can speed at the rate of 20 miles an hour, taking the street crossings like a hurdle.

The detectives saw "Rubber Tire" and his wheels last night. He was talking to George Brooks, "the kid," whose picture had also been picked out by Miss Brooks.

Scatters Crowd Like Auto.

Not knowing "Rubber Tire's" speed, they thought he would be easy, so they laid hold of Brooks. Next minute "Rubber Tire" was making a record up Seventh avenue. Turning Brooks over to a policeman, the detectives set out after the man on wheels, who was scattering the crowds like a runaway auto.

The detectives couldn't overtake him, and nobody in his course evinced a desire to stop him. Whistles blew and signals flew, and everybody in the houses along the way rushed out to see the novel chase. From Twenty-fourth street to Twenty-ninth street "Rubber Tire" had it all his own way, but here a policeman stopped him. Brooks and he were locked up on a charge of robbery.

DR. MORGAN DIX, RECTOR OF TRINITY CHURCH SINCE 1862, DIES, AGED 81 YEARS

Led Movement in His Parish to Prevent Marriage of Divorced Persons.

By Leased Wire from the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 30.—The Rev. Dr. Morgan Dix, the distinguished rector of Trinity Parish, died last night as his wife and family knelt around him in the rectory, 27 West Twenty-fifth street. His death was attributed to heart trouble, aggravated by twenty years of suffering from asthma.

In spite of his ills and his frail body, worn but unbent by 81 years, Dr. Dix retained his mental vigor to the last. Easter Sunday he preached with his accustomed vigor his last sermon. Three days ago he fell ill and took to his bed.

Dr. Dix was the son of Gen. John A. Dix, who, while Secretary of the Treasury in the cabinet of President Buchanan, uttered the famous order: "If any man dares to haul down the American flag, shoot him on the spot!"

Dr. Dix was born in New York in 1827, was educated in Columbia College and the General Theological Seminary, Princeton, Oxford, Harvard and the University of the South conferred honors on him. He was ordained in Philadelphia in 1853, and in 1855 he formed his permanent association with Trinity parish. He became rector in 1862.

Dr. Dix stood for half a century of earnest and vigorous effort as the exponent of conservative reform. He was unalterably opposed to divorce, and in 1904, after the Episcopal Church in America refused to take the decisive stand against divorce, he led his parish in declaring that no divorced person should be married in its church.

In the management of Trinity's great estate Dr. Dix developed unusual judgment in financial affairs. His personal fortune, built on the foundation left by his father, was large.

ROOSEVELT DIDN'T SAY HE REGRETTED PLEDGE

Reported Statement of President Denied on High Authority at the White House.

By Wire From the Washington Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—The statement that President Roosevelt said to a Senator: "If I could have foreseen how things were going to frame up, I would never had made that election night pledge," and that he added: "Still, the pledge is good, and it stands, even if advantage is taken of it," was taken to the White House today for verification.

It can be stated on high authority that the President never made such a remark to a Senator or to anyone else.

Between 300 and 400 letters are received daily at the White House, urging the President to run again. These letters come from all parts of the country, from members of all political parties.

Some of the writers argue that the President is in the thick of his campaign for the establishment of complete Government control over interstate commerce, and for other reforms; and that it is impossible to transfer this work successfully to another, since Mr. Roosevelt's personality is a powerful factor in achieving this success.

In all his replies to such letters the President reminds his admirers of his former resolutions on the subject, and declares that his position is unchanged.

CAR SURPLUS REPORT SHOWS TRAFFIC DECLINE IN APRIL

In First Half of Month 375,770 Cars on 153 Railroads Were Idle.

CHICAGO, April 30.—A decline in railroad traffic during April is shown in the bi-weekly statement of car surpluses and shortages issued yesterday by the Car Efficiency Committee of the American Railway Association.

The statement, which is regarded as a business barometer, portrays conditions up to April 15 on 153 railroads of the United States and Canada.

During the fortnight following April 1, the number of idle cars mounted from 307,507 to 375,770, the greatest total in the history of American railroads. The figures bear out the statements of railroad men that during the month of April business conditions have been at a lower ebb than at any time during the business depression. During the highest previous surplus figure was on Feb. 5, when the total was 343,928.

"BLIND" BEGGAR SEES TO COUNT OUT AN $80 FINE

CHICAGO, April 30.—A supposedly blind and deaf mendicant who had been arrested was fined $80 by Municipal Judge Wells. The man's hearing and sight were suddenly restored and he took $80 from one of his pockets and paid his fine. He was searched, and a bank book showing deposits of $1452 was found.

The man's name is Thomas Cantanzaro, and he is 67 years old.

TYPE SET BY WIRELESS; PICTURES THROUGH WALLS

Marvelous Feats Demonstrated by Danish Inventor in a London Hotel.

LONDON, April 30.—Hans Knudsen, the Danish inventor, famous for his achievements with liquid air, in the first public demonstration of long-distance wireless photography at the Hotel Cecil, made the remarkable announcement that within a few weeks he would publicly demonstrate his new wireless typesetting invention.

"I have already had the first machine constructed," said Mr. Knudsen, "and it proved successful, setting 3000 words an hour, at a distance just as if the operator were working the machine.

Mr. Knudsen says he can set type on an ordinary Linotype machine by wireless waves. In the course of his demonstration of wireless photography, Mr. Knudsen sent photographs of the King, Queen and Kaiser from one room in the hotel through the wall into another, without wires, the pictures proving recognizable.

MAN HUGS GIRL ON STREET

He Runs Away When Her Screams Attract Neighbor.

Miss Emma Rodermund, 17, and her sister, Lena, 15, have reported to the police that while they were going to their home at 3725 Meramec street Tuesday night, a man who followed them from a street car at Grand avenue and Meramec street put his arms around Emma's waist.

The girls screamed. John Betz of 3640 Meramec street opened the front window of his home and the man ran away.

ESSEN MEN IN COUNTY COURT SNUB COLLEAGUE

County Judge Kassebaum is indignant at being overridden in the choice of road overseers in his district. At the session of the County Court at Clayton Wednesday County Judges Wiethaupt and Rannells, Kassebaum says, appeared with lists of road supervisors prepared beforehand and ignored his recommendations. Forty-eight supervisors were chosen.

It is customary for each member of the county bench to choose the supervisors in his district. Kassebaum is an avowed anti-Essen sympathizer. His associates are recognized as Essen men.

"WATER WALKER" MAKES TRIAL

Pilot's "River Shoes" Turn Him Head Downward in Stream.

PITTSBURG, Pa., April 30.—Capt. S. F. Gilmore, a river pilot, attempted to give a practical demonstration of walking on water in the Monongehela River. Two miniature boats, or "shoes," each more than two feet long and with a beam of eight inches, and some twelve inches draught, were fastened on the demonstrator's feet.

Gilmore tried several times to "walk on water," but each time the shoes turned turtle and Gilmore's head and body were under water, his feet sticking up in the air, when he was rescued.

MATTOON MAYOR RESIGNS BECAUSE CITY "WENT DRY"

Without $19,000 Revenue, Lehman Says, Improvements Cannot Be Made.

MATTOON, Ill., April 30.—In accordance with his statement made four weeks before the local option election, which was held April 7, that he would resign if Mattoon voted out its 19 saloons, Mayor Louis H. Lehman tendered his resignation at the meeting of the City Council last night and it was accepted.

Mayor Lehman took the stand that without the $19,000 in revenue derived from the licenses, the finances of the city would be so impaired that it would be impossible to carry out public improvements.

The retiring Mayor is known as a politician and a financier. He is not friendly to saloons, but considered this an inopportune time for Mattoon to get rid of them. A special election will be held to choose his successor.

Girl in Merry Widow Hat.

Theresa Psium is missing from her home, 1520 Mallinckrodt street, and her parents have asked the police to find her. She left home Sunday afternoon, April 5, and told her mother she would be back in a few minutes. She has not been home since and her folks have not heard from her. She is 17 years old and wore a black dress and a black merry widow hat.

GIRL SEES RIVAL SUITORS FIGHT DUEL WITH KNIVES

Loretto Burns Looks on While Colager Apolus Mortally Wounds Edward Zorn.

CHICAGO, April 30.—While the cause of the trouble watched them, Colager Apolus, a Greek, and Edward Zorn fought a duel with knives on State street early this morning over the girl with whom both were in love. Zorn was taken to a hospital, dying.

Loretta Burns had been to a party with Zorn last night and Apolus, as they were returning, attacked Zorn. The girl watched the encounter from a safe distance. Apolus fled, but was captured.

DOG KNEW HIS MASTER'S SHOES

Seized Wearer, Though He Came by Them Honestly.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., April 30.—When he discovered a stranger wearing a pair of his master's shoes, "Jack," the watchdog in the pharmacy of Dr. G. L. Hayes Deemer, on the board walk pounced on James M. Robinson, the stranger, and held him until the arrival of a policeman.

Robinson believed, with good reason, that the dog might start to chew him at any moment, and his screams caused much excitement. Deemer had presented the shoes to Robinson, who was making a poor living by doing odd jobs. After the dog was called off, Robinson insisted on returning the shoes rather than to take another chance of being taken for a thief by the dog detective.

SACRIFICES HER ALL; SAYS LORD WILL PROVIDE

Mrs. DeMoss Auctions $1500 Worth of Furniture, Gets $150.

WANTS TO SAVE GIRLS

Will Use Fund Realized From Sale to Establish Rescue Home.

With supreme faith that the Lord will yet provide, Mrs. Francina L. de Moss sacrificed everything she had at an auction sale at her home, 2732 Pine street, Wednesday afternoon in an effort to raise funds with which to establish a Christian home for the rescue of young girls.

A month ago she advertised that she would sell her household goods, the proceeds of which would be used for Christian work."

The goods offered for sale were said to be worth $1500. The amount received was $150, but after the advertising and auctioneer's fees are paid about $90 will remain.

Meantime Mrs. de Moss and her seven children are practically homeless. They owe $125 rent on the big 25-room house, which was the source of their income from roomers.

The auction was made remarkable by the religious fervor of the members of the family and the cynical indifference of those who came to buy or look on.

Hymns Before Auction.

Just before the sale began the children gathered in the hall and under the leadership of John, 19 years old, known as "the boy preacher," sang two hymns at the request of their mother, who said that the Lord had told her to have the children sing "Have Faith in God," and "I Am Going Through."

While the hymns were being sung the auctioneer was fuming with impatience. He said there was too much religion and too little business connected with it, and advised the singers to "cut it out."

"I am going to take possession of this house in the name of the devil," he said, according to Mrs. de Moss. But she protested that he was going to do nothing of the kind and dedicated the sale to the Lord, then told him to go ahead.

The older children opposed the sale, but Mrs. de Moss was so insistent that their protests went for nothing.

The older children are Mrs. V. O. Stewart, Miss Grace, 17 years old; John, the "Boy Preacher;" George and Ethel. All are seriously religious, but are not so positive as their mother that things will come as easily as she believes. When the auctioneer moved upon the parlor to sell the piano the girls blocked the way and, despite his insistence, locked the door upon him and saved the piano.

As an example of the way their property was sacrificed, only 25 cents was obtained for two iron beds and springs and a kitchen table. A gas range that cost $14 a few months ago brought $1.10. A dresser with a French bevel mirror went for 15 cents, and an iron bed, a cot, springs and mattresses for $1. Only $4 was bid on a big leather arm chair which cost $55, but the girls protested at this and bid it in for $5 themselves.

There were between 200 and 300 persons present, but most of them were mere sensation-seekers who had been attracted by the advertisements, and most of the bidding was done by second-hand dealers, who saw a chance for profitable purchases.

She Blames the Devil.

Mrs. De Moss professed to be not discouraged at the result of the sale, although her children were. "The devil was making all the trouble he could for us," said Mrs. Stewart after the sale, "but we are like Job. We will not curse the name of the Lord. He will bring us through."

Mrs. De Moss says there will be a Christian home of refuge in the house yet provided by the Lord, and the Lord will provide a large tent for them to hold religious services in.

The family spent a cold and cheerless night in the emptied and chilly house, but were undismayed Thursday morning and as confident as ever that the Lord would make things come out all right for them.

NEGRO'S LEGS SWIFTER THAN POLICE MINDS

Captors Let Him Go Three Times, Then Remember They Want Him.

Five policemen had exciting times early Thursday with an elusive negro. He was captured three times and was shot at 25 times, but escaped.

At 1:45 a. m. Policeman John McNiff discovered the negro prowling about the yard of a vacant house at 3030 Bell avenue. As he approached the negro fled, and in pursuing him McNiff fired five shots. After the negro disappeared McNiff telephoned to the Dayton Street Station:

"Arrest a coffee-colored negro, 5 feet 7, wearing a light overcoat and black stiff hat."

At 3:30 a. m. Patrolman Hanley was summoned to the residence of a Mr. Burke at 3748 Evans avenue. Burke had found a negro in his cellar and was holding him a prisoner. The negro begged for his liberty, saying he had drank too freely and had crawled into the cellar to sleep. Burke pitied the negro, and said he would not prosecute him. The negro had gone but a short distance when it occurred to Hanley that he answered the description of the coffee-colored negro whose arrest had been ordered. Hanley called on the negro to halt, and the negro ran. Hanley gave chase and fired five shots.

At 4 a. m. Policemen Moorman and Graves met a negro at Grand and Evans avenues. They questioned him as to what he was doing on the street at that hour, and after he had answered they allowed him to proceed. A moment later it dawned upon the two that the negro they had just spoken to looked very much like the negro they had been instructed to look out for. They immediately started after the negro. He saw them and ran.

Moorman and Graves each fired five shots. The negro got away.

At 4:25 a. m. Policeman Roach, standing at Easton and Prairie avenues, saw a negro approaching, nervous and out of breath. Roach questioned him. The negro said he had been running to catch a car. Roach told him to go on his way. The negro obeyed, and a few seconds later Roach was seized with an inspiration. The negro he had just spoken to answered the description of the one whose arrest had been ordered. Roach started for the negro. He ran. There was a chase of several blocks. Five shots were fired by Roach. The negro got away.

MAN WHO HELPS ATTORNEY WORKS, JURY DECIDES

Former Detective, Now "Steerer" for Lawyers, Not Guilty of Vagrancy.

Steering clients to lawyers is work, within the meaning of the law, according to the view of the jury before which Reese Evans was tried in Judge Williams' court on a charge of vagrancy.

Evans' defense was that he worked by getting clients for lawyers on commission. The jury found him not guilty.

Evans is a negro. He was formerly a detective. The evidence was that he is now a "capper" for lawyers. Witnesses for both the State and the defense said so. The only question before the jury was whether hustling for clients was work.

Attorney Sammy Cohen was a good witness for Evans. From a memorandum book he told of a number of clients who had been brought to him by Evans. The negro's compensation, he said, was 50 per cent of the fee. He told of having split a number of fees with Evans.

Sam Lears, who figured in the Ollie Roberts cases, testified that he had known Evans for years as a solicitor for clients.

William A. Fish and John A. Porter, attorneys, with offices near the Four Courts, testified on the part of the State that they had seen Evans pick up clients headed for their offices and steer them to somebody else.

The case belonged in the Court of Criminal Correction, but Judge Taylor disqualified himself on the ground of prejudice and asked Judge Williams to take it.

It is said that the Grievance Committee of the St. Louis Bar Association will take cognizance of the testimony in the case.

THIS MAN WANTS A JOB AT $40,000 A YEAR AND WITH NO WORK TO DO

He Read in Post-Dispatch of Russian Woman Whose Will Makes the Offer.

W. E. Taylor of 214 North Wall street, Gas, Kan., has been looking for a job that would just suit him—$40,000 a year, three good meals a day and nothing to do.

Mr. Taylor's opportunity comes to him through the medium—it might almost be called the materializing medium—of the Post-Dispatch Sunday Magazine.

In this paper he read of the strange will of a Russian woman who bequeathed $40,000 to anyone who would occupy for one year a small room adjoining her burial vault in Pere la Chaise Cemetery, near Paris.

The only condition was that whosoever accepted the offer should remain in the little room all the time, seeing no one except the person who would bring his meals.

"Such a job would suit me, even if there was little in it," writes Mr. Taylor, "provided I could have what I wanted to study and work with. Please put me next to finding out further pertickulars."

Unfortunately, the printer's devil dropped the Russian lady's name and broke it so that it could not be put together again, but Mr Taylor can obtain the particulars he desires by writing to the Probate Clerk at Paris, France.

LOTS OF OLD FOSSILS AT COLUMBIA U.; OH, NO, NOT THE FACULTY

These Are Real Relics of Past Ages and Are Imbedded in Paving Stones.

NEW YORK, April 30.—Columbia University has just learned officially for the first time that it is harboring many ancient fossils on its campus. Prof. Grabau, one of the youngest scientific members of the faculty, made the announcement.

He discovered the fossils in the paving stones on the campus.

Right in front of the library, he said, there is a large fosil of considerable value. It is the remains of a large Cephalopod nearly a foot long.

"The paving stone on this campus," he said, "is of the kind found in Southern Indiana, and belong to the Mississippi series, at some distance below the coal measures. The slabs which are used in the pavements contain many fossils that are now very rare, and in some cases it would be worth while to dig them out and put them in the Paleontological Museum. The stone is composed of minute shells, which would be of service to those studying the evolutionary side of geology."

ANNUAL CALL OF POLICE FOR HELP IS MADE

Patrolmen on Beats Are Selling Tickets for Relief Association Benefit.

RAISE LARGE AMOUNTS

$20,000 Realized Last Year, and There Are Now More Officers.

The public is being called upon by the St. Louis Police Department to make its annual contribution to the relief fund. All the policemen in the city are engaged in getting money from their friends for the benefit of the Police Relief Association.

The annual benefit entertainment of the association is to take place during the two weeks, beginning June 14, at Forest Park Highlands, and the policemen are selling tickets to everybody on their beats, particularly to everybody who is under any sort of obligation to them or would like to be.

Made $20,000 Last Year.

The policemen made $20,000 on the entertainment last year. With 1400 policemen to sell tickets now, against only 1200 last year, it is to be presumed that they will clear more this year.

The tickets are put out a month or two in advance of the entertainment. The Executive Committee of the association places from ten to twenty tickets in the hands of each policeman. He is expected to sell them. They are sold for $1 apiece. Each ticket is good for two persons. Reserved seats are 25 cents extra.

In past years, when grafting was rife in the department, it was easy for the policeman to dispose of his allotment. The saloon keepers and the keepers of improper resorts on his beat were glad to acquire the good will of the policeman at such a low price.

It is said that it was not unusual for people of this sort to buy 10 tickets apiece and hand them back to the policeman, who proceeded to sell them over and over, keeping the proceeds of the resales for himself.

Can Sell to Saloon Keepers.

While an attempt has been made latterly to separate the policemen from the saloon influence and grafting is presumed to have been largely stamped out, there is no restriction on the sale of the tickets.

The policeman is free to sell to saloon keepers as well as to other persons on his beat who may feel themselves indebted to him for favors shown or services rendered.

The energetic solicitors wait on their beats to catch probable ticket-purchasers.

For this year's entertainment the association has rented the theater at Forest Park Highlands for two weeks and hired the talent for that length of time. Last year the expense was $5000. This year it will be about the same.

Wife Silent; Slayer Freed.

FORT SMITH, Ark., April 30.—There being no witnesses to the tragedy except his wife, and the State not being able to command her testimony against her husband, Leon Schlenker has been released, after a preliminary hearing, on the charge of murdering J. L. Reinach, general agent of the Frisco Railroad here. The only persons examined were those who arrived on the scene after the shooting.

CHARITY WORKERS WHO WILL BE IN CHARGE OF PIG AT CARNIVAL

PRIZE PIG TO BE ON VIEW AT THE RED FEATHER INN

Chicagoan's Donation Will Be Cared For in Cabanne Until Day of the Carnival.

Mrs. Sam Keiffer and Mrs. Chris Garver are wondering just how they are going to make a prize pig fit into the interior or exterior decorations of the Red Feather Inn, planned as a concession for the Charity Carnival at Forest Park Highlands May 16.

Mrs. Keiffer and Mrs. Garver are much interested in the inn, and Mrs. Garver telegraphed to Luther Conover, a Chicago packer, for a donation. He wired back: "Prize pig on the way."

When Mrs. Garver got her breath she replied: "We will name it Luther II."

But that did not provide a home for "piggy," and Mrs. Garver and Mrs. Keiffer set their husbands to work to build a pen back of the Keiffer home in Cabanne.

BROKER CHARGED WITH FRAUD

William F. Little Is Arrested on a Federal Warrant.

William F. Little, a broker, of 5161 McPherson avenue, was arrested Wednesday afternoon on a Federal warrant charging him with using the mails in a scheme to defraud. The complainants are the Elgin Automatic Telephone Co. of Elgin, Tex., and the Eldorado Light and Power Co. of Eldorado, Kan.

Little says he undertook to sell bonds fo rthe companies, and that they paid him some money to advance the undertaking, and then failed to fulfill requirements necessary to proper marketing of the securities.

GOD TOLD HIM TO CHOKE GIRL, SAYS SLAYER

Bachman, Millionaire's Brother, Calmly Tells How He Slew May Smith.

"DEVILS DRIVEN OUT"

Man Who Saw Daughter Killed Now Believes Satan Was Guiding Spirit.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

EASTON, Pa., April 30.—"I killed the child. God directed my arm, and it was by God's direction that I acted. I choked her to death with my two hands. She was possessed of the devil and I bumped her head upon the floor to be sure she was dead, because God spoke to me through my brain. I cannot have any regret, because what I did was by divine command."

Robert Bachman, a member of a mysterious religious sect, which believes in a personal devil and the reincarnation of evil spirits in healthy physical organization, made this confession in the Northampton County Jail to a correspondent of the New York World in the presence of Philip Collins, the Warden of the best-kept and most perfectly equipped prison in the United States.

Jury Calls Him Guilty.

The prisoner talked from behind the grated door of his cell. He was not informed that the Coroner's jury had returned a verdict that May Irene Smith "came to her death by strangulation at the hands of Robert Bachman, in the presence of Henry Smith, the father, and Mabel Smith, the mother."

"I have nothing to excuse," said Bachman as he squinted his rat-like eyes. "This came through the fall of Adam. It is written that two or three shall be gathered together in Christ's name and that one of these shall be taken. I had nothing further to do than to obey my divine master. I strangled her. Then, to defeat the purpose of the devil which had taken possession of her, I sat on the body, and continued to sit there until God told me to get up. Smith, the father, had nothing whatever to do with the execution of the Lord's will. Neither had his wife. I alone strangled the girl. I am the incarnate God. I cannot sin. If I was commanded again I would obey without question."

"Was May Smith the only child you ever killed—was she the only sacrifice?" he was asked.

The beady eyes were half closed as Bachman rested his hands against the cell door.

No Other Sacrifice.

"Why do you ask that?" he queried. "What do you mean? I will tell you that there were no others—no other child, no other man or woman offered as a sacrifice to God. This one had to be a sacrifice to appease the wrath of God. I waited for some time after I had killed her, and then placed the body in the buggy and took it to the home of the Smiths, at Alliance, about six miles from Allentown.

"I understand the 'bundle' was brought back to Allentown. You ask the name of the sect to which I belong. It has no name. It has no more substance than God himself, and He is invisible and indivisible. He speaks through the brains of men. Those that have eyes shall see, those that have ears shall hear, and those that have hearts shall have understanding."

Bachman has been possessed of the peculiar religious mania for three months. He is a member of one of the oldest and most respected families in Eastern Pennsylvania. His brother, Dr. Irving A. Bachman, is a millionaire, and made a fortune out of the great quarries that produce the basis for Portland cement. He disposed of a great part of his holdings to the Vanderbilts of New York.

Dr. Bachman is in California. He wired to his brother Saturday offering him the superintendency of the Northampton Portland cement works, in which the Doctor still holds a controlling interest.

Wrecked His Home.

Robert Bachman paid no attention to this dispatch. His religious frenzy was then approaching the zenith, and he spent most of his time smashing furniture and pushing holes in the ceiling of his home, so that "confined evil spirits could be driven out."

Immediately after Bachman had made his confession the correspondent went to the other side of the jail corridor, to the cell in which the father of little May is confined.

"Are you the Judge?" he asked, as he put his hand through the aperture in the door, "because, if you are, you can send me to Morristown Insane Asylum immediately. The devil has got me sure. He has fooled me. Bachman killed my little girl, but I am satisfied now that he was fooled also. It was a terrible mistake. You see, instead of being directed by God, Bachman was directed by the devil, who got inside of his brain and pretended to be God. That is why he killed my child."

"Did you make no effort to save her?"

"Why, no," was the reply. "She complained, of course, but I supposed that was the devil. Bachman choked her, and the devil was quieted. That was what I thought then, but a great light has come to me. I can see that the devil fooled all of us. We thought we were listening to the voice of God, but we were heeding the voice of Satan."

Smith is 30 years old. The jailers had a practical test of his physical strength yesterday when he fell into a trance, as he afterward explained it, and began tearing the cell furniture apart, as a child would destroy a toy. Six keepers, all powerful men, tried to overpower him, but he wore them out, one by one. It took the united efforts of four, after a long rest, to subdue him, and then he became as limp as a rag.

VANDIVER SAYS FOLK'S STRENGTH IS INCREASING

Does Not Fear Effect of Large Majorities in the Cities.

Gov. Folk's campaign managers are predicting that he will carry 75 out of the 114 Missouri counties in the contest for United States Senator. According to the Folk estimate, Senator Stone is certain of only 20 counties and possibly not so many.

That Gov. Folk will receive twice as many votes as Senator Stone is the confident assertion of State Insurance Superintendent Vandiver, who led the Folk forces in the 1904 campaign.

"We feel much more certain of Gov. Folk's election to the Senate than we did a month ago," said Mr. Vandiver to a Post-Dispatch reporter at the Southern Hotel Thursday. "Then it was reported that the Governor had lost many friends throughout the State because of political appointments and his refusal to make concessions to the liquor interests.

"Liquor Crowd" Not Wanted.

"The disgruntled office seekers are few, and as to the liquor crowd, the Folk organization never received and doesn't now want its support.

"The enemy's stronghold was invaded when Gov. Folk started his campaign at St. Joseph. We were told that there had been defection from Folk in Buchanan County.

"To our surprise the St. Joseph meeting was more successful than the one held four years ago, when Mr. Folk launched his campaign for Governor. At Chillicothe, Rolla, Lebanon, Galena and Aurora the Governor was greeted by immense audiences, far larger, in fact, than he had in 1904.

"Instead of being weaker, Gov. Folk is much stronger with the people today than he has been at any time since he became a factor in Missouri politics."

"What effect would decisive majorities in the cities have against Gov. Folk's candidacy?" Mr. Vandiver was asked.

Doesn't Fear City Majorities.

"If St. Louis, Kansas City and St. Joseph cast up large pluralities for Senator Stone I hardly think it would seriously affect the Governor's chances.

"But the Governor's friends are not conceding St. Louis or any other city to the opposition. We don't know of any reason why Gov. Folk should not carry St. Louis, unless it is that lawless saloon interests are commanding the votes of this city."

Concerning the attitude of the Jefferson Club orgaaization under the leadership of Harry B. Hawes, Mr. Vandiver said:

"Mr. Hawes tried to beat Folk four years ago, but failed. Is there any reason why he will be any more successful next November than he was at that time?

Talk of Deserting Stone.

"There is some talk, I understand, among the Hawes men and others who are fighting Gov. Folk most bitterly that if another candidate besides Folk were brought out they would not stick to Senator Stone.

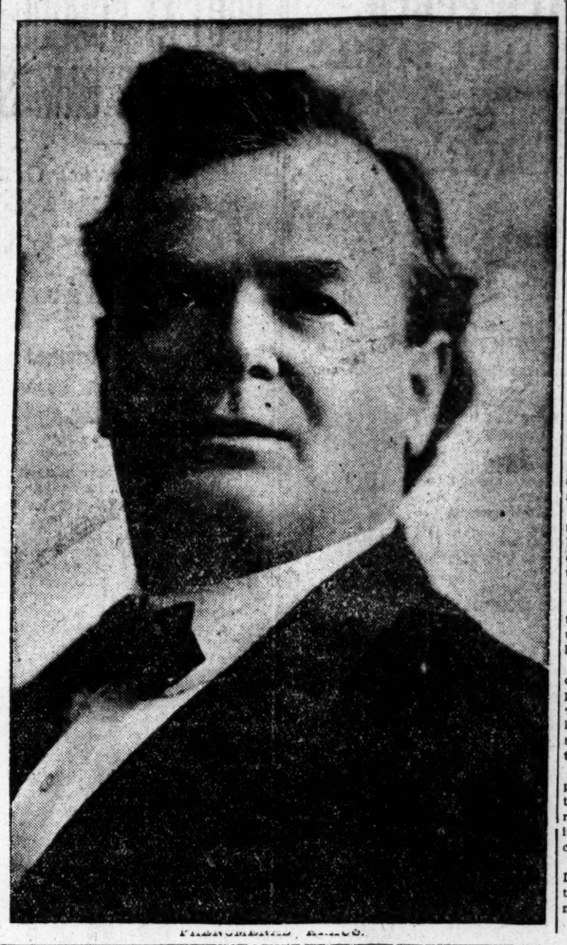

"That is the same old harangue we heard from them before. I was importuned to desert Gov. Folk four years ago by the same specious argument, but it didn't work.

"The fellows who are working for Stone may be for him because they dislike Gov. Folk, but they are with him, nevertheless, and they will do anything to bring about his election.

"The issue is a square one, whether the old gang or the present reform administration shall be vindicated at the polls."

Gov. Folk will make speeches at Monett and Aurora Thursday, Neosho Friday and Joplin, Lamar and Nevada Saturday.

'PHENOMENAL" KRAUS ARRESTED ON CHARGES BY POSTAL AUTHORITIES

BASEBALL, MORE THAN HIS ARREST WORRIED KRAUS

"Phenomenal" Says Browns' Defeat Was Worse Blow of the Two.

Max J. (Phenomenal) Kraus said to a Post-Dispatch reporter Thursday that the defeat of the Browns baseball team in Wednesday's game worried him more than his arrest on a charge of using the mails to defraud.

Kraus was taken into custody Wednesday night on a warrant issued by United States Commissioner Chase Morsey, at the request of Assistant District Attorney Daues. Two of Kraus' assistants, Dr. A. W. Faulbaum of 324 High street and Dr. L. Howard of 213 North Sarah street were also arrested.

Information on which the arrests were made was furnished by the Medical-Legal Committee of the St. Louis Medical Society, acting in conjunction with the Postoffice Inspector.

Used Decoy Letters.

Decoy letters were a part of the plan to obtain evidence that the mails were used in promising to cure diseases believed by physicians to be incurable.

The warrant is based directly on the case of F. M. Hubbard, who told the postal authorities that after the Kraus specialists wrote letters offering to cure him he went to other physicians who told him that he did not have consumption.

Kraus said Thursday that he has been persecuted by the Medical Society and that he has letters from more than 300 registered physicians in St. Louis asking him to send them such cases as he could not handle.

Dr. C. E. Burford, secretary of the St. Louis Medical Society, said that the initiative in the investigation of Kraus' methods was taken by the society.

Not Registered Physician.

"I find it hard to believe that he has the letters from physicians which he threatens to show," said Dr. Burford. "The medical profession in St. Louis has always had a well-defined opinion as to his standing."

Kraus said:

"I am not a registered physician, and I have never claimed to be, but I have five registered St. Louis physicians employed at my institute.

"As to the case of F. M. Hubbard of East St. Louis, on which my arrest was based, my records show that Hubbard came to my office and told Dr. Faulbaum he had consumption, and that Dr. Faulbaum, after examining Hubbard, decided that he had catarrh of the system, and treated him for that disease. There was no deception about it.

"We have 10,000 patients now, and not one of them is under treatment for consumption. We frankly tell all who come to us that we do not undertake to treat cases of incurable tuberculosis.

Must Come to Offices.

"In an effort to work up a case against me, the Medical Society sent cappers to my home to induce me to go to the residences of consumptives and treat them. My answer invariably was that we did not treat any patient who was not able to come to our offices.

"I came to St. Louis from Cincinnati eight months ago, and took a lease of eight years on the offices which I now occupy. I was the first person to bring the blue ray and the Jackson coil to St. Louis and put them within the reach of those who were unable to pay exorbitant prices to specialists. My apparatus represents the investment of thousands of dollars, and my offices are always open to public inspectors."

BREAKS RIVAL'S NOSE, BUT CAN'T MAKE HIT WITH GIRL

Louis Deiger Merely Gets Himself Arrested by Attacking John Beneze.

Louis Deiger of Alton, believing that John M. Beneze had caused Miss Nellie Forrester to refuse his attentions, called Beneze out of the glass factory where he was at work and beat him. Beneze's nose was broken and his eyes were bruised.

Deiger, when arrested, said Beneze had told Miss Forrester untruths about him and caused her to refuse to see him. Beneze denied this. He says Miss Forrester and Mrs. Beneze are close friends, and that this probably led Deiger to the wrong conclusion.

Deiger didn't gain anything. Miss Forrester said Thursday she would have naught to do with him. Her parents object to his attentions, she says.

CENTRALIZATION PUBLIC MENACE, SAYS JOHNSON

Minnesota Governor Traces Its Evils in Government and Business.

OLIGARCHY RULES NOW

"World Power" Advocates Lose Sight of Constitution, He Declares.

DETROIT, Mich., April 30.—"Two evils menace America today," said Gov. John A. Johnson of Minnesota, in a lecture on "The Majesty of the Law," before the Alumni Association of the Western High School. "They are the centralization of power in the Federal Government and the centralization of business power in the hands of a few men.

"Executives are too frequently governed by expediency," he said. "Expediency is always fraught with danger. The political organization which disregards expediency and sticks to a principle is the one which accomplishes results.

"America has become a great world power. Her progress has been phenomenal. It has brought a system of centralization of power. Instead of a government by the people and for the people, it seems to be becoming a government by people and for people who have been enfranchised by the people to do a quasi-public business.

Few Try to Control.

"Some things have happened in the last few years which seem to indicate that a few men are trying to control everything. We have now in this country an oligarchy as great as was the oligarchy of Rome. It is the oligarchy of business.

"The men who are responsible are making a mistake, and I think they will be called to account soon.

"There is a demand by certain people that there be more centralization of government in Washington, in order that we may become a great world power.

Constitution Lives.

"The fathers came to this country to create for themselves and their posterity a new government. They gathered from the various states in the Continental Congress and adopted the Declaration of Independence. Now, 132 years afterwards, we are told that the Declaration of Independence has no particular force or effect and the Constitution is a flexible document, also that we may become a great world power.

"I cannot make myself believe that they have ceased being living, breathing forces."

BRYAN WILL HAVE FIGHT IN DENVER, SAYS JOHNSON MAN

By Wire From the Washington Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Frederick B. Lynch, manager of Gov. Johnson's campaign, is in Washington talking to Southern congressmen and considering the question of opening headquarters. His headquarters now is in Chicago.

"All the New England states, New York and Pennsylvania and all of the coast and gulf states, with the exception of Texas, Mississippi and Alabama, will send uninstructed delegations to Denver, and so will Michigan, Ohio and most of the west coast states," said Mr. Lynch this morning.

"I do not believe Bryan will have half of the delegates instructed for him and I am sure that the majority of the uninstructed delegates will be for Gov. Johnson. Gov. Johnson is the second choice of Illinois and North Dakota and part of Indiana and Kansas. I believe Kansas would not indorse Bryan were the convention to be held tomorrow. Sentiment there has changed decidedly. We have been informed that 45 of the 54 Illinois delegates favor Johnson.

"There will be between 400 and 500 votes against Bryan on the first ballot," said Mr. Lynch, "and Johnson will get most of them.

"We are conducting from the Johnson headquarters in Chicago a campaign of publicity and we have received many assurances of support from unexpected sources," he said.

Gov. Johnson will be in Washington May 20 for the governors' conference, and while he is East he will speak in Richmond and at Tuscaloosa, Ala.

KANSAS CROP OF BEN DAVIS APPLES WILL BE AN ALMOST TOTAL FAILURE THIS YEAR

Buds Have Not Matured and Trees Will Bear Very Little if Any Fruit, Expert Declares.

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., April 30.—The 1908 Kansas crop of the Ben Davis, Gano and Mammoth Twig apples will be an almost complete failure, according to Francis Goble, the "apple king." Goble has an immense orchard of 880 acres near Wallula, Kan., and he is a recognized authority on horticulture.

"The Jonathans, Grimes Golden, Winesap and other varieties will bear in great profusion, unless something unexpected happens," Goble says. "For some reason, however, the Ben Davis, Gano and Mammoth Twig varieties have failed to mature their buds and they will bear little fruit, possibly none. These varieties comprise about 60 per cent of the crop in this vicinity and they are the best commercial apples that we have.

"The loss will mean considerable to the shippers, but to the domestic trade it will not amount to so much, because the varieties that will bear this year happen to be the great home favorites. The Ben Davis is an especially good storage apple and nearly all raised in this part of the country are shipped East.

"I do not think the peach crop has suffered thus far. In fact, I believe we will have a big harvest."

Brothers Bitter in Love Rivalry.

FLORENCE, Neb., April 30.—Hans and John Jergensen, joint farmers for years on a 160-acre tract near Briggs Station, have just divided their land cattle and other possessions equally and parted company because of their love for Mrs. Bertha Hennings, who was for several years their housekeeper. The woman has fled to the home of a rich farmer in the neighborhood.

POLICE CHIEF SEES PRISONERS ESCAPING IN DREAM, STOPS THEM

Hurrying to the Jail He Found Men Sawing the Bars of the Cell.

BRISTOL, Tenn., April 30.—A dream that came true has prevented the escape of five State prisoners confined in the City Jail.

Chief of Police Samuel D. Keller of Bristol, Va., had the dream. Most realistically, he says, did he see prisoners cutting their way to liberty with a steel saw. He was so much impressed with the vision that he arose, dressed and hastened to the Jail.

As he entered the prison he heard the noise of a saw. On investigation he found the men were cutting the hinges of the door leading from the main corridor. He had arrived just in time to prevent the escape of five prisoners.

Keller confined the men in a steel cage until daylight, keeping watch over them himself, and then sent them to work with the chain gang on the county roads.

Boy Gunner Makes Record.

HANDLEY, Tex., April 30.—E. D. Starks of this city has been advised by his 19-year-old son, William, that the latter, a gunner on the battleship Illinois, has established a world's record for markmanship with a 13-inch gun. The shots were fired at a target at a 1600-yard range and 11 hits were made in 11 trials during a period of 2 minutes and 46 seconds.

Nervous women should profit by Mrs. Barton's experience with Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound.

Mrs. Helen Barton, of 27 Pearson Street, Chicago, Ill., writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"I was all run down, and on the verge of nervous prostration from overwork and worry, and ill in bed, when I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. After I had taken it a week I commenced to get better. I continued its use, my nervous trouble disappeared, and I am completely restored to health. I hope Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will benefit other women as it has me."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with headaches, hot flashes, fibroid tumors, backache, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it?

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

PARENTS WILL ROOT AT SCHOOL LEAGUE GAMES

Fathers Enthusiastic Over Achievements of Pupils on the Diamond.

CARDS MUST BE SHOWN

This Precaution Required to Prevent "Ringers" From Being Played.

The third series of games in the Post-Dispatch Public School Baseball League will be played Saturday morning and afternoon. Thirty-six games have been scheduled, and more than 400 young players will turn out for the games which will be played all over the city.

The announcement that the Fathers' Club of the Washington School had taken the school team in hand and was financing its expenses for bats, balls and uniforms has aroused much interest among the parents whose children are attending other schools in the league. The parents of the Clark School players have started a fund to purchase uniforms for the team.

Reception Planned.

At the Ashland School the admirers of the diamond warriors have announced that they will give them a reception at the conclusion of the subleague season. The Ashland School team is one of the strongest in the league, and expects to win the North End subleague pennant, as it did last year.

Several of the registered umpires of the league have reported to the Post-Dispatch manager that different teams have not brought their membership cards to the grounds. This is required, because under no circumstances will any "ringers" be allowed in the games, and the exhibition of the cards is the only way in which the umpire can be convinced that the team is made up of the boys of the school it represents.

NEGRO PLEADS OWN CASE AND IS FREED

He Had Been Accused of Burglarizing Home of a Lone Woman.

FT. WORTH, Tex., April 30.—Fighting his own case before a jury in the Seventeenth District Court Ben Spender a negro, charged with burglarizing the home of Mrs. Carrie Rogers of Arlington, on the night of Feb. 27, was declared not guilty and given his freedom.

County Attorney Roy, after reading the indictment to the jury, turned to Spencer and asked him him if he was represented by counsel.

"I'se my own lawyer," replied the negro, and a good lawyer he proved to be, interrogating each witness closely and at the conclusion of the examination of the witnesses, making a good plea to the jury. His acquital was due largely to the testimony of witnesses regarding his good character and sturdy habits.

LITTLE GIRL RESCUES HER TWIN BROTHER FROM DROWNING

Boy Falls Into Deep Hole During Flood at Fort Worth.

FORT WORTH, Tex., April 30.—Pretty little Jennie Thompson of 404 Royal avenue, who at the risk of her own life rescued her twin brother, Stephen, from a deep water-filled hole on Royal avenue, near Valley street, into which he had fallen, is the heroine of the first spring flock. So little did the child think of her act that she did not even tell her parents.

The children, 7 years old, were playing at the foot of Royal avenue, wading in the flood water where it spread over the ground to a depth of about one foot Suddenly the boy stepped into a hole and sank. Without hesitation, his sister rushed to his assistance and by standing on the edge of the hole and holding out her hand to the boy when he rose to the surface, save his life.

Investors in $2 "Bargain" Complain to Government.

MONESSEN, Pa., April 30.—In response to a newspaper advertisement to the effect that if $2 were forwarded to a firm in Morgantown, W. Va., there would be sent in return 10 yards of silks, a large number of persons in this vicinity availed themselves of what looked like a bargain.

Recently a majority of the customers received 10 yards of silk thread each. The United States authorities are making an investigation.

CAN'T ESCAPE ALIMONY BY A BABY ACT PLEA

Ohio Judge Holds License Makes Wedding of Minors Legal.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., April 30.—According to a decision of Common Pleas Judge Disney Rogers in the divorce case of Flavell vs. Flavell, it is not necessary for a couple to be of age to marry, provided they have secured a marriage license. The court held that consent of the parents is not essential in such cases, either.

Mrs. Bertha M. Flavell was suing her husband, William, for alimony. Her husband had filed a cross-petition for divorce, claiming he was not of age when married and had not secured the consent of his parents. The court dismissed the husband's petition and granted the wife $300 alimony.

The decision is interesting to young couples who have married here from over the State line. Many have given their ages above the true number of years they have lived in order to secure the coveted license.

Judge Roger's decision means that where a license is secured and the girl is over 16 and youth 18, the marriage is legal, even if papa and mamma are not consulted.

Girls in Ohio are of age at 18, but if they marry between 16 and 18 they will be lawful wives under the ruling just made.

The court held that the statute was less for the contracting parties than for the ministers and court officials, who must respect the age limit prescribed by statute.

Use of Perfumes Is Spreading.

From the New York Press.

Doctor's recommendations have contributed to the popularity of certain scents. The use of scent is becoming really widespread, asserts a dealer in perfumes. "The doctors have pronounced in its favor," this man says, "and have recommended those of their patients who are particularly prone to catching such complaints as influenza to use scent copiously, principally by means of the spray. The odor that is most in demand is appropriately that of wood violets, springlike and refreshing."

Factors of Safety

The human body is a wonderful machine, provided with muscular, nervous and mental energy far in excess of normal needs. In health, the organs and tissues can do double their usual amount of work without strain or friction, because they have stored energy to meet the extra demand.

When you feel "all tuckered out," these factors of safety are nearly exhausted and you need to resort to to renew the supply of energy, wherever it may be called for.

Indigestion, bilious attacks, constipation, loss of sleep, nervousness, dizzy spells, are warnings that the factor of safety in the stomach, liver, bowels or brain, is low, or nearing the danger point and needs to be replenished.

Beecham's Pills increase the supply of blood, strengthen the stomach, operate the bowels, feed the nerve cells, build tissue, and create a reserve supply of energy, which is the only natural and effective way to

La Grippe

Is a nerve-wrecking disease. It affects the whole nervous system. When the heart, lungs or stomach is weak, it is sure to leave it in a bad condition. These after-effects are really more serious than the disease. Dr. Miles' Nervine should always be taken to strengthen and build up the nervous system.

"I had a long spell of the grip which weakened my stomach and brought on extreme nervousness. I was miserable for months. I bought a bottle of Dr. Miles' Nervine and a box of the Nerve and Liver Pills and I hadn't taken one bottle before I began to feel better. My stomach grew stronger and my bowels finally got back to their normal condition."

BRYAN WOULD PUT SCHLEY AT HEAD OF NAVY

Proposes to Make Santiago Hero Secretary if He Is Elected.

BUREAU NOW SUPREME

Retired Rear Admiral Has Made Many Suggestions in the Past.

By Wire From the Washington Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Rear Admiral Winfield Scott Schley, retired, will be offered the Secretaryship of the Navy in case William J. Bryan is elected President.

The Navy Department has for many years been run by the Bureau of Navigation, and the Secretary has not been much more than chief clerk to register the decrees of that bureau. Bryan intends, in case he becomes President, to make a clean sweep of the bureaucratic ring. He does not believe it possible to do that without a practical naval officer at the head of the department.

When Schley was a desk officer in Washington, he proposed a number of changes which, although they were not acted upon, indicated that in a position of responsibility he could completely reform the bureaucratic system. To Bryan's mind there is no one who combines the necessary qualifications of being a naval officer and of having reform ideas so completely as does Schley.

Like Schofield Case.

The nearest parallel to Bryan's proposed action was in President Johnson's administration, Gen. Schofield was appointed Secretary of War. Gen. Gates acted in practically the same capacity during the revolution, but at that time we had no President and no Cabinet. Gates was "Secretary of the Board of War."

The proopsed promotion of Schley will undoubtedly help Bryan in Maryland.

There is no truth in the report that Senator Richard F. Pettigrew, formerly of South Dakota, and now of New York, will be made Secretary of the Treasury in case of Bryan's election. It is quite likely, however, that Bryan will designate Pettigrew as chairman of the National Committee in case of his nomination.

COLLEGE TEACHER AND GREEK YOUTH WHO HELPS HIM TEACH

THOMAS KALENDS

DAVID G. RAY

BOOTBLACK AIDS PROFESSOR IN TEACHING GREEK

Shurtleff College Classes Learn New Pronunciation From a Native.

Thomas Kalends, an 18-year-old bootblack in a barber shop on Piasa street, Alton, and graduate of the High School of Athens, Greece, is teaching Greek in Shurtleff College, assisting Prof. D. G. Ray.

Kalends came to America, he says, to learn the English language and to get in a business which would give him opportunities for conversation, started shining shoes in the barber shop.

Prof. Ray, one of his customers, finding him versed in Greek mythology and literature, took an interest in him. He invited him to the school and permitted him to listen to the pronounciation of the Greek classes.

Pronunciation Wrong.

Kalends at at once declared that the Greek had been pronounced wrong. Prof. Ray questioned him, and found by inquiry that many institutions give the modern Greek pronunciation to the ancient Greek and, on that point, Kalends was right. The class had been pronouncing the Greek according to the ancient method, while Kalends' pronunciation was modern. He decided to accept Kalend's pronunciation, at least for a time, as an experiment.

Kalends was invited to take charge of the class and give them his pronunciation. He did so willingly.

His Changes in Rules.

"Alpha (a)," he taught, "is pronounced as 'v,' delta (d) is pronounced as 'th' in 'the,' and the diphthongs 'ei' and 'oi,' which you have been pronouncing 'a' long and 'oi' are both 'e' long. 'Au,' a diphthong, is pronounced 'av' or 'af' instead of 'ow' as in how, and 'eu' is pronounced 'ev' or 'ef,' instead of 'oi.' The letters omicron, short o, and omega, long o, are pronounced the same. For instance the word 'loimos,' which means a lack of food, and the word 'limos,' which means sickness, you pronounce loi-mos and lee-mos when both should be lee-mos."

Prof. Ray permitted the young man to drill his class in Homer's Iliad and Xenophon's Anabasis in pronunciation. The beginning of Xenophon's Anabasis, which treats of the march across Asia after the Persian war, is "Dariou kai Parysatidos gignontai paides duo; presbuteros men Artaxerxes, neoteros de Kuros," which means: "Two sons are born to Darius and Parysatis, the older Artaxerxes and the younger Cyrus." Some of the distinctive words in this which Kalends' pronunciation changes entire are "kai," "gignontai," "paides" and "Neatoros."

To Teach Accents.

Prof. Ray stated Monday that he is engaging the services of the Greek youth more for the purpose of perfecting the Greek class in accentuation of the ancient Greek than for grammar and syntax, in which the class has been thoroughly drilled. He has not decided to adopt the modern method other than temporarily, but will consider the matter before the opening of school next fall.

Kalends is a very bright youth. He spends his spare time in reading and studying, preferring the classic authors Homer, Sophocles, Euripides, Demosthenes and Aristophanes. He is a good reader of English also. According to the present arrangement he will take chage of the classes every Tuesday and Thursday.

ANARCHISTS HOLD CHILD FOR RANSOM

Woman Aids in Kidnaping Son of Prominent Bank Director.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 30.—Aided by a woman, who lured the son of a prominent bank director named Magner from his home, Odessa anarchists have kidnaped the boy and collected $515 ransom from his father. The woman called at the Magner home and informed the boy that one of his friends in the State grammar school was lying seriously injured in a stranger's house and wished to see him. The youth repaired to the house and was seized by the bandits.

At the point of revolvers the boy was forced to write to his father for $515 ransom and to state that if the money was refused the son would be killed. The following morning the banker sent $515 to the place indicated and induced the terrorists to accept that sum. A few hours later the boy was released. No arrests have been made.

DOCTOR DIES OF HEART DISEASE AS HE TREATS PATIENT IN HIS OFFICE

Dr. McKinley Had Practiced Medicine in Kentucky Community for Thirty Years.

WINCHESTER, Ky., April 30.—Dr. I. H. McKinley died suddenly of heart trouble while treating a patient in his office on Main street here.

Dr. McKinley was one of the best known citizens of this county, where he had been actively engaged in the practice of his profession for the last 30 years. He was a native of Spencer County, but came here after graduating in medicine and for several years practiced here in partnership with Dr. Hubbard Taylor.

He is survived by his widow, who was the youngest daughter of Maj. John Taliaferro of this city, and by two daughters and one son. The son, Dr. David McKinley, is now at one of the medical colleges in Louisville.

Dr. McKinley was an elder in the Presbyterian Church and was also a prominent Odd Fellow.

CLOVERPORT, Ky., April 30.—His clothing becoming ignited from a spark from a gun he had fired, Christopher De Jarnett, one of the most prominent farmers of Breckenridge County, was burned to death in his barnyard before assistance reached him.

Child Drinks Whisky; Dies.

ROCKPORT, Ky., April 30.—Willie Boyle, aged 5 years, stole a whisky bottle out of the cupboard of his home, drank a large part of its contents and died a few hours later. The boy had been given whisky for a cold by his parents and watched his mother when she put the liquor away.

War Begun on Whisky Boats.

HELENA, Ark., April 30.—Charges that whisky boats are peddling liquor out of this city on Sunday are to be investigated by a special committee named by the Civic and Moral League of Helena. That such traffic exists and that immediate action should be taken to suppress it, was the concensus of opinion of the league members.

Suit Follows Night Raid.

PADUCAH, Ky., April 30.—The suit of Mary and Robert Hollowell to collect $100,000 damages from 28 defendants, alleged Night Riders, whom they charge shot and whipped them and drove them from Caldwell County, is on trial here in the Federal Court. The plaintiffs charge they were attacked because Night Riders did not want them to testify in cases in the Caldwell County courts.

We prize "a good name" fully as much as "great riches," partly because of personal pride and partly because the "riches" follow the "good name" as surely as night succeeds day. Then we have the added satisfaction which proceeds from the respect and admiration of our clientele. A taste of our service and a touch of our clothes explain fully our right to the use of the term superiority.

ONE DELEGATE, ONLY 1, PASSES UP BALL PASSES

Dwight Davis the City Legislator Who Refuses Gratuities.

FREE RIDES ON CARS

United Railways Immune From Annual Investigation of License Fees.

With the advent of baseball, circuses, summer theaters and other public entertainments to which admission is usually charged, the House of Delegates finds it necessary to investigate the license fees paid by such enterprises.

Delegate Gevers, with Tobin and Tirre as his associates, will begin the inquiry and summon the managers of the several amusements to appear and show cause why they should not be subjected to heavier taxes.

The names of the officers of the baseball clubs can be obtained from the free passes which the members of the House of Delegates, with the exception of Dwight Davis, have received for the current season. Like information may be had from the tickets which they received from Ringling's circus, but as that is a transient amusement little advantage will accrue to the city this year. Besides, most of the delegates hope that they will be given further favors before the circus pulls stakes and departs.

United Railways Exempt.

The resolution which Mr. Gevers caused to be adopted does not name the United Railways Co. as a subject of "investigation." Most of the delegates ride on the street cars without cost, using passes distributed by the management.

Manager Hedges of the Browns refused to say Thursday how many passes he distributes among the Delegates.

Stanley Robison, owner of the Cardinals, is out of the city.

It is likely that the summer gardens will bear the brunt of the legislative inquiry. They have not yet provided for the free admittance of the lawmakers. Their owners and managers, therefore, are expected to present strong argument for a continuance of the schedules of tax now operative.

Both the American League and the National baseball clubs have supplied the Delegates with books of passes to the games. The same courtesy has been shown to members of the Council. Thus far Delegate Davis is the only member of the Assembly on record as refusing to accept the gratuities.

$500 a Week for Circus.

Delegate Connell of the minority was the author of a similar resolution a year ago. The committee appointed conferred with the managers of local theaters, but no change in the cost of licenses was made. The licenses for circuses, however, were raised to $500 a week.

It is a venerable custom in the House of Delegates to undertake yearly a readjustment of licenses. It is customary, also, to make no readjustment.

TESTIMONY ABOUT CONDUCT WITH WOMAN OUSTS PASTOR

Iowa Congregationalist Dropped by Conference—Teacher Released From Hospital.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

DES MOINES, Io., April 30.—The Rev. J. H. Dimmitt, pastor of the Congregational Church at Valley Junction, has been dismissed from membership of the Grinnell Association of Congregational Churches and Ministers on the charge of conduct unbecoming a minister, with Miss Nellie A. Luther, principal of the Valley Junction schools. She recently was released from Mercy Hospital in this city and is now at her home in Adel.

CONGRESSMAN PAYS $2500 TO HORSEMAN HE WOUNDED

Compromise Effected With Sufferer From Bullet Fired at Negro.

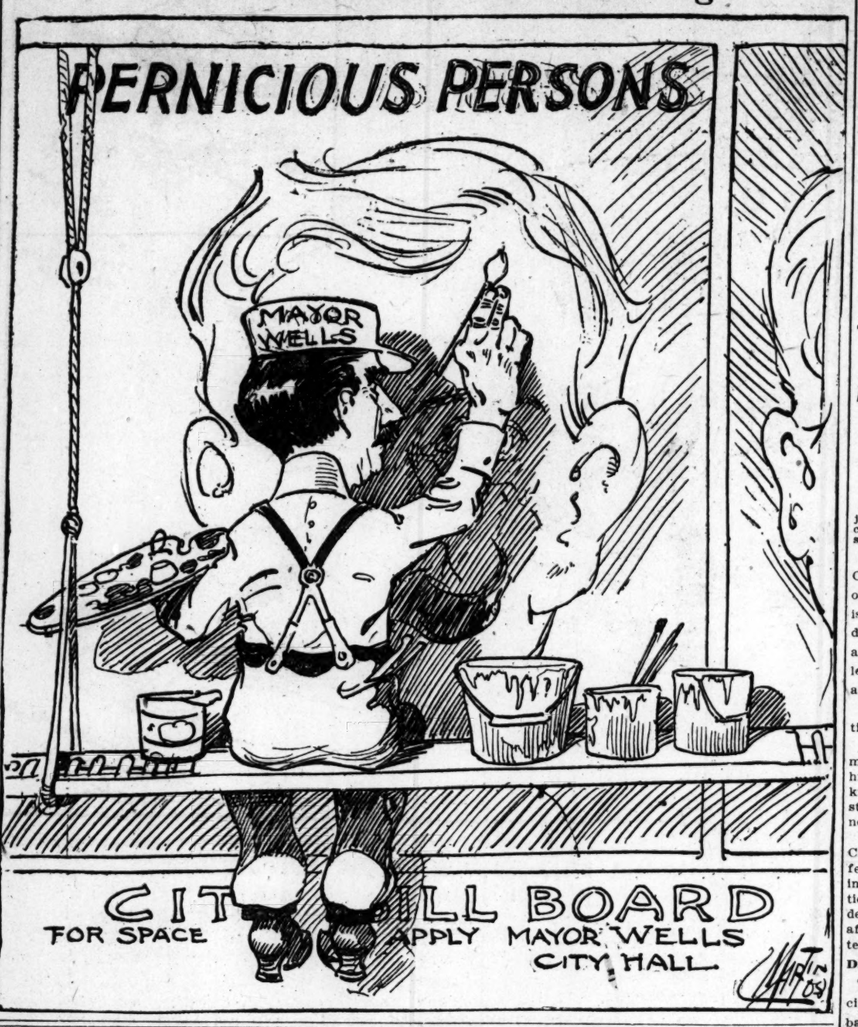

WASHINGTON, April 30.—By payment of a sum of money, declared to be $2500, and all medical and hospital expenses, Representative Heflin of Alabama has settled with Thomas McCreary, the New York horseman, whom he accidentally wounded while engaged in a shooting affray with a negro on a Washington street car nearly a month ago.

For weeks McCreary was near death from tetanus and Heflin's brother, a physician, went to Washington to treat him. McCreary's personal counsel declared today that he never contemplated criminal or civil action, and that Heflin made a voluntary settlement.

Authoress Sued for Divorce

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., April 25.—William Cooke has sued Grace McGowan Cooke, an authoress, for divorce, alleging desertion. Cooke charges that his wife prefers a literary to a domestic life. She is the daughter of a former editor-in-chief of the Chattanooga Times.

COMPTON AVENUE GRADE CROSSING WILL DISAPPEAR

Passageway With 14 Feet Clearance Under Tracks There Is Planned.

Pedestrians and vehicles will have a passageway with 14 feet clearance under the railroad tracks at Compton avenue, between Chouteau and Clark avenues, when the plans approved by the Municipal Terminal Commission and the railroads are carried out.

As announced in Wednesday's Post-Dispatch, an ordinance will soon be introduced in the Municipal Assembly authorizing the interested railroads to elevate their tracks at that point.

Albert T. Perkins, the Municipal Terminal Commission's expert, discussing the proposed ordinance, said:

"The tracks at Compton avenue now are several feet higher than the grade of the street. It will be necessary to elevate them only about five and one-half feet higher than they now are. This, with a slight depression of the street, will give the 14 feet clearance.

Elevated Six Blocks.

"To elevate the tracks to this height will require a change in grade for only a short distance. No change will be necessary in the tracks east of Ewing avenue, or west of Theresa avenue. With the elevated tracks at Compton, the rails will come to the present grade again at those two streets.

"No plans have been agreed upon yet for Ewing or Theresa avenues. Compton is the most important crossing at present, I think. There is little traffic at Ewing avenue, as there are about thirty tracks to cross there.

"The railroads interested have agreed to the plans, and the work will be begun so soon as the necessary ordinance has been passed. When this passageway is built, it will be a great convenience to the persons who are now compelled to use the Ewing, Compton or Theresa surface crossings."

TRACY SCOLDS DETECTIVES WHEN 73 NEGROES ARE FREED

Judge Says He Will Have Rubber Stamp Made for Use Following Levee Raids.

The cells at the City Hall Police Court were filled to overflowing with 73 negroes and negresses, arrested in two raids at Will Lee's place, on the Levee, and charged with gambling. It was the fifth raid in two weeks by Detectives Wells, White and Ward and Sergt. McMullen.

When the detectives appeared and asked Judge Tracy to release all the negroes, as they had no evidence against them, he reproved the Police Department for burdening the Court with cases which they could not prosecute.

"I'm going to have a rubber stamp made," he said, "with the words 'Dismissed for Want of Prosecution' on it, just for these Levee raids."

A. B. LAMBERT UP ALL NIGHT IN A BALLOON

Post Card to Secretary Kearney Tells of His Adventure in France.

John W. Kearney, secretary of the Aero Club of St. Louis, has received a postcard from Councilman Albert Bond Lambert, who is in Paris, qualifying as an aerial pilot, stating that he spent the night of April 18 in a balloon and traveled 225 miles. The card, dated at Nevers, France, read:

"Arrived this a. m., after spending night in a balloon. Traveled 225 miles. Fine."

Mr. Lambert, who has made a number of ascensions, is now on his way home. According to Secretary Kearney, he has made sufficient ascensions to entitle him to a license to run a balloon.

Nevers is in Central France, 225 miles southeast of Paris. If the balloon took a straight course, it followed the Seine for the first 25 miles of its journey. Balloonists say that on a good night the sensation of riding above water is delightful.

If the balloon held to a straight course, it had no other river to cross. But it veered to the west; it crossed the River Loire. Nevers is near the banks of the Loire, where it makes a sudden detour to the east before turning south again.

REFEREE REPORTS "JOKE" WEDDING WAS ILLEGAL

If Finding Is Confirmed, Girl Can Wed Man She Eloped With.

NEW YORK, April 30.—A motion to confirm the report of Referee Daniel F. Cohalan in the action to annul the marriage of Helen Maloney, daughter of Martin Maloney of Philadelphia, to Arthur H. Osborne of this city, was made in the Supreme Court today by Mr. Maloney's counsel. Referee Cohalan decided that the marriage between Miss Maloney and Osborne was not legal. In case Justice McCall confirms the report Miss Maloney will be free to marry Samuel Clarkson, the young Englishman with whom she eloped and went to London last September.

Miss Maloney is a Roman Catholic and her marriage to Clarkson would not be countenanced by the church if the ceremony with Osborne were binding. In the case of an annulment it is possible that her marriage to Clarkson will be sanctioned by the church.

The young woman contended that the Osborne marriage was a joke. Osborne insisted that he meant it.

GIRLS GLAD ON FINDING FRIEND IS NEW MOTHER

Daughters Delighted When Henry B. Graham Announces Second Marriage.

The two little daughters of Henry B. Graham, president of the Graham Paper Co., were much surprised to learn that their father had been married several days, and they were a great deal more delighted than anyone else. This was because they found that the very pretty young woman in the Buckingham Hotel, with whom they had become very friendly, was their new mother.

Mr. Graham, whose first wife died two years ago, was married April 10 to Miss Zulah Rooker of Kansas City, at Liberty, Mo. Only Dr. John C. Morfit, who accompanied Mr. Graham to Liberty, Mrs. Olivia Rooker, the mother of the bride, and the Dev. Dr. John P. Greene, president of William Jewel College, who performed the ceremony, knew of the marriage.

Kept Wedding Secret.

Mr. Graham returned to St. Louis and Mrs. Graham went to her home in Kansas City after the wedding, because the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Octavia Graham, was ill at the Graham home, 5831 Cabanne avenue.

Last week Mr. Graham moved to the Buckingham Hotel with his two daughters, one 5 and the other 9 years old. His wife came to St. Louis and registered under her maiden name. No one in the hotel knew that the two were married.

Mr. Graham introduced the two children to his wife and they became fond of her immediately.

Soon Announces Marriage.

After his wife had been at the hotel two days, Graham announced the marriage. The joy of the two children in finding that their new friend was their mother was expressed in whoops of delight.

Graham has been ill since his marriage. He and his family are living at the Cabanne home. Two days before he was married the sister of his first wife, Miss Maud Taylor, was married in St. Louis to Augustus Taylor of Coronado Beach, Cal.

In the early hours of the day on which Miss Taylor was married a burglar entered the Graham home, intent on getting away with some of the wedding presents. He was a timid sort of burglar, and when a nurse screamed on seeing him, he fell down the stairs.

The household was awakened, but in spite of the excitement, Miss Taylor was married on schedule time, 11 a. m., and she and her husband left the same day for the West.

PERNICIOUS MEN, BEWARE, MAYOR IS AFTER YOU

Mr. Wells Tells Banqueters of Undesirable Civic Bodies, Unnamed.

THEY TALK TOO MUCH

Member Is Certain He Did Not Mean West End Business Association.

PERNICIOUS: Having the quality of injuring or killing; destructive; very mischievous; baleful; malicious; wicked.—Webster's International.

Mayor Wells' speech at the Traffic Club dinner Wednesday evening not only created a new phrase, which promises to become as famous as his "Please don't disturb my equanimity," when asked if he intended to urge free bridge legislation, but has created a mystery as well.

Which are the "pernicious organizations?"

Mayor Wells will not say. Men familiar with St. Louis' affairs who heard him use the phrase declare they do not know what he meant, but it is understood he referred to the West End Business Men's Association.

The Mayor surprised 350 Traffic Club banqueters at the Hotel Jefferson Wednesday evening by declaring that "there are pernicious organizations in St. Louis which are a positive detriment to the city. They meddle with affairs which they are wholly incompetent to discuss."

Different Views at Different Banquets.

The West End Business Men's Association recently gave a dollar banquet while the Municipal Bridge and Terminals Commission was giving a $5 banquet. The Commission's members and guests said the bridge arbitrary was a thing of the past; the Business Men's Association said it still existed, and was only concealed in freight charges. The Mayor was one of the orators at the $5 banquet.

The Mayor was introduced as "a man who has worked zealously, and at personal sacrifice, for St. Louis for eight years."

After dwelling upon the city's commercial advantages and its good citizenship, Mr. Wells began his attack on the "pernicious organizations," adding:

"The most of our organizations are beneficial, like the Traffic Club, but there are a few which stir up trouble and mix in things which do not concern them. They condemn the men who are working for the best interests of St. Louis.

Co-Operation Is Advised.

"What we need is an intelligent co-operation between the representatives of the railroads and those who have legislative authority. The railroads should anticipate the growing needs of the city and should provide for them; and in turn they should be treated in a fair and businesslike way.

"The policy of the Municipal Bridge and Terminals Commission has been 'Live and let live.' It has not been influenced by popular clamor nor the agitations of men not interested in what they are calmoring for.

Has Nothing to Retract.

"I have made some strong remarks about pernicious organizations tonight—stronger than I had intended. I spoke when I was warmed up to the subject. But I have no apologies to make and nothing to retract."

Here are some expressions regarding the speech:

Edgar M. Wolff, secretary of the West End Business Men's Association: If the Mayor meant the West End Business Men's Association in his remarks at the traffic banquet as being a detriment to progress, he is entirely wrong. He could not have meant us unless it was a personal attack upon some of the members of the association. There is nothing about our association which could have ruffled the Mayor except the free bridge fight, of which we were the originators.

F. P. Crunden, a guest at the speaker's table: There was nothing in it. The Mayor just meant that some people will talk about things they don't know about. Leave me out of the discussion. It is rather a delicate subject.

Edward Devoy, president of the Merchants' Exchange: I thought the Mayor was right, but I couldn't fasten his charge on any certain organizations. Probably he referred to that large class which constantly vociferates and passes resolutions about things of which it has only a vague knowledge. They make a great deal more noise than the men vitally interested. But the Mayor may have had some specific organization in mind.

George W. Simmons, president of the Traffic Club: It was a good speech. I don't know any more than you do whom the Mayor referred to.

R. H. Whitelaw, vice-chairman of the Municipal Bridge and Terminals Commission: I thought the speech excellent. I will not discuss the question of what organization the Mayor had reference to."

POPULAR ACTRESS WHO IS VERY ILL AT HOME IN NEW YORK

AMELIA BINGHAM.

NEW YORK, April 30.—Following a sudden attack of intestinal trouble, complicated with peritonitis, Amelia Bingham, the actress, is critically ill at her home, 40 East Thirty-first street, and the physicians fear she will not recover. Last night her condition was very grave, but she rallied slightly during the night.

Mrs. Bingham's road tour in "A Modern Lady Godiva" closed about two weeks ago. She returned to New York to rest, expecting to begin her engagement at the opening of Suburban Garden in St. Louis, on May 24. She is 39 years old and is one of the best-known actresses on the American stage.

COUNT HIDING DAUGHTER FROM AMERICAN WIFE

Gizycki Fears Child Will Be Kidnaped, Secretes Her in Vienna.

Copyright, 1908, by the Press Pub. Co. (New York World.)

VIENNA, April 30.—Negotiations have been broken off that looked to a reconciliation of Count Gizycki and his wife, the daughter of R. W. Patterson, proprietor of the Chicago Tribune.

Lawyers representing the Count and Countess vainly held several consultations, which lasted all day yesterday and far into the night. The Countess' lawyer started on his return to Paris early this morning.

So far, from the report of a reconciliation of the couple being true, there is now little hope that they will reach even an understanding. The Post-Dispatch correspondent learns this from an unquestionable source.

Brothers Soon to Arrive.

The report that the Count and Countess met and dined together is false. They have not met since their final quarrel. The Countess is waiting the arrival of her brother, Joseph Medill Patterson, the young millionaire Socialist, from Chicago. He probably will be here Monday.

The Count's lawyer says it is impossible to get the Countess to come to any definite agreement; that her family would upset any arrangement that she might be willing to make up with her husband.

The dispute between the married pair centers around their young daughter. Count Gizycki keeps the girl hidden, and her whereabouts is a profound secret, for the Count fears his wife will try to abduct the girl. In fact, the Count's lawyer asserts solemnly that he has discovered a plot to carry off the child in an automobile.

Loses $30,000 at Cards.

The mending of the quarrel is delayed by legal obstacles. It is far from certain that the Countess can get a divorce in Austria.

Meantime Count Gizycki is having a good time in Vienna, going to the races every afternoon and passing a large part of the night at the Jockey Club. Plainly he has plenty of money, for he lost $30,000 at cards Sunday night, and paid that large sum next morning. In fact, the question of money has not arisen in the quarrel.

SHALL THE LIGHT TRUST BE CHECKED?

One of the best and most noteworthy enactments of the Missouri Legislature last year was the Cooper law, by the terms of which authority was conferred upon the city of St. Louis to regulate the prices charged by all public service corporations.

Few municipalities have such laws, and in no other is the grant of power so sweeping. In its briefest terms this enabling act practically clothes the city of St. Louis with the sovereign powers of the State. It is a law of so much import to the people that the reluctance or the refusal of the city government to take advantage of it is both surprising and discreditable.

We have here not only actual monopolies in various lines of public service, but most of them are in possession of a holding company which has capitalized its power to oppress consumers. If there were no escape from these exactions the situation would be deemed intolerable indeed. Fully equipped so far as law is concerned, we are helpless because no move is made to apply the law.

The Municipal Assembly might act upon the questions thus presented any day. If it were so disposed it need make no investigation whatever, and it is under no obligation to appoint a commission. Subject only to the limitation that rates by it established must not be confiscatory, it is empowered to proceed at any time against the Light Trust, for example, whose misdeeds are now known to all.

A commission has been suggested on the theory that action of this kind should not be attempted without the fullest information. This idea still holds good, but the fact that the commission expedient is wholly optional and that it may be adopted either temporarily or permanently is to be noted in proof of the great extension of the city's powers in the premises.

The Municipal Assembly is not in high favor at present, but it would be better to have even the present body give vitality to the Cooper law than to leave the city indefinitely at the mercy of a foreign trust.

THE ALTON SCHOOL CASE.

The celebrated Alton school case has been passed upon again by the Supreme Court of Illinois, this time with considerable emphasis, but as the children whom it immediately concerns are now grown and working for a living they are interested only sentimentally.

In the Alton controversy we find Northern laws dealing with conditions essentially Southern, with familiar manifestations of human nature and human prejudices. Except that the highest court in the State stands academically for the law, the numerous negro children of Alton are not much better off as regards the coeducation of the races than are the same elements in Mississippi. Wherever the color line presents itself it is invincible.

Alton provides separate schools for the blacks in the elementary grades, but the few who wish to pursue the higher branches are admitted to the high school. Negroes who object to separation have pursued the matter in the courts for many years, always losing in the Circuit and always winning in the Supreme Court.

The contest has been purely legal and personal as regards certain children no longer of school age, and as the local authorities command the situation in its practical bearing upon present-day children we are likely to have near at hand for a long time to come an example of municipal nullification of a State law which has some amusing as well as some deplorable features.

If property rights were involved the Supreme Court would find a way to enforce its decrees. As it is, it can only declare the law, while the municipality of Alton, in support of an almost universal antipathy, does as it pleases, thus furnishing one more illustration of the fact that laws which are not recognized by the people on whom they are to act can be enforced only by main strength.

THAT MISCEGENATION DINNER

The dinner recently held in New York City by white and black people of both sexes, at which social equality and the intermarriage of the races were shamelessly advocated will have one good result if it directs public attention to the fact that the participants were all sociologists and settlement workers.

All of the people thus described gain more attention and favor than they are entitled to because they are not very well understood. Coming before the people with various altruistic schemes, they enjoy a certain vogue among the charitable who do not explore the whited sepulchres in which they pass most of their time.

It is not easy to explain why it is so, but the fact appears to be that sociology and settlement work either attract the unwholesome young people of the day or contaminate the wholesome very soon after they touch the defiling pitch.

This miscegenation dinner was loathsome enough to consign the whole fraternity of perverts who participated in it to undying infamy.

The Board of Public Improvements has succeeded in abolishing one grade crossing in a quarter of a century. At this rate President O'Reilly will be four times as old as Methuselah plus twice the age of Ann before the whole job is finished.

MORE LAW, LESS LAW AND NO LAW.

There is a paradox in the President's florid dissertations on the subject of trusts, for while he demands a great extension of executive power in the premises he insists that the Sherman anti-trust law be weakened in many important respects.

His plea, therefore, rests upon the contention that there is too much and too drastic law against trusts and not enough either of authority or of discretion in the hands of the chief magistrate to enable him to do as he pleases with good trusts and bad trusts.

The anti-trust law makes no distinction between these combinations in restraint of trade. Everything in the nature of a commercial conspiracy is forbidden. The law has stood the test of the courts from lowest to highest, and, if it is the purpose of the people to destroy trusts and to punish their organizers, it would seem that nothing more in the way of legislation could be desired.

Mr. Roosevelt, however, has made the discovery that there are laudable trusts, and he can think of no way in which they may be relieved of prosecution except by emasculating the Sherman law and conferring arbitrary power upon the President to coddle the good trusts and to destroy the bad ones. This plan, of course, provides for less law and power for the courts and more law and power for the President.

Twenty years from now Mr. Roosevelt will be 70 years of age and more. Looking back then over the events of his administration he will probably realize better than he now can the monstrous nature of this proposition. He has repeatedly urged the substitution of a government of caprice, favoritism and tyranny for one of law, equality and justice. He wants more law and yet, as a matter of fact, he wants no law but executive will.

Communications from no other President have ever been received in Congress with open manifestations of impatience and contempt. No other President ever suggested to Congress that it should abdicate in favor of an imperial bureaucracy.

THE GREAT ST. LOUIS CENTENNIAL.

All St. Louis will fall in heartily with the spirited purpose of the leading civic organizations to celebrate the 100th birthday of the city. Every reason exists for, and none against, making it a momentous and striking occasion.

The date falls conveniently—Nov. 9, 1909, and permits of a year and a half of preparation. It comes at the time of year best suited, the time when St. Louis is used to celebrating and the world hereabouts is used to celebrating with it.

The regular fall festivities and the other great features should be merged with and absorbed in the distinctive centennial occasion, the difference in dates being but slight. If desirable, the customary October week of pageantry could be adopted or appropriated for the civic birthday. In any event, if preferable, taking into consideration a suitable date for the proposed balloon races, the period of the celebration could end rather than begin on Nov. 9.

Last fall the Post-Dispatch called attention to the desirability of novelty and variety in our October celebrations, and suggested a water pageant as a central feature of future plans. This would be specially timely in view of the entire valley's interest in and, indeed, the nation's attention to the deep waterway project.

The renewal of interest in the Mississippi and at the same time the birthday of the great river metropolis could not be more fitly celebrated than by a water carnival of proportions, brilliance and beauty to attract and delight the continent. The Veiled Prophet in a magic flotilla on the mirrored surface of the Mississippi, in a setting of illumination such as two cities, the bridges and barges might provide, is a vision with substance and purpose behind it. It would not require millions to materialize it, but it would surpass any spectacular achievement of these times. Incidentally it should appeal to those who are contemplating the immediate revival of river transportation and a steel barge line between St. Louis and New Orleans.

Assuredly the proposed water pageant feature, among others, deserves the consideration of St. Louis and of waterway advocates everywhere. If would enlist the co-operation of the entire valley and vastly stimulate the deep waterway movement; it would draw attendance from a wide radius, and the direct benefits to St. Louis would be generous, immediate and general.

FIRE ESCAPES ARE FASHIONABLE.

The fallacy that so-called fire-proof buildings are exempt under the law providing for fire escapes was hit hard by Judge Taylor the other day, as it deserved to be.

Not long ago the same contention was raised in the case of modern public school buildings and nothing but a complete right-about-face on the part of the authorities saved them from prosecution.

Fire escapes are to be erected on every public school building in St. Louis, and the alleged fire-proof skyscrapers downtown, one of them controlled by a member of the schoolboard, will be similarly equipped before snow flies again.

So much for egotism and bumptiousness and parsimony and defiance of law.

GEN. COXEY BY WATER.

Gen. Coxey has tried walking and running counter-current to natural forces, and he wisely concludes to waste no more sole leather and contention. Henceforth he will drift with the tide, and he has selected the Mississippi as the channel and balmy summer as the season, in which to do it.

Returning from Eugene, Mo., the General announces a drifting expedition as the beginning of a campaign of education on river improvement. Fancy sees the benevolent Coxey the veritable Father of Waters. He will lecture on the way, and, incidental to his patriarchal project, will doubtless pick up lotus eaters and beach combers at every bar. With a well-provisioned raft it will be no trouble to get a following.

We suspect that while in Eugene, Mo., the General ran afoul of a copy of Huckleberry Finn and that his imagination was carried away by the delights of Huck's immortal cruise with the King and the Duke. One thing the General may rest assured of—the King and the Duke will be waiting for him at every landing. Let us wish them bon voyage.

William's money and Mabelle's talents are going to elevate the stage, and, incidentally, their social standing, if they can. The experiment can do no harm in any event. Neither the stage nor their social standing has anything to lose by it.

The President's grief over the defeat of his four-battleship program in Congress may be assuaged in part by young Mr. Maxim's prediction that airships will soon put the armor clads out of business.

Judge Evans has stirred up the old gang a little, but not much as yet. If he expects to receive the Democratic nomination for Governor he will have to throw something harder than tufts of grass.

According to latest reports to the Board of Public Improvements, the free bridge enterprise has been delayed by unfavorable weather. One excuse is almost as good as another.

Jeff Davis is to make his second grand entry into the United States Senate on Friday. It will be remembered that he mysteriously disappeared soon after the first one.

George Dewey, 10 years after that glorious May day in Manila Bay, is still with us and just as willing to be President as he ever was.

The farmers of this region may be getting too much rain to suit them, but it helps the Cardinals a whole lot.

A good deal of dirt will fly when the delegates really undertake to "clean" each other.

From a monopoly on light it is only a step to a trust in air.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

An "Old Fogy" View.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I have noticed recently several articles upon the removal of the Protestant churches from the downtown districts to the West End. There is nothing in this to excite comment. The people who formerly lived downtown now live in the West End. What is more natural than that they should take their churches with them. The homes of the members of the rich Protestant churches have moved west and in their old homes are Russian Jews, Italians, Poles and negroes. Why should they keep their churches among these people, who have their own places of worship and would not attend the First Presbyterian, the Second Baptist or the Pilgrims' Church even if they had been kept open where they were formerly? Is it strange that the members of these old churches should abandon their churches in the "darker St. Louis" when they were no longer needed in those districts? It is foolish to maintain these churches amongst alien races, who have their own methods of worshiping their own God idea. It is just like the fool idea some people have that our West End homes should have as many little children as the downtown districts. It is natural for a block with a hundred families to have more children than a block with perhaps a dozen or twenty families at most. OLD FOGY.

The Retail Butcher.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Here are some of the things that a retail butcher is "up against:" Trading stamp companies—a compulsion; packing companies—raise the price at will; packing companies favoring so-called cheap shops; cheap shops (so-called) buying off goods on the q. t.; cheap shops (so-called)—short weights, misrepresentation; commission men—short measures; and short weights; commission men—all things sold, face topped, bottom inferior—cucumbers, tomatoes, strawberries, in fact all early and expensive vegetables must be handled by us because a few people demand them. The prices are regulated by the Produce Exchange to such an extent that the retailer can't add any more—goods all perishable—must be sold always at a loss. When the more abundant season comes in, when we really could make a dollar, the peddlers, who only work the public after all, come in. When strawberries are high and high for a profit, the customer comes in and calls for berries. When they are down in price you will see Italians prodding around from house to house taking the business from the legitimate merchant. We pay rent, taxes, license and so on, the year round and must be on hand at all hours of the day. I haven't made a dollar in six months. I can't make it honestly, and I won't stoop to make it dishonestly. I would rather go out and dig for a living. Then the public is a great deal to blame for many unfair conditions. Take the stamp craze, for instance. Why should anyone expect to have a chromo thrown in with every little purchase? Is there any common sense to any such demand? It is disgusting to have people, intelligent people, to call, "Stamps, please." Such fool conditions make fool people, mollycoddles, milksops and easy marks. It ought to be stopped to have fair play.

MARKET MAN.

For a People's Church.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I have read with deep interest your article in the Sunday Post-Dispatch on "Why Don't More People Go to Church?" and I am deeply moved by the facts revealed. I am a St. Louis pastor, and like most men of my calling I am too deeply interested in my own parish duties to give much thought to outside matters. I have always had a deep interest in the unfortunates who are crowded into the most undesirable districts in our cities, and really my heart goes out for these 200,000 neglected ones in "darkest St. Louis." They are left to themselves to work out their own salvation, and with the help of a few missions, most of them dark and uninviting, but with earnest workers, they are doing nobly. Why do the churches leave them? Why not establish one great nonsectarian church, with a pastor, and as many assistants as he needs over it, for these people? It must be done wisely if at all, and so much depends upon the man in charge. He must live among them and in many respects become one of them. I close with this proposition: If some wealthy person will provide a hall or a church, and furnish it for use rent free for a term of years, I will give up my church, move into the neighborhood of the proposed new work and establish a people's church for these neglected ones. I will give my services, my time and strength, for the people who are most neglected. Will someone provide the place? It need not be expensively furnished, but should be neat and inviting, and should be well kept. Above all, it should not be called "a mission." Call it "The People's Church," and let it be known that it is for the people among whom it is established. It should be kept open every day, and brief, bright, evangelistic services should be held every night. There are enough wealthy Christian people in the city to see that such a place is established and maintained, and it is plainly someone's duty to do it. I am not asking for a cent of money, but that such a place be provided, and if I am the one to take up the work, I will cheerfully and joyfully do it without money and without price. If anyone feels inclined to take up the proposition, I shall be glad to hear from him through the Post-Dispatch.

JUST A MINUTE FOR VERSE AND HUMOR.

WHISTLE AND BRISTLE.

Is there for love a precious thought
That loving makes the sweeter?
Is there for man a service wrought
That renders life completer?
Is there a joy of work, or life,
Or some love-penned epistle,
Or happiness in home or wife?
Whistle!

Is there by brutal greed denied
Its well-deserved guerdon?
Is there because of law defied
That bears another's burden?
Does gross abuse make innocence
The target of its missle,
Inflicting want in consequence?
Bristle!

Is there for humankind a spring
Of hope forever welling?
Is there a mocking bird to sing
For love in humble dwelling?
Is there a prize that's fairly won
By wit, or work, or gristle,
Or kindness been done by or done?
Whistle!

Is there for wealth can lie and steal,
And sidestep expiation?
Is there from honesty appeal
That it is ruination?
Is greed's way fragrant with the rose,
The while the prickly thistle
Awaits reform where'er it goes?

THE CIRCUS STORY.

The circus story is not new, but it should be revived on circus week, just as Lincoln's stories are always retold on his birthday.

A farmer was looking at the giraffe. He walked around it several times, and finally stood almost under it and looked up its neck.

He was droll with suspicion. Finally he walked around it once more, and took one more raking glance up the wonderful neck.

Then he spat in the straw, and slapped himself on the leg.

"Git out!" he said. "There ain't no sich thing!"

SEEING ST. LOUIS.

M'ALEER'S REMINISCENCES.

"No, we don't try out many youngsters," said McAleer. "We generally let someone else try them out. This is not because we don't believe that all good ball players were once young, but because it is our policy not to offend country towns. There are always many country people in the city, and they generally fill a bleacher for us. They are, moreover, very enthusiastic, and usually terrify the opposition, which is inclined to regard them as dangerous.

"We get all of this trade. Before McCloskey came to the other park it was divided; but McCloskey's policy has been to try out youngsters, and every time he has let one of them out he has estranged from his park whatever town the boy called home. When we recall that McCloskey has been doing this several years, and has let out several thousand players, we can understand why we enjoy virtually all of the transient country trade, while the Nationals get none of it.

"I recall one of the few exceptions we have made to our rule. We tried a pitcher from St. Charles. He was a promising youngster, but not quite ripe. We let him out. We immediately noticed the occurrence of several large vacant areas in the stands. We advanced different theories for this. Some of us thought the unoccupied area in the grand stand probably indicated that the game was viewed there from a coign of disadvantage. Others thought the openings in the bleachers perhaps showed where the sun was a little hotter than the average. But the truth finally dawned on us. Those holes were where the people of St. Charles had been sitting!

"We have them back now. It is all forgotten and forgiven; but it was a lesson. We are confining our recruiting now to real old ball players. The beauty of this policy is that you can let them out with impunity. The home folks don't seem to give a rap; but let a young player out, and it opens a hole in the crowd every time.

"For instance," McAleer asked, "do you see that top row there in the stand, and the bunch aside from the main throng over there in the pavilion? Those two groups are from Farmington, Mo., where Barney Pelty comes from. They are the sign that Barney is still with us."

Eat, drink, and be merry,

THE COMPLETE AUTO CREW.

"Didn't I see you motoring Sunday with friends?"

"Friends? No, that was my regular crew."

"Crew?"

"Yes. There was the chauffeur, who runs the machine."

"Yes."

"And the repair man, who fixes it."

"Yes."

"And the country interpreter, who argues with the deputy sheriffs."

"Yes."

"And the lawyer, in case we lose the argument."

A DOUBTFUL COMPLIMENT.

Aeronaut Forbes of Chicago, who will try for the Lahm cup, says he considers St. Louis the best place to get away from.

If Judge Wallace will close his campaign for the gubernatorial nomination next Sunday, it will be the most sensible application of the blue laws he has made yet.

A Grave Reply.

FROST—Contracts must be kept. If you can't pay, try to compromise. Possibly the paper and the company would not go to the trouble of suing.

D.—One dry cell is equal to 1.5 volts, 24 amperes. Your scheme is possible with enough dry batteries, but the batteries would not last long.

X. X. A.—Your household goods, valued at $300, are exempt from execution for debts of gas or other bills unless you have waived your exemption in writing.

G. J. G.—Convict leaving Federal prison receives railroad ticket (from place of confinement to place from which he was sent), one suit of clothes, and $5 in cash.

JENNIE—We don't know how long it takes for sassafras tea to "clear the blood." Much besides sassafras is necessary to pure blood. There must be pure air, pure food, care in diet, exercise, etc.

A. X.—Strength of current for long distance telephone is variable. There is no danger so long as there is no contact of wires. As with all electrical conductors, care should be used in handling.

LONDON.—A will as to property held jointly would be null and void. Such being the case none is necessary as to property so held. At the death of either it passes to survivor without the formality of going through the Probate Court.

V. T.—After introduction you may ask for lance. In asking use some such form as: "May I have the pleasure of this dance?" or "May I have the honor of dancing with you?" It is not in good taste to ask a lady if she is engaged for a particular dance.

D. H.—Elijah was taken up into heaven in a chariot of fire (Kings, books 1 and 2). Moses died on Mount Nebo. He was buried in a valley in the land of Moab, over against Beth-Peor, "and no man knoweth of his sepulchre unto this day."

APRIL.—To the ancients Pluto was the grave, or the god of the region to which went the dead before they were admitted to Elysium or sent to Tartarus. Leonidas said to his 300 Spartans, "Brothers, be of good cheer; this night we shall sup with Pluto."

ROBISON.—Negro born in United States may vote when 21 years of age. In some states there may be laws which might prevent his voting. Illinois law does not prohibit soldier vote, white or black. In Missouri only soldiers in soldiers' home are qualified voters.

E. S.—Residents persons who are solvent and sufficient, and "not bound by other bonds," are considered qualified bondsmen. They should likewise own property over and above that on which exemptions could be claimed (the homestead and household goods).

SIGNO.—Worms in dogs: Milis says that even young puppies (3 or 4 months) may take 5 to 15 drops of turpentine with safety if given beaten up in egg, mucilage, or well mixed with castor oil—a teaspoonful for 10 drops turpentine. It is important that it be quickly carried through the intestines.

A. C. A.—If not incorporated all members of society are liable for debts, whether contracted through dishonesty of its officers or otherwise. To escape such a state of affairs application should be made (by attorney) to Circuit Court for a pro forma decree of incorporation relieving members from assuming those burdens.

K.—Kerry Patch was bounded by Biddle, Seventeenth, Mullanphy and Twentieth, says a history of St. Louis; but Mr. Jack Sheehan, excellent authority, says the old boundaries were: east by Seventeenth, west by Nineteenth, north by Cass, south by O'Fallon. Cabanne is bounded east by King's Highway, west by city limits, north by Page avenue, south by Delmar Boulevard.

IGNORANCE.—The property in which your father has only a life interest cannot be sold by him without the signatures of his children, who come in for the remainder. It is not necessary for children to warn a prospective purchaser of their father's life estate in the property, but purchaser's business to investigate the title and find out if he buys the deed as to children is void.

E. A. B.—To color meerschaum: Cover with chamois; use false bowl; smoke four months; remove chamois and false bowl and pipe will be beautifully colored and polished. It can then be smoked in the ordinary way. If smoked without false bowl it will color only to bottom of bowl; if false bowl is used pipe will color to top of bowl. If false bowl not used pipe will burn and become black.

A. F. B.—Bridal shower: Arrange a floral bell of smilax and roses, using barrel hoops and strong wire. Place the pieces of linen wrapped in tissue within the bell and paste tissue paper across the bottom. Inside the bell fasten a ribbon which, when pulled, will tear the paper and let the packages fall. Ask each guest to give the bride-elect her favorite recipe and her best wish. Afterward copy these on rice paper and arrange them in a little book for the bride-elect. Serve ices in shape of pink roses and cakes with pink and green icing.

H.—There are 46 stars on the American flag; stripes 13—7 red and 6 white. By order of the War Department the field or union of the national flag in use in the army will, after July 4, 1908, consist of 46 stars in 6 rows, the first, third, fourth and sixth rows to have 8 stars, and the second and fifth rows 7 stars each. This arrangement leaves space for an additional star in two of the six rows, so that the next time a State is made the field will not have to be materially rearranged.

ABC—The knowledge required by a notary public depends upon the many things he intends to undertake; if merely for the convenience of some office that office will probably know the legal requirements and do the instructing; if general notarial work is contemplated, knowledge of the law is absolutely necessary, as a misstep or error may be costly; to insure the public against this is one reason why the State requires of him a bond in the sum of $1000. For application blank write Secretary of State.

THE GREEN DOOR

A Story of Adventure Which Befell Rudolf, the Lonely, in New York.

By O. HENRY.

Reprinted by permission from "The Four Million," by O. Henry. Copyright, 1906, by McClure, Phillips & Co.

HALF-ADVENTURERS—brave and splendid figures—have been numerous. From the Crusades to the Palisades they have enriched the arts of history and fiction and the trade of historical fiction. But each of them had a prize to win, a goal to kick, an ax to grind, a race to run, a new thrust in tierce to deliver, a name to carve, a crow to pick—so they were not followers of true adventure.

Rudolf Steiner was a true adventurer. Few were the evenings on which he did not go forth from his hall bedchamber in search of the unexpected and the egregious. The most interesting thing in life seemed to him to be what might lie just around the next corner. Sometimes his willingness to tempt fate led him into strange paths. Twice he had spent the night in a station house, again and again he had found himself the dupe of ingenious and mercenary tricksters; his watch and money had been the price of one flattering allurement. But with undiminished ardor he picked up every glove cast before him into the merry rights of adventure.

One evening Rudolf was strolling along a cross-town street in the older central part of the city. Two streams of people filled the sidewalks—the homehurrying and that restless contingent that abandons home for the specious welcome of the thousand-candle-power table d'hote.

The young adventurer was of pleasing presence and moved serenely and watchfully. By daylight he was a salesman in a piano store. He wore his tie drawn through a topaz ring instead of fastened with a stickpin, and once he had written to the editor of a magazine that "Junie's Love Test," by Miss Libbey, had been the book that had most influenced his life.

During his walk a violent chattering of teeth in a glass case on the sidewalk seemed at first to draw his attention (with a qualm), to a restaurant before which it was set; but a second glance revealed the electric letters of a dentist's sign high above the next door. A giant negro, fantastically dressed in a red embroidered coat, yellow trousers and a military cap, discreetly distributed cards to those of the passing crowd who consented to take them.

This mode of dentistic advertising was a common sight to Rudolf. Usually he passed the dispenser of the dentist's cards without reducing his store; but tonight the African slipped one into his hand to deftly that he retained it there, smiling a little at the successful feat.

When he had traveled a few yards further he glanced at the card indifferently. Surprised, he turned it over and looked again with interest. One side of the card was blank; on the other was written in ink three words, "The Green Door." And then Rudolf saw, three steps in front of him, a man throw down the card the negro had given him as he passed. Rudolf picked it up. It was printed with the dentist's name and address and the usual schedule of "plate work" and "bridge work" and "crowns," and specious promises of "painless" operations.

The adventurous piano salesman halted at the corner and considered. Then he crossed the street, walked down a block, recrossed and joined the upward current of people again. Without seeming to notice the negro as he passed the second time, he carelessly took the card that was handed him. Ten steps away he inspected it. In the same handwriting that appeared on the first card, "The Green Door," was inscribed upon it. Three or four cards were tossed to the pavement by pedestrians both following and leading him. These fell blank side up. Rudolf turned them over. Every one bore the printed legend of the dental "parlors."

Rarely did the arch sprite Adventure need to beckon twice to Rudolf Steiner, his true follower. But twice it had been done, and the quest was on.

Rudolf walked slowly back to where the giant negro stood by the case of rattling teeth. This time as he passed he received no card. In spite of his gaudy and ridiculous garb, the Ethiopian displayed a natural barbaric dignity as, he stood, offering the cards suavely to some, allowing others to pass unmolested. Every half minute he chanted a harsh, unintelligible phrase akin to the jabber of car conductors and grand opera. And not only did he withhold a card this time, but it seemed to Rudolf that he received from the shining and massive black countenance a look of cold, almost contemptuous disdain.

The first floor, now closed, seemed to use millinery or furs. The second the dentist's. Above this a polybabel of signs struggled to indicate abodes of palmists, dressmakers, sicians and doctors. Still higher up ed curtains and milk bottles white he window sills proclaimed the re- of domesticity.

er concluding his survey Rudolf walked briskly up the high flight o stone steps into the house. Up two flights of the carpeted stairway he continued; and at its top paused. The hallway there was dimly lighted by two pale jets of gas—one far to his right, the other nearer to his left. He looked toward the nearer light and saw within its wan halo a green door. For one moment he hesitated; then he seemed to see the contumelious sneer of the African juggler of cards; and then he walked straight to the green door and knocked against it.

A faint rustle was heard inside, and the door slowly opened. A girl not ye 20 stood there, white-faced and tottering. She loosed the knob and swayed weakly, groping with one hand. Rudolf caught her and laid her on a faded couch that stood against the wall.

The girl lay still, as if in a faint. Rudolf looked around the room excitedly for a barrel. People must be rolled upon a barrel who—no, no; that was for drowned persons. He began to fan her with his hat. That was successful, for he struck her nose with the brim of his derby and she opened her eyes. And then the young man saw that hers, indeed, was the one missing face from his heart's gallery of intimate portraits. The frank, gray eyes, the little nose, turning pertly upward; the chestnut hair, curling like the tendrils of a pea vine, seemed the right end and reward of all his wonderful adventures. But the face was woefully thin and pale.

The girl looked at him calmly and then smiled.

"Fainted, didn't I?" she asked weakly. "Well, who wouldn't? You try going without anything to eat for three days and see!"

"Himmel!" exclaimed Rudolf, jumping up. "Wait till I come back."

He dashed out the green door and down the stairs. In 20 minutes he was back again, kicking at the door with his toe for her to open it. With both arms he hugged an array of wares from the grocery and the restaurant. On the table he laid them—bread and butter, cold meats, cakes, pies, pickles, oysters, a roasted chicken, a bottle of milk and one of red-hot tea.

"This is ridiculous," said Rudolf, blusteringly, "to go without eating. You must quit making election bets of this kind. Supper is ready." He helped her to a chair at the table and asked: "Is there a cup for the tea?" "On the shelf by the window," she answered.

He drew up the other chair. The tea brightened the girl's eyes and brought back some of her color. She began to eat with a sort of dainty ferocity like some starved wild animal. She seemed to regard the young man's presence and the aid he had rendered her as a natural thing—not as though she undervalued the conventions, but as one whose great stress gave her the right to put aside the artificial for the human. But gradually, with the return of strength and comfort, came also a sense of the little conventions that belong, and she began to tell him her little story. It was one of a thousand such as the city yawns at every day—the shopgirl's story of insufficient wages, further reduced by "fines" that go to swell the store's profits; of time lost through illness, and then of lost positions, lost hope and—the knock of the adventurer upon the green door.

But to Rudolf the history sounded as big as the Iliad or the crisis in "Junie's Love Test."

"To think of you going through all that!" he exclaimed.

"It was something fierce," said the girl solemnly.

"And you have no relatives or friends in the city?"

"None whatever."

"I am all alone in the world, too," said Rudolf, after a pause.

"I am glad of that," said the girl promptly; and somehow it pleased the young man to hear that she approved of his bereft condition.

Very suddenly her eyelids drooped and she sighed deeply.

"I'm awfully sleepy," she said, "and I feel so good."

Rudolf rose and took his hat.

"Then I'll say good-night. A long night's sleep will be fine for you."

He held out his hand, and she took it and said "Good-night." But her eyes asked a question so eloquently, so frankly and pathetically that he answered it with words.

"Oh, I'm coming back tomorrow to see how you are getting along. You can't get rid of me so easily."

Then, at the door, as though the way of his coming had been so much less important than the fact that he had come, she asked: "How did you come to knock at my door?"

"One of our piano tuners lived in this house," he said. "I knocked at your door by mistake."

The last thing he saw in the room before the green door closed was her smile.

At the head of the stairway he paused and looked curiously about him. And then he went along the hallway to its other end; and, coming back, ascended to the floor above and continued his puzzling explorations. Every door that he found in the house was painted green.

Wondering, he descended to the sidewalk. The fantastic African was still there. Rudolf confronted him with his two cards in his hand.

"Will you tell me why you gave me these two cards and what they mean?" he asked.

In a broad, good-natured grin the negro exhibited a splendid advertisement of his master's profession.

"Dar it is, boss," he said, pointing down the street. "But I 'spect you is a little late for de fust act."

Looking the way he pointed Rudolf saw above the entrance to a theater the blazing electric signs of its new play, "The Green Door."

"I'm informed dat it's a fust-rate show, suh," said the negro. "De agent what represents it pussented me with a dollar, sah, to distribute a few of his cards along with de doctah's. May I offer you one of de doctah's cards, sah?"

At the corner of the block in which he lived Rudolf stopped for a glass of beer and a cigar. When he had come out with his lighted weed he buttoned his coat, pushed back his hat and said, stoutly, to the lamp post on the corner:

"All the same, I believe it was the hand of Fate that doped out the way for me to find her."

Which conclusion, under the circumstances, certainly admits Rudolf Steiner to the ranks of the true followers of Romance and Adventure.

Down on Her Luck.

"Did you see the story of a girl stowaway who had no money and so hid on one of the ships of the fleet and went through the straits of Magellan?"

"Yes; she was in all kinds of straits, poor girl, wasn't she?"—Baltimore American.

CLARENCE THE COP.

Drawn for the Post-Dispatch BY C. W. KAHLES.

WHAT SHOULD HER HAT COST?

A CHICAGO jury has decided that $50 is the limit to which a married woman can go in buying a hat. A Brooklyn club of married men has been formed to keep down the cost of a wife's hat to $25. Any man permitting his wife to buy a hat costing more than $25 will be made the "goat" by the other members.

A correspondent insists that in these hard times the fair one's sky piece should not cost more than $20.

Of course there are other opinions on this decorative subject than those here given. The readers of the Post-Dispatch will view the hat question from many angles and some of them will want to say a few words about it. The Post-Dispatch will be glad to hear from anybody who has anything to say about the sum a woman should pay for her headgear and it will cheerfully print letters of 100 words on the subject.

What is your idea of it?

Send letters to Woman's Hat Editor, Post-Dispatch.

SOME HOUSEHOLD DANGERS.

NEVER fill an oil lamp or a parafin lamp either, for that matter, while it is alight. It is quite easy for the vapor to catch fire and set the spirit or oil in the bottle ablaze, and an explosion will most likely follow. Always turn the lamp out before refilling it.

After filling a lamp, too, be careful to wipe the outside dry, for any trickle of oil on the sides might easily catch fire.

Don't allow the oil to stand in the lamp very long. If it is not burned it should be thrown away. It gathers impurities and increases the risk of an explosion. For the same reason always keep the paraffin can well corked.

Be careful when you light a fire in the kitchen that there is plenty of water in the boiler. Otherwise, when the cold water rushes into the hot boiler it is likely to crack it.

Don't put clothes round the fire to dry and then go to bed and leave them. A spark may easily fly out of the fire and set them alight. Never leave a wood fire unguarded. Always put a metal fire screen or something of that sort in front of it to prevent the sparks flying.

Don't try to make a fire draw by holding a newspaper up in front of it. If it doesn't set fire to the mantelpiece or to your own clothes, it may fly blazing up the chimney and set that alight.

If you use a gas stove, never leave it with anything that might boil over cooking upon it. It is quite possible for soup or milk boiling over to put out the gas flame, and the escaping gas will fill up the room. And then as soon as somebody comes in with a light—bang!

FOR OFFENSIVE BREATH

There is nothing quite so repulsive as foul breath, and yet people who are most scrupulous about their appearance and manners frequently neglect this most important matter.

Bad breath indicates an unhealthy condition of the stomach, which if permitted to continue, will work havoc to the system.

A formula is here given that comes from a physician of prominence for correcting stomach disorders, belching, sourness, sick headache, bad breath, dizziness, and will cure dyspepsia in its worst form if used sufficietnly long.

It is as follows: Three ounces syrup of ginger; two ounces essence of pepsin; one ounce catandir compound. Mix these and use in doses of from one to two teaspoonfuls after each meal, also at bedtime. The catandir compound is the product of the laboratories of the Globe Pharmaceutical Co. of Chicago, and it and other ingredients can be obtained from any well-stocked drug store. The mixture is pleasant to take and is said to show good results after the first few doses. ***

A GOURMET'S GUIDE.

From the London Telegraph.

LIEUTENANT-COLONEL NEWNHAM-DAVIS has written "The Gourmet's Guide to Europe," an unconventional handbook which must henceforth become as necessary an adjunct to the literature of the foreign traveler as his Murray or his Baedeker.

Beginning with Paris, the restaurants of which he knows "like his pocket," our culinary mentor takes us rapidly through the French provincial towns, stopping here and there to draw attention to anything noteworthy and interesting. Thus at Montreuil-sur-Mer we are told of the Hotel de France, "which is just what an inn was in the days of plumed hats and long boots. 'Miladi' might look out of one of the upper windows, and one would not be in the least surprised to see Athos, Porthos, and d'Artagnan swagger down the rickety staircase." At Caen "I have a most pleasant memory of a homard Americaine cooked at the Hotel d'Angleterre, which was the very best lobster I ever ate in my life." One is reminded of the two cronies discussing old times. "Do you remember, Jack, that saddle of mutton at Thompson's; it must be at least thirty years ago?" "Yes, I should rather think I did. I've always regretted ever since that I didn't have another slice of that saddle."

An extraordinary menu is quoted from Roscoff, beginning with artichokes and finishing with "Cidre a discretion," with cold pork, langouste, duck, omelet and a fillet of beef in between. Due attention is paid to the right and the wrong kind of bouillabaisse (beloved of Thackeray) at Marseilles, and at Nice there is a good word for the famous old London house. The next step is to Belgium, where the Hochepot Gantois is mentioned, as also the Waterzole de Poulet, and a word of praise is given to the Salade de Princesses Liegeoises, which is made of scarlet runners mixed with little pieces of fried bacon. He says:

"There is no cookery in Europe so often maligned without cause as that of Italy. People who are not sure of their facts often dismiss it contemptuously as being "all garlic and oil," whereas very little oil is used, except at Genoa, where oil—and very good oil as a rule—takes the place of butter, and no more garlice than is necessary to give a slight flavor to the dishes in which it plays a part.

"Really good, pure olive oil is almost unknown outside the boundaries of Italy. An Italian gentleman never eats salad when traveling in foreign countries, for his palate, used to the finest oil, revolts against the liquid fit only for the lubrication of machinery he so often is offered in Germany, England and France."

Reference is made to the fowls and figs of Tuscany, the white truffles of Piedmont, the artichokes of Rome, the walnuts and grapes of Sorrento—all most excellent and succulent, and capable of stirring a gourmet to poetic flights of fancy and imagery.

The gastronomic traveler is next taken through Spain, where he is introduced to Calamares, Foezola and Menudos de Gallina. Thence through Portugal to Switzerland and on to Austria, where we find the Wiener Rostbraten and Kaiserfleisch; and Hungary, where the Paprikahuhn and Gulyas are indigenous and palatable. Roumania, Servia and Bulgaria have a chapter each, and Sarmalute, Ciorba de Pui and Mousaka are quoted as typical national dishes.

Turkey comes next, and we learn that the Turk is the best sweetmeat-maker in Europe, that he still cooks the kouzoum, or sucking-lamb, which is as delicate as a chicken. Greece, Russia and Scandinavia complete the book, and the tour of Europe, which in its way is as unique as that of Dr. Syntax.

HEAVENS CHANGE IN THIRTY YEARS.

ELIZABETH STUART PHELPS 30 years ago wrote "The Gates Ajar," and at that time the story because of a gentle, straightforward unorthodoxy In opposing the stiff church notions of heaven, produced something of the effect that followed the "Robert Elsmere" of Mrs. Humphrey Ward. Now Mrs. Phelps is offering, in a series of articles which are being publised at the instance of Miss Elizabeth Jordan in Harper's Bazaar, her present theories upon immortality and the future life. Then people trembled a bit at an unorthodox heaven; now, says Mrs. Phelps, who expects at such a time to stand in a row with musical ghosts around a throne? If "The Gates Ajar" appeared as a new publication now, the author asserts that it would scarcely excite remark.

THE NEW STYLES.

"If the new summer gowns have a conspicuous note at all this year its is in their trimmings, which seem to stand out in bold relief," says Grace Margaret Gould in Woman's Home Companion. "Much soutache in all widths and heavy cotton braid are used, in white and dyed to match the fabric. In the skirt-and-coat suits the outline of the coat is shown by the line of braiding, and either braid or buttons not infrequently trim the back.

"Tassels are very much used wherever a place for them can be found. The heavy and the fine laces are fashionable in combination for trimming both gowns and separate blouses.

"Very narrow satin plaitings are much used as a trimming for silk voile and net gowns. They are often introduced in some brilliant shade, such as Empire green, on a gown of neutral tint. Plaitings of this style frequently simulate a big effect on the bodice and outline a tunic effect in the skirt.

"Buttons are used not only where they are needed, but where they are not needed on the new gowns. For the tailored suits there are the fabric-covered buttons and the braid buttons.

"The white and colored cotton crochet button is extremely high style, and for lingerie waists there are the new pearl bead buttons.

"There are two distinct types of dress this summer, both emphasizing the straight up-and-down effect. One is the tailored coat suit, showing in many instances a cutaway coat, which gives the hipless effect, and a skirt comparatively narrow at the bottom—that is, it is made without the sudden flare that the tailored skirt used to have.

"The other type of dress is the cut-in-one gown, and great will be its favor throughout the summer. In the form of the new princess jumper this cut-in-one dress is a most practical gown to own. It can fasten in the front quite as easily as the back, and it is a model equally good for silk or linen.

"This style dress is always cut out at the neck, and is generally sleeveless, to show the guimpe, or trimmed just sufficiently over the shoulders to give a modified armhole effect. Or it may be made, as a number of the imported models are, so that it has much the effect of a polonaise cut out at the neck, but having a sleeve which is cut in one with the bodice."

NAPS DESCEND UPON BROWNS LIKE CHAMPS

Cleveland, With Aroused Fighting Spirit, Bombard Pelty, While Rhoades Checks Locals.

By JAMES CRUSINBERRY

Larry Lajoie's baseball players sprinkled more pepper in their play during the first game of the series with the Browns than is their wont in a half dozen contests, and this, with some of the smartest hitting seen at Sportsman's Park this season, gave Cleveland the opening battle by a score of 6 to 3.

Cleveland defense was superb and attack vicious. The Browns struggled with the same gameness displayed against Chicago, but the attempt was futile. The "slow ball" twirling of "Dusty" Rhoades baffled them, while the strenuous batting of the Naps, together with unexpected speed on the bases, shattered the defense and gave the visitors a rather easy victory.

Because of the conquest, Cleveland is today basking deliciously in the warmth of first place in the American League. It's nothing new, of course, for Cleveland to be at the top in April or May. It's only customary. The Naps have done so for so many years that it seems only right that they should hold the honor again this year. No one is worried over the matter, for although Cleveland has so many times graced the top place at this time in the year, it has never yet been there in October.

Showed Championship Form.

But we thought we detected a bit of life in the Cleveland club yesterday that has never been visible before. It was startling for a moment. It looked like championship stuff. Can it be that Cleveland this year is going to break away from tradition and crash to the front? No one can deny that Lajoie has the material to stick there. It's only a question of having the nerve and the bulldog spirit necessary to hang on against such scrappy clubs as make up the American League.

One would expect to see a team fagged from a long and tiresome ride from Cleveland, the team landing here barely in time to be hauled to the park and jump into uniforms ready for the fight. But if Cleveland was tired yesterday, we hate to think what it will do to the Browns in the next two games of the series. It was a fiery team in every inning yesterday, and played splendidly. It well deserved the honor of victory, for the best ball club in the world could not have beaten it down.

Strong on Offense.

The most characteristic part of the Clevelands' play yesterday was its hitting and base running. It has always been a grand defensive club, but never has concentrated its offense. But in the first contest with the Browns, the Naps executed the hit-and-run style of attack with accuracy and correctness that was both stirring and startling. It was that manner of attack that won the game for Lajoie's braves. It was the style that critics all over the country have expected from such a slugging team for several seasons, and if Lajoie executes it with such exactness throughout the season, it is hard to see how any team in the American League will stay his advance.

Barney Pelty was doing slab duty for the Browns because his right-handed benders had deceived the Naps in the opening game of the season over in Cleveland, when the Browns were turned out victorious. But Barney's curves caused no fear to those sluggers yesterday. He seemed just as fit for battle, too, as on the first day of the season, but he couldn't keep the ball away from the batter and 10 vicious drives were registered against him. On the other hand, Mr. Rhoades was tossing over as wonderful a slow ball as ever seen, and the Browns could not swat it with any degree of success. They pounded out a half dozen safe hits, but that was not enough for such a game.

Cleveland Begins Early.

Cleveland opened its attack early in the contest, when Nill was passed to first in the second inning. "Nig" Clarke, that ferocious slugging catcher for the Naps, was the next man to bat, and he lined a corking single to right, sticking Nill on second. Birmingham's rap to short was sharp, but Wallace dug it out of the sticky earth and heaved to Williams in time to force Clarke, Nill going to third. Hinchman banged successfully to left for a single and Nill trotted home. Hinchman's hit was produced on a hit-and-run signal, and Birmingham, because of his commanding lead, reached third on the swat. Rhoades drove a long fly to Stone and Birmingham got home after the catch, but Hinchman tried to go to second on the same play and was nipped on Wallace's relay to Williams.

Two runs gave the Naps a commanding lead, but in a free-hitting contest as this promised to be, the fans had hopes of overtaking them. Pelty tightened up on his pitching and held the sluggers safely for a time while his mates set about to produce runs.

Browns Open in Fifth.

It was the fifth inning before they could count. This time, after one was out, Hobe Ferris hooked one of those slow lobes of Rhoades' and it went spinning just inside of third base for a double. Tom Jones basted a hot one to Nill, the latter batting the ball down and then making a quick recovery and throw to Bradley with the hope of catching Hobe at third. But Hobe was at the bag ahead of the ball. Stephens popped a little foul to the catcher, but Pelty made good with a bounder to Rhoades that was slow enough to allow Ferris to beat the ball to the home plate. Hoffman ended this inning by letting a curve ball go over for the third strike.

The Browns set the fans in an uproar in the very next inning by banging over another run and tying up the count. C. Jones opened with a safe poke back of second. Stone bunted to Rhoades, sacrificing Charley to second. Then it was that Jimmy Williams proved his worth in a pinch, for he drove out a beautiful double to the fence in right-center and Jones had plenty of time to tally. Jimmy went to third when Wallace hit a grounder to Lajoie and was out, but Williams had to die on the bag when Josh Clarke captured Ferris' terrific drive to left.

Naps on the Job Again.

The Browns were soon put on the uphill route again, for in the seventh inning, the Naps opened fiercely on Pelty's pitching and slammed in a pair of runs before the side could be retired.

It was "Nig" Clarke again who opened, this time with a drive just out of reach of Williams. Then "Nig" stole second. Birmingham fouled to Stephens, but Hinchman whacked another single and Clarke scored from second. Rhoades smashed one which Pelty captured with his bare hand, but in trying to get Hinchman at second he threw miserably, the ball going low and wide and getting away from Williams, and both Hinchman and Rhoades were safe.

The hit-and-run play was immediately executed again, Josh Clarke swiping safely to center as Hinchman scored and Rhoades went to third. The next two batters went out, Bradley on a foul to Stevens and Stovall on a roller to Pelty.

In the eighth, the Browns pushed over their last tally. Charley Jones and Stone both walked. After Birmingham caught Williams' fly to deep center, they both moved up a base. Wallace's out on a grounder to Lajoie scored Charley and put Stone at third, but Ferris ended with a pop to Nill.

Eighth Ends All Hopes.

In the eighth inning the Naps put a victory for the Browns out of the question by banging around another pair of runs. Two men were out before they started the firing this time, then it was "Nig" Clarke again who started the trouble. He whacked his third single of the day. Birmingham worked Pelty for a pass to first. Hinchman this time slammed against the left field fence for a double and Clarke and Birmingham both scored on the drive. Rhoades was out on a grounder to Williams, ending this frame.

The Browns made a desperate effort in the ninth to start another rally such as they did against Chicago. With one out, Spencer went to bat for Stephens and singled. Criss had been substituted for Pelty, the tall young slugger pitching the ninth inning, and the fans cheered when he came to bat with a man on the base. Schweitzer had replaced Spencer, as the latter is heavy in running. Criss raised a long fly which Josh Clarke caught on the edge of the bleacher. Hoffman smashed a single through the pitcher's box, putting Criss at second, but Charley Jones ended the game with a pop fly to Bradley.

Manager McAleer has announced that Jack Powell will likely pitch today and Liebhardt is expected to twirl for the Clevelands.

Crusinberry's Comment On the Game

"Dusty" Rhoades' slow ball was a wonder. It simply floated over the plate like a butterfly and when the batter swiped at it, it seemed to duck away also like a butterfly. We would suggest that Mr. Rhoades call it the "butterfly ball."

Some critics discovered there were others on the Browns besides Stone who couldn't hit in a pinch. Danny Hoffman stood on third base and watched the next three batters go out without bringing him home. And there were others also waiting for that pinch hit in other innings.

Nig Clarke commanded our attention most forcibly. He is a grand ballplayer in every department of the game. He hits, runs the bases, fields and thinks. No one can do more.

Outfielder Hinchman was hitting the ball, too. There was a pinch hitter all right. Three times during the game he drove home a run. Two singles and a double he slashed out. And yet he bats away down next to the pitcher. But, of course, with an infield of sluggers, he can expect nothing else.

Jimmy Williams came around in a crisis all right with a hit. It was his double to the right-field fence in the sixth inning that drove Charley Jones home for the run that tied up the score.

Bobby Wallace was putting up a grand defense all the time. He had eight assists and one putout in the game. He gathered up a lot of hard smashes, too, and always made the throw perfectly across the diamond to Tom Jones.

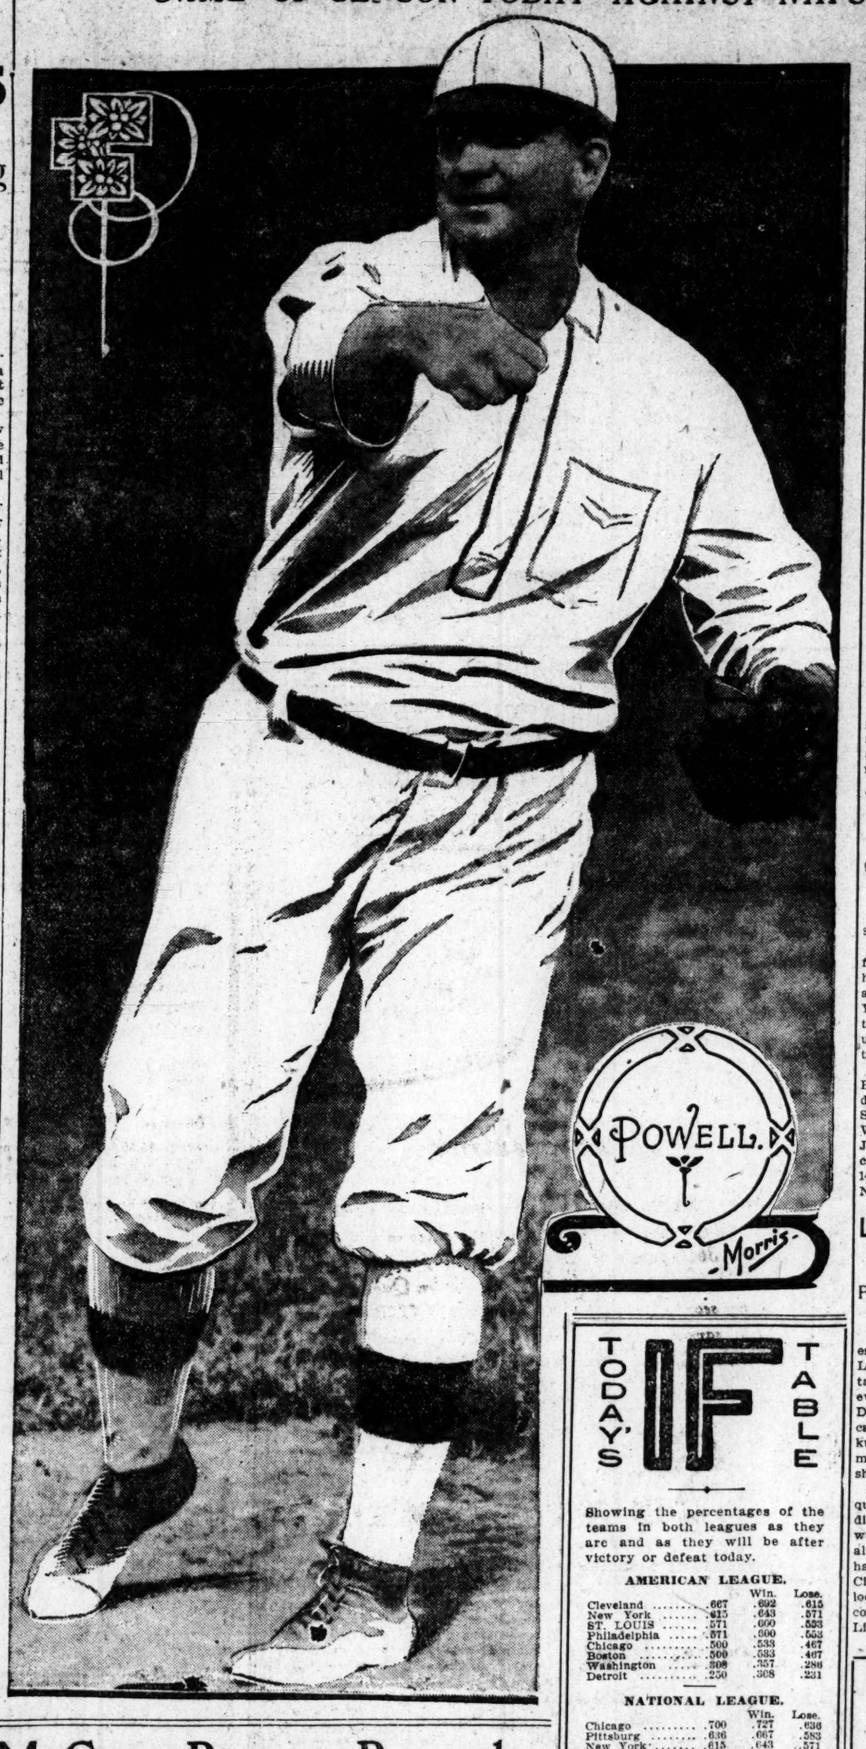

Shortstop Nill did gallant work in place of the little star, Terry Turner, who is out of the game with a lame shoulder. He juggled one grounder just long enough to break into the error column, but otherwise was playing a strong game.

Mr. Bates and Mr. Stickle, two Cleveland war scribes, are with the Naps. The latter is a new man at the battle, but Bates won his spurs back in the time when Charley Comiskey was a hero of the game.

Double-Header Is Transferred.

The City Baseball League double-header scheduled to be played at Handlan's Park next Sunday has been transferred to Kulage Park. The White Seals and Kinlochs will meet in the opening game at 2 o'clock. The Nadjas and North Sides will clash in the second game, starting at 3:30 o'clock.

PITCHER WHO APPEARS IN HIS SECOND GAME OF SEASON TODAY AGAINST NAPS

McGann Resents Remark of McGraw With Fists

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

BOSTON, April 30.—Dan McGann, now of the Boston Nationals, and his old manager, John McGraw, of the Giants, fought twice Tuesday night.

At the finish of Tuesday's game, when McGann went to bat and hit into a double play, McGraw made some remark about McGann being an "ice wagon," which got to the ears of the player.

McGann is stopping at the same hotel where the Giants are also housed, and during the evening walked impatiently up and down the hotel corridor waiting for McGraw to return from the theater. McGraw came in with Matthewson and went to the billiard room for a game.

McGann followed him, and in spite of Matthewson's intervention, struck at McGraw. Hats were knocked off and there was a clash, but no damage was done except to rile McGann's Kentucky blood. The scrap broke up the billiard game after the players separated the combatants.

McGraw went upstairs and was soon followed by McGann, who went over to where he was sitting and made a vicious pass at the Giants' manager. McGraw expected something was coming his way and ducked in time to get a blow on his shoulder. He was up in a flash, and the pair clinched again, but some of the players interfered before any blood was spilled.

McGann left the hotel yesterday, saying he would not stay under the same roof with McGraw. McGann was not in yesterday's game and hostilities were not renewed.

ATTELL 2 TO 1 OVER SULLIVAN

Some Coast Fans Bet Abe Will Win on Knockout in Fifteen Rounds Tonight.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 30.—Abe Attell and "Brooklyn" Tommy Sullivan will meet for the third time in the ring tonight at the Coliseum. They fought what was called a draw last September in Alton, Ill., while four years ago Sullivan is credited with having knocked out Attell at St. Louis.

The Attell-Sullivan match, as originally made, was at 123 pounds at 5 o'clock. This weight Sullivan later found that he could not make and do justice to himself. He made this known, and through an agreement with Attell the weight limit was raised to 126 pounds at 5 o'clock.

The weighing-in will be a mere formality for Attell. He will be two and possibly more pounds under weight, so he has nothing over which to worry.

Some Bet on Knockout.

There was no change in the betting last night, Attell still holding a 2-to-1 favorite, with some money offered at even that Attell will knock out Sullivan inside of 15 rounds.

The preliminary will be between Fred Landers and Johnny Frayne, two California lightweights, and is scheduled to go 15 rounds. Both lightweights have a large following and it is said there has been more money wagered on this than on the meeting of the featherweights.

Landers has been a consistent 7-to-10 public choice for several days, as it is figured he has had more experience than his opponent. The betting is even money that Frayne will stay the limit.

YALE FOOTBALL SCHEDULE IS SHORTEST IN TEAM'S HISTORY

Only Nine Games Arranged and All but Two Are on Home Gridiron.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., April 30.—The football schedule for Yale next season has nine dates, one less than last fall, and the shortest ever arranged for a Yale team. The Alumni Weekly says the short schedule comes through natural causes and has not been forced by the faculty.

Only the games at West Point and Princeton are away from home. The dates are: Sept. 30, Wesleyan; Oct. 3, Syracuse; Oct. 10, Holy Cross; Oct. 17, West Point; Oct. 24, Washington and Jefferson; Oct. 31, Massachusetts Agricultural College; Nov. 7, Brown; Nov. 14, Princeton, and Nov. 21, Harvard in New Haven.

LINK WILL TRY TO TAME ROUGH WRESTLER TONIGHT

Prokus Will Go on in the Dollar-a-Minute Bout.

What promises to be one of the roughest wrestling matches witnessed in St. Louis in a long time is scheduled to take place at the Standard Theater this evening, when Jim Prokus, the "Greek Demon," faces Shad Link in the handicap bout, Link agreeing to throw Prokus in three minutes or forfeit $1 a minute as long as Prokus keeps his shoulders off the mat.

Prokus while in St. Louis was disqualified in two different bouts by two different referees because of rough work. He almost caused two free-for-all fights and almost cracked a stage hand's head who interfered. In Kansas City this week he is said to have dislocated a wrestler's arm. Prokus is coming from Kansas City to wrestle Link.

WRAY'S COLUMN.

THERE was once, according to Aesop, Baron Munchausen or other reliable authority, a shepherd boy who liked so well to see the townspeople run that he'd cry "Wolf!" every now and then, just to see the burghers hotfoot to the pasture and to enjoy their discomfiture when no beast was found. He became so long on this proposition that eventually nobody would give him any attention and when Mr. Wolf did come they thought his cries were the same old fakes and he was left by himself to take care of the situation.

This Cleveland baseball team seems likely to prove the wolf with a hungry light in his eye and a leaning toward the pennant fold. For several years the good fans have heard "Wolf!" shouted whenever Cleveland drew close to the flag, only to have the alarm turn out a false one. Now they have grown to believe there is no wolf in the make of Mr. Lajoie's aggregation.

That the beast has fangs, and sharp ones, however, was shown yesterday at Sportsman's Park, and there seems a strong possibility that this season, when no one is looking for the wolf act, that Cleveland will descend on the unsuspecting fold and carry off the booty.

For the Naps surely showed form yesterday. Instead of hammering out hits indiscriminately and whenever the opportunity offered, the club batted with a purpose. Its hit-and-run playing was beautiful to behold, although somewhat fortunate. Had the Naps not been hitting Pelty freely, they might have been made to seem cheap once or twice. This was the case in an attempted squeeze play, when Josh Clarke was caught a mile from home.

The men of Lajoie showed thoroughly sound baseball in all departments. With Flick and Turner back in the fray, the club should prove much stronger. Turner is one of the best shortstops in the game, and with Flick's batting to bolster up the slugging department, this aggregation seems likely to cause the shepherds of the pennant fold a lot of worry.

That Slow Ball.

RHOADES never had anything like it before.

Speed and curves had hitherto been his stock in trade, so that when he began in the first inning to unship this new thing in the shape of a pitched ball he had the Browns gasping.

It was an eerie sort of a fooler. It was thrown with all the gyrations on the part of the pitcher that attended the delivery of a fast curve. But instead of showing speed it drifted up to the batsman like a puff ball on a summer zephyr, and with the same apparent uncertainty as to ultimate direction, only to drop peacefully into the catcher's mitt at the end, leaving the batter puzzled and discomfited.

Sometimes the batsman let it go scornfully by, only to have a strike called on him; sometimes he struck at it with a manslaughtering viciousness, only to miss it entirely or to pop up a puny fly. As the game progressed each batter became more confident that his next time up he would murder that miserable little toss; but Pitcher Rhoades only fed the Browns more and more of the same sort.

In the end the slow ball of Mr. Rhoades had been hit out of the diamond exactly three times, and that this pitcher's stock in trade has been materially enhanced in value "Dusty" is ready to testify.

Certainly, for the one game at least, he had the Browns' best batters straining their eyesight trying to land on the tantalizing offering. Ferris was the only man to hit it for a clean, hard safety.

Browns Supported Pelty.

PELTY'S support was good enough to have won yesterday, but the defeat was all Barney's fault. He was in trouble in nearly every inning, and through his own mistakes or inefficiency. Even when the team behind him had made a brilliant rally and tied the score, in the very next round he weakened. In between three singles made off him in the seventh, he managed to squeeze a wild pitch and a bad throw, the latter spoiling a possible double play.

Never once during the remainder of the contest did the Browns show signs of discouragement and it was one of the pleasing features that in the last inning the team was working away just as though it had the chance of a lifetime.

McAleer seems to be in rather bad shape as to his boxmen right now. Waddell has tonsilitis and his doctor yesterday ordered the management not to use him for a day or two; Pelty is evidently still stiff and sore from his Cleveland experience; Powell is not ready; it is too cold to risk Dinneen in a full game; Graham and Bailey are too tender to take chances with at this time, when McAleer wants every game to count; while Howell has been used a great deal already. Unless warm weather sets in shortly McAleer will find himself in a serious quandary as to his pitching necessities.

With all the dangerous clubs of the league being hurled at him right now, when he should have his team at its best, it is rather unfortunate that the only department that cannot stand up to its task is this one of the pitchers. As fortune will have it, it is the most important one of all, too.

Reckless Mr. Sullivan.

BROOKLYN TOMMY SULLIVAN will tempt fate again tonight at San Francisco. Brooklyn Tommy has not forgotten that he is the only featherweight that ever knocked Attell out. He thinks he has the "sign" on Attell and can repeat the trick whenever he chooses. But from this long distance it appears that Sullivan is slipping his head into the lion's mouth at a time when the animal is in need of sustenance.

In order to make the affair have more the appearance of a fight, say 'Frisco dispatches, Attell has conceded Sullivan an additional three pounds, so that from 123 pounds at 5 p. m. Sullivan will weigh in at 126 pounds, and go into the ring scaling in the neighborhood of 129 pounds.

If there is any sap left in the red-haired one, and a few rounds of fight with it, Attell should find plenty to do to keep himself out of trouble for a time. Once this red-haired scrapper was a real live wire and he had it, in cleverness, on the best of them, at least was much of a long-fight performer, and for 10 rounds and under. He never even at his best the 20-round limit seems too long for him.

But what with long absence from the ring, difficulty in making weight and the improvement in Abe Attell in addition, Sullivan's hope of victory seems very, very limited. Sullivan has many friends here, and some of them are backing him at odds that seem foolish. In Frisco it is 2 to 1 on the Semite, and no takers at that. He who has his gold bonds invested in Sullivan will probably have little use for the coupon scissors.

BLOOD POISON

HUMILIATING—VILE—DESTRUCTIVE

The first symptom of Contagious Blood Poison is usually a little sore or ulcer, which is quickly followed by a red rash on the skin, swollen glands in the groin, falling hair, ulcerated mouth and throat, and often copper-colored splotches on different parts of the body. As the blood becomes more fully contaminated with the poison, pustular eruptions and sores break out on the flesh, and in extreme cases the nerves and bones are attacked and the finger nails drop off. Then the sufferers find themselves diseased from head to foot with this humiliating, vile and destructive poison. No other disease is so highly contagious; many an innocent person has been inoculated by handling the clothing or using the toilet articles of an infected person. There is but one certain, reliable cure for Contagious Blood Poison, and that is S. S. S. It attacks the disease in the right way by going down into the circulation, and neutralizing and forcing out every particle of the poison. It makes the blood pure and rich, tones up the system, and completely and permanently cures this disease. S. S. S. has cured thousands of cases of Contagious Blood Poison. If you are suffering with this debasing and destructive disease begin the use of S. S. S. and get the poison out of your blood before it permanently wrecks your health. We have a home treatment book on the disease which we will send free to all who wish it, and in addition our physicians will give without charge any medical advice needed. BURNS BEING PURSUED BY McVEY NOW, NEGRO BEING HERO IN EYES OF THE PARISIANS MICHIGAN

PARIS LIONIZES NEGRO FIGHTER FROM AMERICA

Willie Lewis Writes Edgren That McVey Goes to Bout in Dress Suits.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 30.—In a letter to Robert Edgren of the New York Evening World today Willie Lewis, now in Paris, tells something of how the fighting game is raising a furore there and gives some "side lights" on American fighters now in European capitals.

"This is surely a hot fighting town," Lewis begins. "I'm afraid it's too good to last. Fighting clubs are springing up all over Paris. The promoters are fighting among themselves and knocking each other in various ways and there seems to be a chance that the authorities will cut into the game sure. But it's sure good now.

In describing Tommy Burns' recent fight with Jewey Smith, Lewis writes:

"Burns is a terrific puncher. He dropped this fellow with little hooks that didn't travel six inches. He's a corking good puncher and the fastest big man I ever looked on. If you want my opinion, he'll whip Johnson to a dead certainty. Any one who picks Burns for a 'sucker' is a 'sucker' himself for doing it.

A Big Terry McGovern.

"Burns is a large edition of Terry McGovern when Terry was 'Terrible Terry.' He carries a sleep pill in either mitt and fights with a crouch that makes it hard for an opponent to reach his jaw. 'He is very short and put together compactly, but he's got an awful reach. That's the secret of his fighting. His reach is 74½ inches, about the same as Fitzsimmons'."

Lewis has a lot to say about Sam McVey and begins:

"You may be surprised to know that Sam McVey, the big Los Angeles negro, is the Parisian's fighting idol, and as soon as Burns got to Paris he was pestered to death with challenges from McVey and his followers.

They offered a purse of $20,000 for the match and Burns said to me: 'I had made up my mind to fight only one negro—Johnson—but I hate to let this money get away from me.' At the Smith fight, McVey and his backers again challenged Burns, and Tommy replied: 'Give a purse of $25,000, split $20,000 to the winner and $5000 to the loser, and a side bet of $5000, and I'll fight McVey here.'

Fight Will Draw Big.

"If they fight the scrap will draw an awful mob. Everybody in this town is crazy over McVey. They never saw anything else as big and ugly. They see him around so much they have got an idea that nearly all Americans are black.

"You ought to see that chap. He's got clothes that would make a Sixth avenue negro dude look like a ragpicker. The last time I saw him he wore a cream-colored suit that looked like silk—sort of pajama rig. He goes to fights in a carriage with a dress suit on and a big bouquet in his hand. They say society has taken him up and he has been taken around to dinners in swell houses and let sit at the table without puting a muzzle or chain on him. It must be a treat to see McVey dining with a duke.

"The 'frogs' will go crazy when Johnson comes here. And they will think we are all a dark nation for fair when those two go down the boulevard at the same time."

TAKES DAILY BEATING BUT GETS NO JOB

Temporary Instructor Randall Would Like to Know if M. A. C. Wants Him.

Some time ago "Brooklyn" Tommy Sullivan, boxing instructor of the Missouri A. C. resigned as boxing instructor at the M. A. C. A number of men applied for the position. Among the applicants was Randall, considered the cleverest lightweight boxer in St. Louis. After deliberating on the qualifications of the different men the Board of Governors sent word to Randall to appear at the club for a tryout with some of the M. A. C. members.

Randall gave the exhibition. He allowed several of the M. A. C. members to drive their rights into his solar plexus and jab their lefts into his eye. When he tired he stalled and the members could not lay a glove on him. Occasionally he would reach over and gently tap them. As a windup he would endeavor to teach them a few points of boxing.

This has been continuing daily for two weeks. Randall did not mind the regular members of the M. A. C. much, but when the boxing squad heard that Randall was at the club, they hunted him up.

The amateurs are wise to the tricks of the trade. They wait until Randall has boxed with several of the regular M. A. C. heavyweights and when he has slowed down they take him on. They made an enjoyable performance out of sailing into Eddie that in self-defense he was forced to let out a rap or two, in other words, a couple of stiff pots that soon convinced the amateurs that there is a big difference between the amateur and professional fighter. But nevertheless, Kirk, Shelton, Krause and other M. A. C. amatuers are hard punchers and besides know the game.

Randall is becoming nervous. He cannot see where he will land. A number of the members of the M. A. C. offered him money for boxing lessons when they found that he has not been appointed boxing instructor. Randall refused the money. The rules of the club prohibit employees from receiving money from members and Randall did not wish to violate the club rules, even before he received the position as boxing instructor. But the board does not show any inclination to take up his case. So far as he can learn frm the members who are boxing with him and the members of the baxing squad his try-out is perfectly satisfactory.

Randall intends to keep plugging along for a while longer.

MARATHON FIELD INCREASE TO 31

Entries for Saturday's M. A. C. Twenty-Five Mile Run Close Tonight.

Out-of-town athletes, who are entered for the Missouri A. C. Marathon race to be held over a course from Freeburg, Ill., to the Missouri A. C. Saturday, are expected to begin arriving this evening. All of the men who will compete will have to undergo a physical examination tomorrow afternoon at the M. A. C. to determine whether they are in fit physical condition to withstand the 25-mile grind.

Fourteen additional entries for the race were received yesterday, which brings the total number of men who are carded to start up to 31, with the possibilities favoring at least four more entries coming in before the entry list for the contest closes this evening.

Three more Chicago men entered yesterday. They are: Harry Berger, William Trasier and George Vick. The trio will wear the colors of the Armour Square Athletic Club of the Windy City. W. M. Campbell, Clarence Horn and J. E. Greenrod, all of Belleville, Ill., sent in their entries yesterday.

The other entries include that of R. J. Reed of Oklahoma, J. W. Barbee of the Central Y. M. C. A., Walter Parkinson, E. J. Murphy, L. Perry and E. A Smith, all local unattached men, have decided to start in the race, as has W. T. Garhard of East St. Louis.

GRIFFIN COMING TO MEET ATTELL

English Fighter Says That He Will Fight Under Any Conditions.

NEW YORK, April 30.—A cable dispatch from London says that Charley Griffin, the Australian featherweight champion who whipped Bowker Monday, intends to sail for New York within a fortnight. Griffin said:

"I am going after Abe Attell and am prepared to fight him under almost any conditions and I think I can beat him."

Griffin is a sturdy lad, 24 years old. He has been fighting for four years and has a long list of victories.

In the fight with Bowker the odds were 3 to 1 against Griffin.

There is much criticism of Burns here because he insists upon impossible financial conditions for the match. The general sporting opinion of London is that Burns ought to meet Johnson. This is editorially pointed out in the Sportsman.

President Herrmann and Manager Ganzel of the Reds have turned down several offers for Outfielder Tommy Daley. The youngster will be carried by the club until such time as arrangements can be made to place him where he may be purchased back for the Reds later on.

Private Fred Tenney is working in perfect harmony with Capt. Mike Donlin of the New York Giants. Fred has Mike beaten a city block when it comes to quoting Virgil, but the Captain is there strong with the rasmatas phrasing of the up-to-date writers.

It is no longer Sam Strang. The clever New York substitute player has decided to abandon his nom de diamond and use his correct name, Nicklin. So it will appear hereafter.

Some "Queen Quality" Shoe statistics are interesting. It's the largest factory of women's shoes in the world. Over 3600 hands are employed. The pay roll is $12 a minute. The output is about one "Queen Quality" Shoe every second, or a retail cash business of $100 a minute. The saving per year to the 3,000,000 women who wear "Queen Quality" Shoes is incalculable. MICHIGAN FIGURES VICTORY IN EAST

Westerners Expecting Individual Stars of Small Colleges to Divide Points.

ANN ARBOR, Mich., April 30.—If the small colleges of the East with their individual stars will only come through as well as they have done in recent years and clip points from the possibilities of the big Eastern universities, Michigan's chances of winning the Eastern intercollegiate meet in Philadelphia on May 30 will be just a little bit better than those of any other participant.

According to what the Michiganders say, Yale, Cornell and Pennsylvania are going to be at each other's throats, and with Michigan going for every possible point, 26 tallies ought to take the big meet. It will be no question of a brilliant dual meet, such as last season's bitter contest for first, between Michigan and Pennsylvania.

For instance, both Yale and Penn are strong on sprinters this spring. One or the other has to lose. The points will be split galley-west. So much the better for Michigan, depending upon her distance men. Then Yale, with Dray, and Cornell with Cook will scrap in the pole vault. Another split. Good again.

Now, if Swarthmore will take a first here, as she may with Krueger in the weights, and Syracuse land a first there, and some other college pick up another, springing surprise on the three big Eastern contenders, as they have each succeeding year for a decade, the chances of Yale, Cornell and Penn will be cut down still more.

PALACE TEAM NOW LEADS IN CITY BOWLING TITLE SERIES

De Soto Stars Defeated in Second Match, Where Total Pins Count in Final.

In the second match of the roll-off of the three-cornered tie for the tenpin championship of the city, the Palace team secured 2812 pins to 2808 for the De Soto Stars. The championship is to be decided by the total number of pins.

The Palace team is now out in the lead, having run up a much larger total than the Witter-Christens in the first match of the roll-off Tuesday night. There are several matches yet to be rolled before the championship will be decided.

Chicago Billiard Player Easily Wins Game in International Cue Tournament.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 30.—Calvin W. Demarest of Chicago and Charles L. Conklin, also of Chicago, were the winners in the international amateur billiard tournament matches played yesterday. Demarest displayed excellent form and won from Fred W. Gardner of Passaic, N. J., 400 to 216.

NELSON DEFEATS CANOLE IN 15-ROUND BOUT AT BOSTON

Martin Weakens Toward the End and Strikes Several Low Blows.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

BOSTON, April 30.—Dick Nelson of New York won from Martin Canole on points in a 15-round bout at the Standard Athletic Club at Lymansville last night. Nelson, although showing the effects of his bout with Young Kloby, put up a clever battle. He used a straight left and right cross and scored repeatedly, but not with enough effect to put Canole away.

Martin put up a good bout for eight rounds, but then appeared to weaken, and in the last round he came in for considerable criticism for landing several low blows. Nelson showed no effect from the punishment, however, and made a rattling finish.

CHADWICK RECALLS PROMISE OF MONUMENT IN HIS WILL

A. G. Spalding Is Reminded to Perpetuate Memory of "Father of Baseball."

NEW YORK, April 30.—"I remind A. G. Spalding of his promise to me that a monument shall be erected over my grave in Greenwood Cemetery." That statement appears in the will of Henry Chadwick, which has been filed for probate in Brooklyn yesterday.

Mr. Chadwick, who died April 20, was known as the "Father of Baseball." His estate, which, it is stated in the will, is valued at $500 in real estate and $500 in personal property, is left to his widow.

ONLY CENTRAL WILL SEND FULL TRACK TEAM TO MEET

Red and Black Anxious to Duplicate Victory in the Columbia Games.

Central High School is the only local school that will be represented by its full track team at the annual State championship interscholastic meet to be held at Columbia, Mo., Saturday under the auspices of Missouri University. Central High won the State championship last year and the wearers of the red and black are especially anxious to duplicate their success.

McKinley High School, Yeatman High School and Manual Training will be represented by small squads, if at all, because it was impossible to secure special railroad rates for the trip. How many athletes from Kansas City will compete in the meet is not known, but it is expected that the number will be small.

COULON PUTTING OUT CLIFF WHEN REFEREE STOPS BOUT

Champion Bantamweight Starts in to End Fight With Dream Punch.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WAUKEGAN, Ill., April 30.—Johnny Coulon of Chicago retained his title as champion bantamweight last night, when at the finish of the ninth round of a whirlwind fight with Tommy Scully, the Stockyards champion, Referee Cliff gave him the decision and stopped the fight.

The fight was rather even in the first half, but beginning with the fifth round Coulon took advantage of Scully's wildness and waded in, landing right and left and giving Scully a terrible beating before the referee stopped the bout.

Frank L. Chance announces that he will donate a silver loving cup of good value and massive size to the best amateur club in Chicago, the award to be made after this season's campaign. The trophy will be known as the Frank L. Chance loving cup.

MILLION DOLLAR BABY WILL SLEEP IN CRADLE VALUED AT A THOUSAND

Lullaby Bed for Chicago Infant Is Carved From Rarest French Rosewood.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 30.—The costliest cradle ever imported to the United States was the subject of discussion by the United States Board of General Appraisers, who, in their offices, at Washington and Christopher streets, declared the cradle to be worth at least $1000.

A few days ago the cradle arrived from France. A firm of brokers had been authorized to receive it for a Chicago millionaire, whose name has been kept secret. When the port officials examined the cradle they found it was constructed of the rarest rosewood. Every piece of decoration was hand carved by experts. Cherubs and fairies adorned the sides of the little swinging vehicle, and mattresses and coverlets of the finest silk and wool were appurtenances of the costly cot.

The appraisers appraised 60 per cent of the cost price on the cradle, but the firm representing the Chicago millionaire appealed and the Federal board had to decide.

Neither the millionaire nor his representatives appeared yesterday during the hearing, and the board decided that the 60 per cent duty should hold by default.

Mrs. Samstag was before her marriage Miss Evelne Scharff and was one of the prettiest and most popular girls in Columbian Club circles. Mrs. Samstag will wear her wedding gown of point lace over chiffon and carry pink roses. The bride will wear a princess robe of mesaline satin, fashioned empire. Her long tulle veil will be confined by a chaplet of orange blossoms and she will carry bridal roses and lilacs. There will be no maid of honor or bridemaids.

Mr. Barkhouse will have as his attendants Mr. Bert Rauh of Cincinnati, Dr. Eugene Scharff, his cousin; Mr. Edward E. Scharff, Mr. Leo Bauman, Mr. Alvin Bauman, Mr. Max Hellman and Mr. Sidney Scharff.

The bride wore a gown of white hand-embroidered batiste and carried bride roses. Her hat was of white lace and purple lilacs. Miss Mary Butterfield was the bride's only attendant. Dr. Young's brother, Harry Young, was best man. After a wedding breakfast at the Butterfield farm, Dr. Young and his bride departed for a brief journey. After May 15 they will be with Mrs. Caroline Young of 2344 Park avenue, until the completion of their own home in Benton place.

PHILADELPHIA SQUAB BEATS ANYTHING IN EUROPE, SAYS FAMOUS CHEF FROM ABROAD

Escoffier Says Foreign Hotels Can Teach Our Cooks Nothing About Food.

NEW YORK, April 30.—"I find that in America the best food in the world is served," said Mr. Escoffier, the famous European chef, on the eve of his departure for Europe, after a week's stay. "It's good food; it is well cooked. If I were a younger man—I am past 60 now—I would come to New York. The best hotels in Europe have nothing to give that a man cannot get in New York."

Mr. Escoffier then announced his intention to return to New York at the first opportunity, in November if he could, that he might get a taste of the famous American turkey, but not later than March in any event.

"I came here," said Mr. Escoffier, "chiefly for one purpose. That was to find out the best way to satisfy the demands of the grand army of Americans who each year come to Europe, to see how they eat in the best American hotels and cafes, what they prefer, how the food is served. I find that Europe can teach your New York hotels and cafes nothing. Americans certainly eat better and are better fed than any other people in the world."

"What did you find to be the best American dish?"

"Philadelphia squab. Such squab cannot be had in all Europe or any other place."

SENATE BILL'S COMPLICATED TITLE CAUSES STATESMAN TO FANCY CLERK WAS INSANE

Measure to Amend Act Entitled Act to Amend Act Amending Act, Etc., Passes.

By Wire From the Washington Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Senator Teller called up a bill in the Senate yesterday, giving its number, and asked that it be passed.

"The Clerk will read it," said the Vice-President, but the Clark had not gone far before Senator Kean of New Jersey, the eagle eye of the Senate, was on his feet, apparently to interpose an objection.

"It's all right. Don't object," whispered Senator Gallinger, who sat near Senator Kean.

The Clerk resumed reading: "An act to amend an act entitled an act to amend an act"—

"Mr. President," interrupted Mr. Kean.

"I tell you it's all right," whispered Mr. Gallinger again.

"It's not the bill I object to. It's the clerk," Mr. Kean whispered back.

"What's the matter with him?" asked Mr. Gallinger.

"I don't know," said Mr. Kean, "but it's evident that there is no bill with that ridiculous title."

"He was reading correctly," asserted Mr. Gallinger. "Just let him finish."

So the Clerk began all over again: "A bill to amend an act entitled an act to amend an act amending the act entitled an act to authorize the receipts of United States gold coin in exchange for gold bars."

"Good Lord, is that really the title of that bill?" exclaimed Mr. Kean. "I honestly thought the clerk had gone suddenly insane."

The bill was passed.

COOKING SCHOOLS FOR BRIDES URGED

Englishman Declares Housekeeping Is Becoming Lost Art.

LONDON, April 23.—That girls while in school should be taught domestic science, and that newly married women should be required to attend cooking schools for the first few months of their matrimonial career, is the contention of Dr. Brown, chairman of the Preston Public Health Committee.

Housekeeping is becoming a lost art, Dr. Brown declares. He attributes this to compulsory education, to the early age at which girls go out to full time employment and to the increasing prevalency of drinking among women.

"School attendance was not compulsory before 1870," he says, "and many girls then remained at home and learned how to cook and mind the house.

"Now they have to spend most of their time at school. They go out to full time employment when they are 14, and in the evenings they are too tired to take sufficient interest in household work to equip themselves for the greater responsibilities on marriage.

"Moreover, compulsory education has lessened the dignity of domestic work.

"I feel strongly that if the housewife is to occupy and improve upon the position of 30 years ago the girls attending schools must be compelled to attend domestic training centers, such as have just been opened in Preston—and newly married women, too, would greatly benefit by practicing tuition during the first few months of their married life."

SCHOOL CHILDREN TO AID IN CLEANING UP EAST ST. LOUIS

All Residents Expected to Rake Their Premises and Alleys May 8—9.

East St. Louis will put on its summer garb May 8 and 9, those being declared "clean-up" days by the East St. Louis Board of Health Wednesday afternoon. All East Side school children will be asked to exercise their energy Saturday, May 9, by assisting the grown folks in the battle with the accumulated rubbish.

Mayor Cook's formal proclamation asks East Side residents to join the cleaning brigade on those days and brush up their lots and surroundings, whitewash trees, paint fences, rake loose brush and rubbish to the alleys and beautify their premises in general. City wagons will be furnished to haul the tin cans and refuse from the alleys.

A resolution was adopted by the Board that in the future no dairies will be established within the city limits of East St. Louis. The Board authorized the preparation of an ordinance prohibiting burials in St. Henry's Cemetery after June 1.

OWNERS OF STOCK APPEAL TO COURT TO STOP TAXATION

Contend That Shares in Foreign Corporations Are Exempt Under the Law.

In a suit brought in the Circuit Court Thursday against members of the St. Louis Board of Equalization by the executors of the estate of Meade C. Williams of St. Louis, it is alleged that, under the Missouri law, shares of stock in foreign corporations are not liable to taxation. This contention, if sustained, will materially decrease the taxes of numbers of St. Louisans.

The plaintiffs in the suit, Elizabeth R., Tyrell and David R. Williams, state in their petition that the Meade C. Williams estate is the owner of 340 shares of stock in the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne & Chicago Railway Co., and of 260 shares in the Grand Rapids & Indiana Railway Co. The Board of Equalization, they allege, increased the assessment of the estate to include these shares. They declare this to have been illegal, and ask a writ of certiorari, to compel the Board of Equalization to bring before the Court the record of the assessment.

The defendants in the case are John J. O'Brien, Daniel Dillon, A. H. Frederick, Michael Hammel and John H. Gumlach.

BELLEVILLE WILL CLEAN HOUSE BY MAYOR'S ORDER

Dirt will fly in Belleville Friday. The busy housewife will draft her husband into her service and together they will dig out the accumulations of a winter and pitch it in the street to be hauled off by the city's garbage wagons.

Mayor Kern recently set apart Friday and Saturday as proper days on which to clean up. In a proclamation he asked all householders to throw their trash into the streets or alleys and promised that the city's wagons would remove it.

Bird's Peck Endangers Two Lives.

From the New York American.

John Kemp, a photographer of Paterson, N. J., and his wife, are in a serious, if not critical, condition from blood poisoning following the bite of a pet parrot.

Mr. Kemp was playing with the parrot a week ago. The bird was scolding and crying with anger, and instead of jumping and perching upon his finger as usual it pecket it and drew the blood.

A piece of flesh not much bigger than a pin head was pecked out of the finger. Mr. Kemp thought nothing of it until a couple of days ago, when the wound became inflamed and it was found that blood poisoning had set in. The flesh was cut away and antiseptics applied.

The poisoning developed so rapidly that yesterday another cutting was necessary. Mrs. Kemp was holding her husband's hand during the cutting. The pain of the knife was such that he sunk the nails of his clenched fingers into the flesh of his wife's hand.

Almost before the pain of the injury had departed blood poisoning developed in the hand of the woman, and an operation was necessary, so rapidly did the affected area increase.

Unarmed Brothers Kill Tiger.

From the Indian Daily Telegraph.

Two brothers, Khuda Bakhs and Shaikh Abdule Ghani, of Moradabad, were dispatched recently to Rampur on an errand, and while entering a grove at Khadpura a tiger sprang upon Khuda Bakhs, who, being an athlete, warded off the blow aimed at him with his right hand and caught one of the paws with the other and maintained his hold, though the tiger was mauling the other hand.

Abdul Ghani now rushed up with a stout stick, which he forced down the tiger's throat, making it release his brother's hand, when Khuda Baks seized another paw with his wounded hand, forcing both the paws back. He wrestled with the tiger, keeping it down by sheer force, while Abdul Ghani belabored it with his lathi and killed it.

The tiger was carried by the brothers to his highness, the Nawab of Rampur, "who kept the skin as a memento and sent Khuda Bakhs to the state dispensary for treatment."

N. Y. STOCKS ARE WEAKER AT CLOSING

Final Quotations in All Prominent Issues Are Under Opening.

NEW YORK, April 30, 10 a. m.—The weakness that was in evidence in the final hour of the market Wednesday was continued this morning. With the exceptions of a few stocks, prices slumped sharply. The exceptions were of no significance whatever, as they were only ⅛ above their closing quotations. Reading was the only stock to open at parity. Recessions ranged from ⅛ to 1 point.

St. Paul and Northern Pacific showed the heaviest losses in the initial trading, each being 1 point lower. Atchison was ¾ off and B. R. T., Canadian Pacific and Pennsylvania ½ point each.

The early trading, while of fair dimensions, was not as large or as active as the corresponding period Wednesday. St. Paul was the leader of the market during the first half hour.

This stock also led in the advances which were recorded in the early trading.

Union and Southern Pacific, Reading, Pennsylvania, Northern Pacific and Great Northern gained ⅛ point each in the first half hour, St. Paul 1⅛ and Atchison, Canadian Pacific and B. R. T. ⅛ point each.

Missouri Pacific receded ¼ in the first 15 minutes.

The copper stocks were a small fraction higher and the steels a little under parity.

Industrial stocks were generally inactive.

American stocks in London were heavy and from ⅛ to ⅝ lower than their closing.

NEW YORK, April 30.—12:30 p. m.—The feature of the market during the forenoon hours was the sensational slump in Westinghouse, which dropped 7 points from its opening. The reason assigned for the depression in this stock is a hitch in the reorganization plan.

Almost the entire list receded, the only exception being Northern Pacific and St. Paul, the former advancing ¼ and the latter ⅜. Atchison and B. R. T. were unchanged. All the industrial stock suffered losses ranging from ¼ to ⅝.

Although New York Central was not very active, it lost almost a point. The Harriman Pacifics declined ⅛ point each, and Great Northern and Reading the same amount.

Losses in other issues ranged from ¼ to ⅝.

The market closed weak and in a majority of stocks below the opening figures.

TICKER TALK.

Call money on the New York Exchange opened at 1¼ per cent Thursday.

NEW YORK, April 30.—The decline in Westinghouse is said to be on rumors of a hitch in the company's financial plans. It opened at 55 and dropped to 46 before noon.

ST. LOUIS MONEY MARKET.

As usual, the fact that United States deposits have been recalled from national banks has no effect on the St. Louis situation. This is merely a reflex of the scant treatment accorded institutions in this vicinity during the period of real stress. The fact that they weathered the financial storms of 1907 with little or none of the assistance which the Treasury Department accorded other and smaller reserve centers certainly is a point not to be forgotten in the near future.

Commercial paper has been less in demand this week, owing to the decline in rates and competition between Eastern and Western bankers for high-grade names. Financiers in this part of the country assert that much of the paper is being marketed on a prohibitively low basis and that they cannot loan money with profit at 4½ and 4½ per cent.

TRADING SLOWER AT 1ST SESSION OF EXCHANGE

Volume of Business Lighter Than for the Same Period Wednesday.

The volume of trading at the first session of the St. Louis Stock Exchange Thursday was considerably lighter than for the same period Wednesday. Prices were almost the same as have ruled during the week. Railways preferred were a small shade easier, Thursday's figures being 64¾, against 64⅞ for Wednesday.

The feature of the last session was the strength and activity in United Railways 5s, which went from 80 to 80¼, the last sales being in 5000 lots.

NEW YORK, April 30.—The Wall Street Journal says: "The net earnings of the United States Steel Corporation for the current month ought to compare favorably with the showing in the month of January, when they were close to $5,800,000. As the returns from the subsidiary companies for April will not be in until after the first of next month earnings must necessarily be estimated on the percentage operations of the mills. Interests of the Steel Corporation themselves will have no idea of what the showing for April will be for two or three weeks. The guess that net earnings for April will run close to those of January is based upon the fact that the percentage production of the mills corresponded closely with the output in the first month of the year.

"The April earnings of the United States Steel Corporation over a series of years follow:

Month of April.	Net Earnings.
1907	14,600,837

NEW YORK, April 30.—The Wall Street Journal says: "The overwhelming success of the new Pennsylvania bond offering is the most important financial event of this year.

"Its importance is far greater than even the providing for the money needs of the Pennsylvania Railroad, important as that is. Its chief importance is in the disclosure which it makes of a returning confidence on the part of the American investors. It demonstrates, beyond a doubt, that there is money to be had for American railways possessing high credit, and for securities that unite the attractiveness of a bargain with the quality of safety.

"This fact must form the basis of reviving business in this country. It may not be too much to say that the success of this loan marks the end of the panic, and the beginning of financial improvement.

"It is significant that the names of the Rothschilds and Barings are attached to this great bond offer, for this indicates a revived European confidence in American investments. Equally notable is the fact that this whole financial operation is marked by broad mindedness on the part of both the railroad management and the bankers."

WASHINGTON.—The Secretary of the Treasury has announced a further call upon the national banks for approximately $45,000,000, of which $20,000,000 is to be paid on or before May 9, and the remaining $25,000,000 on or before May 23, 1908.

Monkeys Run the Ship.

From the Boston Globe.

The German freighter Braunfels came into port this afternoon from Calcutta, after a series of adventures. When the freighter left Ceylon she had aboard four hundred monkeys, a lot of tigers, leopards and snakes, and a big cargo of rum and molasses.

When about a week out an orang-outang got loose and went around breaking open the monkey cages. Before the crew could stop him the four hundred monkeys were roaming around the decks. They got into the cargo, got drunk on rum and emptied molasses over everything. To add to the trouble the tiger and leopard also broke loose. The crew was powerless and the ship was given over to the animals until she docked.

NATIVE CATTLE—Two-thirds of the day's light supply were natives and a few good steers were included, the best selling around $6.75, with most of the day's sales of beef steers between $6.10 and $6.50. The market for heavy cattle was slow, with prices about steady, while the lightweight and medium steers sold strong to 10c higher.

There was a good demand for the butcher cattle received, and they sold actively at steady prices, best heifers bringing $6.35 and cows $5.85.

The calf trade was on a steady basis, the top again being $6.25.

Lack of suitable supplies prevented much business in the stocker and feeder division, but the few on offer sold readily at strong prices.

HOGS—The market opened active and 10@15c higher, there being a good demand from all buyers. The top of the market was up to $5.90 for several loads, showing a clear gain over the top yesterday of 15c, but some of the mixed hogs were not more than 10c higher, while the common pigs and lights were no better at all.

The shippers were the best buyers, but still the city butchers and packers were better buyers than usual. Most of the butcher hogs sold at $5.85, while the best packers sold at $5.80@5.90 and the fair ones at $5.60@5.75. Lights weighing less than 160 pounds sold up to $5.85, with the bulk of the good ones bringing $5.50@5.75, while the fair ones sold from $5@5.40 and poor grades from $4@4.90. Good pigs sold up to $4.75, but common ones sold from $3@4, the same as earlier days this week.

HORSES AND MULES—A very active session was held in the bull ring during the morning. Quality predominated and proved an incentive for exceptionally vigorous competition. All classes of big horses and drivers are on a higher basis, while others are unchanged.

The mule trade is dull and quiet. Good full-made, full-aged kinds are scarce this week. The few available sold in good season at steady prices. Movement on off kinds draggy.

WHEAT PRICES SLIGHTLY LOWER

Liquidation in May Weakens Entire List After Early Sharp Advance.

Wheat prices acted quite stubborn at fractionally higher levels Thursday morning, but May yielded under general sales of an evening up character, delivery date being only one day distant now, and this carried the entire list down to slightly lower levels. The market at the outset was very strong, the general news still being of a decidedly bullish character, and prices were bid up quite sharply. Foreign markets showed a good response to our advance of yesterday, Liverpool coming ⅜d to 1¼d higher, and good advances also being scored on the Continent. The statistical position continues strong, all markets, but especially Minneapolis, reporting good decreases in stocks. Receipts in the Northwest and at most winter markets were again very light, and a fair export demand was reported at the seaboard. Prices early responded well to these factors, but when the liquidation in May set in, the market developed a tendency to ease off, although there was still a good demand for the deferred options.

May wheat opened ⅝@¾c higher at 96⅞@97c, declined to 96⅝c, advanced to 97c and was offered down to 95⅞c. July wheat opened ⅜@½c higher at 85⅛@85⅜c, advanced to 85⅜c and declined to 84⅝c. Sept. wheat opened ⅜c higher at 82⅝c, advanced to 82¾c and declined to 82⅛c.

Primary receipts of wheat were 318,000 bu and shipments 353,000 bu. Local receipts were 25,000 bu and shipments 34,000 bu.

May corn started with bids ⅛c higher at 65c and was offered at 64⅞c. July corn opened ⅛@¼c higher at 62¼c and declined to 62c.

May oats sold ⅛c lower at 47½c.

Man's Body Hard as Stone.

From the Philadelphia Press.

With his jaw tightly locked and every muscle in his body rigid and hard as stone, William Houser, 35 years old, was last evening taken in an unconscious condition to the Samaritan Hospital by the police, who believed the man was becoming petrified. Fifteen minutes later Houser left the institution on foot, apparently as well as ever.

He was found standing against a house at Mervine and Cambria streets and a patrol wagon was called. Houser was loaded in, being placed across the seats like a log of wood. At the hospital the doctors diagnosed his case as neurasthenia. One of the doctors pried the patient's jaws open and immediately all his stiffened muscles relaxed. In a moment he was conscious and inquired where he was. He was unable to account for his condition, and declared he had never before been so affected.

One hundred molders employed in the Enterprise, Oakland, Crown and Eagle foundries in Belleville went on a strike because their employers made a cut of 25 per cent in their wages. The men had been working for $1.25 a "piece" on piece work and the employers reduced this price to $1. The foundry owners say they cannot compete with other jobbing shops in the district if they have to pay $1.25 for piece work. The other foundries in Belleville are not affected by the strike.

WIFE PINS ROSES ON COATS OF JURORS WHO ACQUIT HER HUSBAND OF MURDER CHARGE

Overjoyed Woman Then Throws Armful of Flowers to Judge, Attorneys and Spectators.

HOLDENVILLE, Ok., April 30.—Overjoyed by the acquittal of her husband, who was accused of murder, Mrs. C. E. Sneed held the jurors following their dismissal by the Court until she had pinned a rose on the lapel of each man's coat and then she cast an armful of flowers promiscuously around the courtroom, judges, lawyers and spectators all sharing in the distribution. Sneed, in his enthusiasm, grabbed the jurors by the hand, two at a time, and nearly upset his wife's plans for decorating the men who tried the case. Afterward he burst into tears.

Sneed was charged with the murder of Deputy Sheriff David Cox on Jan. 21. The accused man operated a shooting gallery, at the rear end of which Cox was killed.

The defense was that the killing was accidental, that Cox was examining a revolver with a view to purchasing it, when it was discharged. The verdict of not guilty was received with applause by the spectators.

RAILROAD PRESIDENT'S SON GETS DISGUSTED WITH THE BUSINESS AS HE WORKS UP

BENJAMIN L. WINCHELL.

Young Mr. Winchell Prefers to Sell Wire After Observing "Grief" of Father's Line.

CHICAGO, April 3.—Benjamin L. Winchell Jr., son of the president of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railroad Co., has abandoned his prospects in the service of the railroad company for a position in the sales department of a wire company. He has found from the experiences of his father, he says, that the life of a railroad official is made full of grief by the incessant demands of politicians. He began in the Rock Island service as rodman two and a half years ago, and was rising step by step.

BRIDGE HIGHWAYMAN DROWNED

East Side Police Think He Couldn't Have Stemmed Creek's Current.

W. L. Kell of Kell, Ill., who was attacked on Eads Bridge Sunday night by two highwaymen, one of whom leaped off the viaduct into Cahokia Creek to escape policemen, said Thursday that James Anderson, arrested in St. Louis as a suspect, was not the man who participated in robbing him. Anderson was identified by a St. Louis negro as one of two men who robbed him.

East St. Louis policemen are of the opinion that the man who leaped into the creek was drowned. They do not think it was possible for him to have escaped from the swift stream.

BANKS INVOLVED IN 40 MILLION-DOLLAR CRASH

Police Investigate Suspicious Business Deals With Rochette.

"FINANCIER" IN PRISON

Desperate Efforts Made to Obtain His Release, but All Fail.

HE MEETS HIS WIFE

Tearful Scene Is Enacted in Examining Magistrate's Office.

Special Correspondence From Paris Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

PARIS, April 14.—Department of Justice officials are conducting an examination of numerous Paris financial institutions that, it is said, will involve several bankers in suspicious transactions with Henri Rochette, the promoter who, in three years and four months, rose from poverty to be managing director of 16 corporations in which the people of France invested upwards of $10,000,000. Seizures have been made of the books of suspected banking institutions and the Rochette case, just at the moment when it seemed to be assuming a very simple form, has become again extremely complicated.

Rochette, who is still in La Sante Prison, continues to clamor for his release. He has addressed repeated appeals to the examining magistrate for admission to bail, stockholders in his concerns have petitioned the Department of Justice individually and collectively for his provisional release, his friends have exerted every avilable influence in Parliament to bring about his freedom, and his employes have signed document after document professing their firm belief in his innocence. But all these cries have fallen on deaf ears. The Department of Justice has refused to act and the examining magistrate has only one answer to all petitioners in the "financier's" behalf: "Rochette will not be freed."

Politicians Involved.

Politicians continue to be mentioned in the public discussions of the case. It now seems clear that the fact that Rochette's arrest had been decided on was known to some before the event took place and that they turned their secret information to profitable account in the markets and elsewhere. Several are said to have sold "the tip" for substantial considerations.

The Rochette banks have resumed operations and have met all demands so far as depositors are concerned. Some of the mining and other companies are also being conducted as before the crash, but there is no more information at hand regarding their stability than was obtainable prior to Rochette's arrest. The stockholders have held two large meetings, but what they have ascertained has come from the managers, who have all along publicly insisted that the numerous concerns were solvent.

The fourth attempt made to obtain bail for the "Napoleon of Finance," though it resulted in failure, did bring him and his wife together. Both burst into tears and fell into one another's arms. Just at this critical moment, M. Berr, the examining magistrate, came out of his room and at first was on the point of ordering the two guards in charge of Rochette to separate him from his wife, for he had given strict orders that he was to be allowed to talk to nobody.

Magistrate Is Discreet.

He thought better of this decision, however, went back into his room as though he had forgotten something, and as he walked past M. and Mme. Rochette the second time turned his head the other way and lit a cigarette. He remained away for a quarter of an hour, after which he returned and examined the prisoner.

After the interview with her husband, Mme. Rochette, her eyes red from weeping, declared to waiting newspaper correspondents that her husband was certain the charges against him would fall through. "He has assured me today," she said, "that he is the victim of maneuvers of his enemies and says he will be able to prove it to the satisfaction of his judges."

Public confidence in Rochette does not seem to be greatly shaken. His friends are just as staunch as ever and his enemies now frankly admit that he has been extremely steady in his private life, a model husband and father, a dutiful son and not extravagant in his habits. His one fault, they say, is his optimism. He got along so rapidly that he reckoned too confidently on the success of his ventures and therefore was tempted to allow himself the risky latitude in his speculations that has resulted in bringing him into trouble with the law. This seems to be the most severe view now taken of the case. All concede that he might have run off to a safe place weeks ago with millions had he chosen to do so.

He Is Farmer's Son.

Interesting chapters have been added to the young man's history since his arrest. It appears that he is the son of a small farmer near Melun, in which neighborhood the country chateau of Mme. Humbert lies. His mother daily took milk, eggs and garden stuff in a little wogan to Melun for house-to-house sales. The whole family had a good name, but nothing above the common. The sons went to the public school of Melun. There the one now in La Sante rose above his fellows as a bright, willing lad and a good scholar, getting quickly through the standards. In the last year he had risen to the post of monitor, which entitled him to 12 months' extra instruction, and would have opened to him a high Government school had he been in less haste to follow his vocation, which was to make money and see life away from the paternal farm.

To this end he, though his wife's family now denies it, against the affirmation of all Melun and much particular evidence, obtained the place of "buttons" in the Hotel de la Gare. There he beat all the touts in drawing strangers to that hotel. The touts, porters and cabbies combined against the wide-awake youth to make his situation too hot for him to keep it. He became a hairdresser's assistant. His quickness soon made him a favorite.

Was Grocer's Clerk.

In the face of a denial from his wife's family, M. Mauvrier, a grocer at Melun, asserts that Rochette served him as salesman and in helping to keep the accounts. He left this position to serve his three years in the army. There he became secretary and accountant to the Colonel and turned many a penny writing articles on military subjects and furnishing gossip to a journal of the town where his regiment was located. He also wrote a farce that was acted on the birthday of the Colonel, thereby winning high favor with the officers' wives.

After he left the army, Rochette inherited about $7000 from a miserly aunt. He invested the money at low interest and went to Paris to live, depending wholly on his salary for support. He served in a number of cafes, joined a shorthand and typewriting class and finally married, his wife bringing him a dowry of $1300.

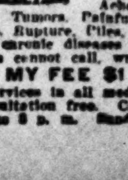

Reorganizes a Bank.

At the time of his marriage he was secretary to a financier whose bank came to grief. Ideas he had picked up caused him to set about saving the institution from the wrek. A certain M. de la Fremoise believed in him, and in advancing what money he wanted to float, in 1904, Le Credit Minier set Rochette's foot in the stirrup. This friend has since been proving his faith by assisting him with sums making a total of nearly $1,250,000, and embracing his and his mother's entire fortunes.

It makes one's head giddy to read of the long list of companies formed and financed and bought when low down by Rochette to be afresh inflated. He must have wanted to be a colliery, a zinc, and a copper king, and he had Spanish tin-mines in his eye that ought to make the Duchy of Cornwall look small. In picking up the copper mines of Nerva last year and issuing new shares, he cleared a personal profit of $1,100,000. He had secured the good word of most of the papers by sending them advertisements and wholesale subscriptions.

ROOSEVELT WILL SET GOVERNORS MERRY PACE

Eighteen Hours of Actual Talking Time to Discuss Sixteen of the Biggest Problems in the Country.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—When the governors of all the states and leading business men gather at the White House next month to talk about conservation of natural resources, they will get a lesson from President Roosevelt on how to get busy.

They will see how the President manages to cram into his daily routine the study of spelling reform, Gaelic poetry and a score of other side lines, in addition to politics and running the Government.

The conference will last only three days, but in addition to attending banquets and receptions, the governors will be expected under the President's leadership to thrash out the following subjects:

Mining and mine economy.
Problems of the coal miners.
Railroad management and control.
Waterways development.
Co-ordination of rivers, canals and railroads.
Use of water power.
Preservation of fuel supply.
Forest preservation.
Irrigation.
Electrification of the railways.
Soil improvement.
The crops.
Sanitation and public health.
Drainage of swamp lands.
Grazing and stock raising.
Increase of population.

For the consideration of these big problems there will be six sessions of the delegates, two daily, each about three hours long. This will give a total of 18 hours, or a little more than one hour to each of the questions proposed.

Carnegie on Ore Lands.

Andrew Carnegie will discuss mining, telling how methods can be improved, mineral supply used economically and dangers to miners decreased.

John Mitchell will talk about the same problems from the miner's standpoint.

James J. Hill will lead the discussion of railroad and transportation problems. Government experts on the other subjects will make addresses.

After these leaders have outlined their ideas the President will put it up to the governors to study out how all the subjects discussed are related. They will talk about how the railroads need the rivers and how the rivers need irrigation, drainage, forests and soil improvement.

Drainage will lead to the questions of health and sanitation.

Mining will be shown to be related to rivers and railroads because the railroads are using up most of the minerals and ores and the rivers can take the railroads' place and thus save the minerals.

New Laws Needed.

When they get through the governors are expected to have a pretty clear idea that all the questions are only one question. That question, in the President's mind, is a question of conservation of natural resources.

As a final touch they will be urged to talk over proper legislation for saving the resources of the country and work out a uniform scheme of law-making by both the states and the nation.

The formation of a permanent organization will also be broached.

In the preparation of the program the experts on the various subjects included have each pleaded for more time, but they have been told that three days is the limit and that it can all be told in that space.

The conference will be on May 13, 14 and 15. Congress has promised to stay in session until the governors are gone, but the members will be invited to spend their time at the White House with the conferees instead of at the Capitol.

STATE FRUIT CROP WORTH $60,000,000

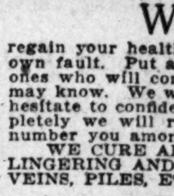

Washington Now Has 9,190,366 Bearing Trees in Orchards and More Planting.

SPOKANE, Wash., April 1.—Reports just compiled by F. A. Huntley, State Horticultural Commissioner, show that Washington had 9,190,366 bearing trees in 101,707 acres of commercial orchards at the beginning of the year. This is almost five full townships.

Twenty-five thousand acres have been added since the spring of 1906, and it is expected that more than a million apple trees will be set out this spring.

The report shows that the State contains 5,337,094 apple trees, 857,892 pear trees, 1,392,760 peach trees, 557,674 cherry trees, and 1,044,946 plum and prune trees, besides 133,833 apricot, quince, nectarine, almond and English walnut trees not enumerated in the foregoing. This is a gain of 3,977,614 trees since 1907, and an increase of 64,083 trees of the last named varieties. Yakima County heads the list with 1,795,689 apple trees. W. S. Thornber, professor of horticulture at the Washington State College, Pullman, estimates that the value of the total fruit crop in Washihngton is from $40,000,000 to $60,000,000.

The legitimate PAID circulation of the Post-Dispatch in St. Louis and its suburbs is greater than that of ALL other English Dailies COMBINED.

PREACHER LOSES REASON IN PULPIT

Starts Sermon on Easter and Then Reads Funeral Ritual; Collapses.

PHILADELPHIA, April 14.—The Rev. Samuel G. Wilson, pastor of the North Wales Baptist Church, was stricken on Sunday with a remarkable malady. He conducted what was meant to be an Easter service in an incoherent manner, and, instead of delivering the discourse appropriate to the festival which he had prepared, read the burial service and preached a funeral sermon. An hour after the service ended he was found unconscious in his study.

He was removed to his home near the church, and later in the day recovered his senses. On Sunday night his wife took her husband's place and conducted a song service which had been planned. Mr. Wilson's condition is improved, but his physicians say it will be many weeks before he can resume his duties.

THIEF TRAPPED BY HORSE HE STEALS

Drunken Driver Is Carried Directly to Home of Farmer He Robs.

WATERLOO, Ia., April 2.—A horse belonging to J. K. Henderson brought to justice the man who had stolen it from the streets of Independence. A stranger, while intoxicated, unhitched the animal and drove over a goodly part of the county, finally winding up in Independence again in the early morning hours. The animal, guided by instinct, took matters into its own control and delivered the stranger to its owner.

A neigh awakened the sleeping family and Henderson, going into the yard armed, covered the man inside the rig with a revolver, ordered him to help put up the animal, then marched him to the house, telephoned for the Sheriff and delivered him over to that officer.

RICH MAN'S SON ACCUSED OF STEALING AN OVERCOAT

Three of Four Missing Ones Were Found Cut to Shreds After a Dance.

George Heinrich of Smithton, 25 years old, son of a wealthy farmer, was arrested by Constable Ben Lautz on a warrant charging him with the theft of an overcoat belonging to Alonzo Brichler of Belleville. He waived his preliminary hearing and was held to the grand jury under a $500 bond by Justice L. E. Wangelin.

Brichler, Dr. Julius Bischof, Clemens Herr and Alwin Vierheller went to Smithton to a dance several weeks ago. They left their overcoats and gloves in their buggies. Three of the overcoats were found later, cut to shreds. Brichler's coat and gloves were missing. He learned that the gloves had been offered for sale and he made the complaint against Heinrich.

Prince Weds Mikado's Daughter.

TOKIO, April 30.—Prince Takeda, head of one of the oldest families in Japan, wedded the Mikado's sixth and youngest daughter, Princess Tsune. The Princess is 20 years old. All the members of the Mikado's family and most of the Japanese nobility attended. The ceremony was according to the ancient rites.

GOLD IS TO BE MANUFACTURED

Hunter Hopes to Turn Out $100,000,000 Annually.

CHICAGO, April 30.—The final details for the manufacture of gold are being concluded in Chicago today, according to Rudolph M. Hunter of Philadelphia. Hunter declares that inside 18 months the men associated with him will be making 24-karat gold at the rate of $100,000,000 annually. Hunter tells of a building like a feudal castle, without windows and with only one door where the gold will be manufactured.

GARGLES WITH CARBOLIC ACID

Vanbehin Got the Wrong Bottle, but Will Recover.

George Vanbehin will recover from the effects of carbolic acid with which he gargled his throat, thinking it was the medicine left by the doctor.

He is a stenographer, 23 years old, and lives with his wife and baby at 1726 North Twentieth street. He had a slight attack of tonsilitis and was using a gargle. In the dark Wednesday night he got the carbolic acid bottle by mistake and used it. He is at the City Hospital.

HUNGRY, PRIES AT LUNCH WAGON

Old Man Arrested While Reaching for Salt Cellar.

Caught in the act of burglarizing a deserted lunch wagon at Seventh and Walnut streets, Christ Meyers, a homeless man, 65 years old, pleaded that he was hungry and was looking for something to eat. The lunch wagon had been empty and foodless for a month, and contained two greasy frying pans, a salt cellar and an empty lamp.

Meyers had broken a pane of glass in the side of the wagon in trying to pry the sash open, so that he could reach inside with a bent wire to lasso the salt cellar, when Patrolman Kemmey, who had heard the crash of the glass, came up behind.

BOAT OWNERS TO MAKE WAR ON LEVEE RESORTS

Black Roustabouts, "Work Harder Than Lawyers," Under Boss Rule.

THE WAGES ARE GOOD

While Saloon Keepers Control the Laborers Politicians Rule the Former.

The hardest worked men in America are not the corporation lawyers, steamboat men of the Mississippi assert, but the negro roustabouts who load and unload the steamers at the landings along the river. They work about twenty hours out of the 24, and no one except a young, strong, hard-driven negro can stand the work. White men, healthy young immigrants, have tried it and have broken down under it.

The rivermen want the negroes, but they "can't abide" the negro bosses and keepers of saloon or club who, they say, keep the roustabouts in a state of virtual peonage.

The roustabouts earn what many college graduates would be glad to get for their labor. At present they are paid $65 a month and their board. In the fall they get $90, and some of the lines pay a bonus of one cent for each sack of wheat they carry onto the boats or ashore over a certain number.

Controlled by "Club" Keepers.

The negroes are paid at the end of the trip for which they sign. If they ship at St. Louis for Memphis they are not paid until they get back to this port. Then they go ashore to spend their earnings and enjoy life until they sign out for another trip.

The money they earn goes to a few bosses of places along the levee, the leader of whom is a coal black negro who runs a club and wields a despotic influence over the members of it. The rooms are fitted with pianos, pool tables, dance halls and other means of amusement and refreshment.

The boss gets bonds for his patrons when they get into trouble with the police and exercises other paternal privileges over them. In return for this he controls their destinies, when they are out of money he makes them sign out on a boat and bring back their wages.

Many of the negroes are addicted to drugs, but as long as they can stand up and work they are useful.

Owners to Fight Bosses.

It is said by the river men that all the trouble they have had with the negroes demanding more pay than it was profitable to pay them has come from the interference of these bosses, who dictate what shall be paid. The negro bosses are in turn controlled by white politicians, who are said to protect the negroes.

A meeting of the Steamboat Managers' Association will be held soon to devise a way of closing the dives along the levee, and still keep the negroes within easy calling distance. They are aware that they have a hard task ahead of them on account of the opposition they will meet from politicians.

PRINCE AND MME. GOULD GO TO ROME TOGETHER

Prince Wants Pope to Annul Her Marriage to Count Boni de Castellane.

NAPLES, April 30.—Prince Helie de Bagan and Mme. Gould went to Rome today. They had heard nothing when they left from the persons through whom the Prince sought an interview for himself and Mme. Gould with the Pope. Indirectly, intimations have reached them that Helie may as well abandon his attempt to induce the Vatican to annul Mme. Gould's marriage to her divorced husband, Count Boni de Castellane.

The Prince is exceedingly anxious to be married to Mme. Gould by a religious as well as a civil ceremony. It is believed the couple will live in Nice after their marriage, provided arrangements can be made for the residence of the three Castellane children outside of French territory. The divorce decree forbade their removal from France during their minority without Boni's consent.
